The Man On Watch

How can the town council expect the people to observe the by-laws when it will not do so itself? The Lampman notes that Councilman Harrison complained that the town fathers deliberately voted hall rates in spite of the by-law about which only a fortnight before, it made a loud noise in favor of keeping. The councillors break their own laws with as much unconcern as they break the Ten Commandments.

According to the government tests, the foreigners among the Kingston tradesmen make and sell pure ice cream. This is a feather in the cap of the foreign element, who were found not guilty of adulteration as several ice cream vendors were.

The Lampman thought that the firemen were engaged by the chief to fight fires and not to inspect back yards to see that refuse is carted away. The fireman, as well as "Nick" Timmerman, must have technical knowledge as to when a yard is clean. If three firemen can be spared from the brigade for three weeks, it appears to the Lampman that there was no need of increasing the brigade as was done last year.

As the average man of the house detests the period of house-cleaning, the mayor's additional proclamation to "clean up" must have given rather a terrible shock. The Lampman, with others, proceeded early with his yard cleaning, and did not wait for the campaign inaugurated for the "great unwashed," viz., those who do not know enough to clean up without being coaxed and then forced.

With reference to the "clean up" campaign, the Lampman noticed in the Whig of last Saturday two headlines side by side which read as follows: "The Church Pulpits—Clean Up! Clean Up! Get All Refuse Ready for the Dump." Hard on the pulpits!

A college professor who read the Lampman's comment on "church coughing" last week, told him that the fault was generally with the speaker in the pulpit or on the platform. He has noticed that when a gathering can distinctly hear what the speaker is saying and when his attention is riveted upon him, there is scarcely a cough to be heard. When the people cannot hear, and when they lose interest, it is a fact that a good deal of coughing occurs. He found this out himself years ago, and was always careful to get the attention of his hearers at the very outset and to retain it. When an audience is wearied and restless, look out for coughing.

The other day the Lampman met a legal gentleman who was severe in his criticism of people who used such abominable colors as brown and red on their window sashes. White, he said, is the proper color for a sash, both inside and out. Just notice, he remarked, how white sets off the windows in a house. The Lampman agreed that the modern window painting was not as chaste as in the past when all the sashes were done in white.

It has struck the Lampman on more than one occasion that the action of a certain institution in sending broadcast invitations to its graduating ceremonies, and hiring a hall that would not hold more than about half of those invited, was like asking twenty guests to dinner and having only seats and grub enough for ten. He notices that the function the other night was changed to a bigger hall at the last moment.

It occurred to the Lampman that if all those ladies and gentlemen who delight in painting flowers on cups and saucers would use their painting ability in brightening up the front steps, the portico and the fence, their labours would be worth while. It's a funny thing that some of the fancy painting enthusiasts do have shabby home surroundings and ill-kept lawns. Their eye for the beautiful should be exercised first at home.

CANAL COST IN LIVES.

Death Roll in Panama Numbers 2,190.

Washington, May 16.—Representative George M. Young, of North Dakota, revived the "Free Tolls" fight in the House of Representatives by declaring that the cost of the Panama canal should not be measured alone by the $500,000,000 which the United States had expended on the enterprise, but it must be taken into consideration that more American lives have been sacrificed in constructing the big ditch than were lost in the revolution, or during the war of 1812 and the Mexican war combined.

Quoting from statistics compiled for him by Col. Goethals, Mr. Young demonstrated that to date 2,190 lives have been lost in the canal zone since May 1st, 1904, of which number 1,219 were the result of accidents. The evidences of other deaths he said were from sickness, nearly all of which were contracted on the canal. He showed that there has been 98,785 cases of malaria, 1,162 cases of typhoid and there were 35,101 persons injured at the work.

SOLD COCAINE, MADE MONEY

Reaped Over $400 Weekly in Paris Selling Drugs.

Paris, May 16.—A man who made $400 weekly, selling cocaine and other drugs in Paris, has been caught by the police. Although the latter shadowed him for months, he always slipped through their fingers. In the bars of the night restaurants he was known as "Mersey Bomb," on account of the metal boxes in which he sold the drug.

"Mersey Bomb," whose name is Georges Croquet, went to Belgium twice a week, where he bought cocaine at seven cents a pennyweight, reselling it in Paris afterward at 400 per cent. profit. Croquet was known to have banked $400 weekly.

Prof. J. Clark Murray Honored

Montreal, May 16.—Royal Victoria College, yesterday afternoon, was the scene of an important university function—the presentation of an address to Dr. J. Clark Murray, emeritus professor of moral philosophy at McGill, and the handing over of his portrait to the university. Some time ago a movement was started by some of Dr. Murray's old students and friends to collect subscriptions for the painting of his portrait by Robert Harris, C.M., G. R.C.A. It met with such a hearty response that after defraying the cost of the portrait and of the illuminated address the committee had in hand a balance of $1,008, which they decided to hand over to the McGill library as a "Clark Murray" fund, to be applied to the purchase of books for the philosophical department which Dr. Murray organized and of which he was for forty years the honored head.

Died in New York.

The death occurred at New York on Sunday last of Mrs. Mary Hayden Crowley, only daughter of James Hayden, Camden East, and wife of James Crowley, New York. Mrs. Crowley underwent an operation some weeks ago and was apparently recovering nicely when complications set in, resulting in her death. The remains were taken, on Tuesday last, to Camden East, for interment.

Museum of Charms.

London, May 16.—A museum, quite unique in its way is to be opened in Wigmore street in a few days. Founded by Henry J. Wellcome, it will be known as the Historical Medical Museum, and will be chiefly notable for an extensive collection of ancient and modern charms and amulets from many countries.

There are charms from such places as ancient Egypt, Rome, the East End of London, and the island of Mull. A particularly interesting item in the collection is a Norfolk "rheumatism potato."

Eating Relieves Stomach Trouble

A Prominent Physician's Advice.
Dieting in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain or physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach, except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will end at once. Neglect may mean ulcers, it may cause the stomach to do not take patented medicines or patent tablets for dyspepsia. Simply take a neutralizer of acid. Decidedly the best neutralizer is ordinary bismuthated magnesia. It is inexpensive and you can get it at any drug store. Take a teaspoonful in a tumbler glass of water after each meal. The relief will be immediate.

LITTLE DIGESTERS

Positively cure Dyspepsia. Promote Digestion. Money back if they fail to cure.

To The Readers of British Whig:

What will your guests do this summer when it rains?
What will they do in the evening?
As a rule rainy weather and the dark evenings are at least two chances there are to grow a discontent and not the kind of thing you know very well you can't afford.

Do you realize though that this year the universal craze for dancing is your salvation?

The proportion of Canadians who dance is approximately 100%—100%, because they want to and the other 1%, because he'd feel lonesome if he didn't.

Time was when dancing necessitated someone to play a piano—hard work and poor results—or the employment of an orchestra—which is apt to be expensive.

Most people nowadays dance without either. There is no better dance music available to-day at any price than that on COLUMBIA DOUBLE DISC RECORDS. It's a fact: COLUMBIA DANCE RECORDS are better than most orchestras.

And here is the why and wherefor. To begin with, they are played by a good band, under a good bandmaster—a band that is famous the world over for its dance music.

And secondly, in order to have the tempo, the rhythm, the spirit of these new dances absolutely correct and authentic, the Columbia Graphophone Company engaged G. Hepburn Wilson, B.M., to superintend the personally playing of them, and G. Hepburn Wilson to-day is the greatest authority in America on modern dancing.

The result is a series of Tangos, One Steps (Turkey Tots) and Hesitations that are supreme. Many of the dancing schools are using Columbia Double Disc records for instruction purposes. They know they are right.

The cost is small. The records—two dances to a disc, one on each side—run from 85c to $1.25 a disc. A good Columbia Grafonola is not an expensive proposition either. For $22.50, $45 or $63 you can get a good instrument—equipped with the exclusive Columbia tone control leaves, the new bayonet tone-arm and the new Columbia No. 6 reproducer; there are other models up to $650—larger and handomer instruments, of course. But every Columbia instrument, no matter what the price, has the famous Columbia tone.

And don't forget that Columbia Grafonolas may be easily moved to any room in the house or to the porch—wherever you want to dance.

This matter is one that interests you; ask us for a catalogue, tell us what you think you'll need, and we'll be glad to advise you. Of course if you want to, you can spread the payments over a period instead of paying cash.

A point to remember: Columbia records may be played as well on Victor or Berliner talking machines or Columbia Grafonolas will play Victor records.

Yours very truly,
Treadgold Sporting Goods Co.,
88 Princess Street.
