REVIEW ORDER PARADE

OF THE 14TH REGIMENT ON FRIDAY EVENING.

New Wolsley Helmets Issued—The Regiment Will Parade to St. George's Cathedral on Sunday Morning.

On Friday evening the 14th regiment held its first "review order" parade of the season. All the ranks paraded in the dark uniform and were inspected by Major H. J. Dawson, in preparation for church parade on Sunday. The more comfortable Wolsley helmet has been issued to replace the old higher and warmer head-dress. It will not be possible for the regiment to secure the decorations for these this season.

After a little marching and battalion work the companies were drilled individually on the artillery parade ground in front of the armouries.

The regiment will parade at 10.15 o'clock on Sunday morning, and will march to St. George's Cathedral for divine service. In the absence of Major (the Rev. Dean) Starr, the chaplain of the 14th, Rev. W. C. Bourne, the curate will preach the sermon. Both regimental bands will attend.

The usual weekly battalion parade has been called for Monday night but this may be changed until Tuesday on account of the city observing the 25th as a holiday.

EMPIRE DAY IN SCHOOLS

Portsmouth Public Schools.

Empire Day was observed in the Portsmouth public school in the usual patriotic manner. In the afternoon a concert was given by the pupils. Interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Smart, Rev. Mr. Fairburn and Rev. Mr. Dawson. E. Nicholson, chairman of the board, occupied the chair in his usual efficient manner. The following programme was given:

Song, "The Children's Song"; recitation, "Empire Day"; Cecil Westlake; recitation, "The Receptional"; Sadie Nicholson; recitation, "Two Little Girls"; Marjorie Nicholson and Stella Angleton; recitation, "The Majesty of Britain"; Florence Forsythe; drill, by four small boys; recitation, "The Sea is Britain's Glory"; reading, "Our Flag"; four girls; "Scots Wha Hae"; Edith Melver; "Britons Beyond the Seas"; nine girls; recitations, Andrewena Nicholson, "O Canada"; Vera Powell, "Canadian Over All"; Sara Gallon; "This Canada of Mine"; seven little girls; recitation, Ford Nicholson; "Colors of Our Flag"; four boys.

"Flag Above the School House Door," W. Lamb; song, "O Canada"; drill, six little boys; recitation, Nelson Morrissey.

The schoolroom was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers. The Union Jack crossed with the flag of Canada drawn with colored crayons on the blackboard by George Marks, was much admired. A vote of thanks was moved by Rev. Mr. Fairburn to the teachers, Mrs. Gamsby and Mrs. Revell, for the skillful manner in which they had trained the pupils for the entertainment. Mrs. Revell acted as accompanist.

Orphans Home Programme

This Empire Day programme was carried out at the Orphans' Home on Friday. Chairman's address; devotional; scripture reading by Richie Campbell; song, "O Canada"; recitation, "The Receptional"; Esther Northmore; song, "The Sea is Britain's Glory"; Esther Northmore, Myrtle Turner, Clara Northmore and the school; recitation, "The Flag Above the School House Door"; Ethel Orset; piano solo, Laura Thompson; address by Prof. A. Laird; recitation, "The Majesty of Great Britain"; Myrtle Turner; solo and chorus, "There is a Land," Ray Smith, and the school; reading, "Canadian Over All"; Fred Purdie; the march, "Hearts of Oak," by the school; recitation, "The Maple," Helen Washburn; address, Rev. Mr. Robinson; fan drill by twelve girls; "Flag of Britain," Nora Wright and the school.

The children looked well and a great deal of credit is due Superintendent Marton.

"The Curse of France."—Absinthe.

The drink, absinthe, to France bears the same relation as opium does to the Chinese nation. The evils attending this dreadful habit are fully described in that well-known book, "Wormwood," by Marie Corelle. To those who have read and heard about this wonderful drink, "absinthe," the four-reel feature with King Baggot and Leah Baird in leading roles, which will be shown at Ideal Theatre Monday and Tuesday should prove of unusual interest. The scenes in this production were taken along the Champs Elysees, the river Seine and in Mont Marte, the Tenderloin of Paris, and the Bois de Boulogne. This production has played to crowded houses wherever shown. Don't miss it, at Ideal Theatre, Monday and Tuesday. Admission, 5c.
