An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong
The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drinking their stomachs on useless "flesh cream" or following some foolish physical culture stunt while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.
Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, modern chemistry. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to cook the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every part of the body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Your druggist has it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.
Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervousness, depression and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

FINANCIAL MATTERS
SALES OF MUNICIPAL BONDS FOR FOUR MONTHS AHEAD OF 1913.
Merger in London by Big Dry Goods Houses—Bonuses Received From Leases Resulted, $795,750.—Commercial Notes.
Montreal, May 13.—Municipal bond sales in Canada during April, compiled by the Financial Times, totalled $15,536,615. This amount constitutes a record for a single month's transactions, and is $11,842,857 ahead of the total for April, 1913.
Municipal bond sales for the four months of 1913, as compiled by the Financial Times, already total $33,259,153, which is $12,899,915 ahead of the total sales for 1912, and $1,717,194 ahead of the total sales in 1909, which was the heaviest year in a five year period.

DARWIN'S METHODS.
Thoroughness of Great Naturalist Shown in Tests With Bees.
Henry Fabre, the naturalist, tells in 'The Fortnightly Review' a characteristic story about Charles Darwin and himself. Darwin wanted to explain the "homing" instinct of bees, and induced Fabre to begin a series of experiments with that purpose in view. A regular plan of campaign was drawn up.
Marked bees were placed in a dark box and carried away from the hive in the opposite direction from that in which they were finally liberated. The box was repeatedly turned about, so that the inmates would lose all sense of direction. Every possible means was taken to render useless any known or conceivable method of obtaining one's bearings. The bees were even placed within an induction coil in the effort to confuse them.
The result of a long and elaborate series of tests was all so far as any explanation of the homing power was concerned. In every case from thirty to forty per cent. of the bees found their way home without apparent trouble, no matter how confusing the trip away from home had been made.
The story is characteristic, because it illustrates the thorough way in which the author attacked all his problems. He was not one to merely "opine" speculatively, and let it go at that. He put everything to the test of experiment, and when the answer came out wrong, or did not come out at all, he "scrapped" the hypothesis as a matter of course instead of trying to explain away its failure.

A Novel Experiment.
To Mr. Harold Brighouse, the English playwright, belongs the distinction of being the first dramatist to write a play round the professional footballer, and the experiment has earned cordial praise from the critics. Moreover, the professional footballer is represented as a very decent fellow possessed of a sense of honor, which is highly refreshing in these days when sedentary pedants are prone to malign him as a wolf in sheep's clothing.
Mr. Brighouse belongs to the Manchester school of playwrights who have brought to the front by the repertory movement. Still on the right side of thirty he has something like eight plays to his name, all of which have attracted attention. His one-act play, "The Price of Coal," was received with enthusiasm when presented in London. It deals with the pit disaster and represents the quiet heroism of a miner's wife. His best known play, however, is "Dealing in Futures," which is a somewhat biting attack on certain phases of industrialism. All Mr. Brighouse's plays are concerned with the vital issues round him, and Manchester has reason to be proud of this native product.

You May Speak First Now.
King George and Queen Mary have made an innovation in court etiquette. Breaking in the traditions under which nobody may address the monarch unless he is first spoken to, Their Majesties have intimated that at private dinner parties at least guests must not hesitate either to open the conversation or to broach a new subject of conversation. As the King and Queen are going to dine out regularly during the coming season the innovation is causing a great stir. It is hailed as an admirable move.
Queen Alexandra still adheres to the old custom, possible on account of the fact that her deafness makes it difficult for her to follow general conversation. The late King Edward, though he unbent occasionally on special occasions, was on the whole a strict observer of the rule which "hedged his divinity" against the risk of being "dressed on a subject for which he was not prepared, while Queen Victoria's strictness in the matter has been chronicled by many who met her.

Hippopotamus Ivory Less Used.
Trade in hippopotamus ivory is carried on in Africa on a much smaller scale of late years than formerly. The teeth of the "hippo" are much harder than those of the elephant, and for a long time were used in the manufacture of false teeth, which were skillfully carved from that material. Old Le Vaillant remarks, in his "African Travels," now more than a hundred years old:
"It is surprising that Europeans, especially Frenchmen, should make an article of commerce out of the teeth of the hippopotamus, for with the help of science they are made to replace our own, and we may see them flashing delightfully in the mouth of a pretty woman."

Tailors On the Tramp.
Many years ago "jobbing tailors" went about the north of Scotland making "private houses" by the day on the same lines as some modern dressmakers.
These visits often lasted a week and were familiarly spoken of in the trade as "whipping the cat." In addition to their board and lodging, the tailor made up material supplied by their hosts. They usually arrived armed with lap-boards, irons, and needles, and last, but not least, they brought with them all the news of the country-side.

Big Retail Store Merger.
London, May 13.—A big retail dry goods amalgamation is announced. It includes Harrods, which is one of the largest department stores, with a capital of £1,000,000, and Dickens & Jones an old established Regent street dry goods firm, with £500,000 capital.
The amalgamation virtually means the absorbing of Dickens & Jones by Harrods. It is understood that Harrods secured the Dickens entire £250,000 common stock for a lump sum of £700,000.

Big Mill Insolvent.
Utica, May 13.—The New York Mills, one of the largest eastern concerns manufacturing cotton cloth and located at a suburb of Utica, has announced its insolvency.
Liabilities are placed at $3,000,000, and it is said there is a deficit of $1,500,000. The business is owned, to a large extent, by A. D. Julliard and company, of New York, who have controlled the mills for several years. A circular letter issued by the company to-day to holders of preferred stock offered them ten cents on the dollar.

New Brunswick Wealth
St. John, N. B., May 13.—The enormous value of timber lands is illustrated by the report of the New Brunswick government that the province is receiving in bonuses from the leases of provincial timber lands the sum of $795,750. The lands in question are still held by the government, and have not yet been disposed of to private persons.

Dividend Expected.
Toronto, May 13.—Inspired announcement was made that a dividend on the Dome mines will be declared soon. The treasury is said to contain $200,000 to $300,000 in cash and the ore reserves are said to be large enough to justify the directors in continuing to increase the milling capacity until close to 2,400 tons will be crushed daily.

Rubber Company Chartered
Dover, May 13.—The Franco-American Rubber company, has been chartered here with $5,000,000 capital, to grow, 'extract, refine and sell rubber.

Companies Incorporated.
Ottawa, May 13.—Andrew Wilson and company, limited, have been incorporated, with $1,000,000 capital, in Toronto and Montreal by Andrew Wilson and company, cigar manufacturers.
The business of the Canadian Theatres, Ltd., is to be taken over by a new company, the Canadian United Theatres, Ltd., incorporated for that purpose, with head office in London. The capital is $3,500,000.
Another three-million-dollar concern, the American Oil Processes, Ltd., is incorporated with head office in London.

Commercial Notes.
There is a probability of a ten million dollar steel plant being erected at Port Arthur by the McKenzie-Mann interests.
The "Money Times" estimate of Canada's fire loss during April amounted to $1916,238, compared with March's loss of $2,120,552.
At a recent meeting of the shareholders of the Hewson Pure Wool Textiles, limited, Amherst, N. S., it was announced that $100,000 had been subscribed to resuscitate the concern.
The Corn Products Refining company reports gross profits in the three months ended with March of $1,071,058. Fixed charges and other expenses required $215,972, leaving a balance for dividends of $755,086.
The London Financial News calls attention to the issue of a prospective bearing the name of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Trust, showing subscriptions for £100,000 in ninety-day trust deed shares.
The report of a $500,000,000 steel company of Canada to be composed of the Dominion Steel Corporation, Nova Scotia and Steel of Canada, with this time the addition of Canada Iron Corporation, is being revived in New York.
The British Columbia breweries announce that the approximate sales during March amounted to $7,525 barrels for $73,000 in comparison with 8,915 barrels for 76,560 in March, 1913, representing decreases of 490 barrels and $3,560 respectively.

George Kidd of Vancouver, has been appointed general manager of the British Columbia Electric railway in place of R. H. Sperling, who goes to London to be assistant to the chairman of the Board of Directors.
Although the right to subscribe to the $19,000,000 of new preferred stock of the Great Northern Railway road company does not expire until May 11th next, it is learned that the entire amount has already been subscribed for by stockholders who were given the right to take it at par in proportion of $8 per value of new stock for each share held.
