WELL EQUIPPED STORE

CABINETS ATTRACT ATTENTION, C. LIVINGSTON & BROS.

Enterprising firm has just installed a system which is second to none — It affords a fine display for the choice line of goods.

These are days of progress in all lines of business, and Kingston merchants are among the more progressive. The equipment in the furnishing department at the store of C. Livingston & Bros., Brock street, calls for special mention, as with the latest additions to this special department the store ranks as one of the best fitted for the business it carries on. New York, Chicago, or any of the other large centres have nothing in advance of it.

A representative of the Whig paid a visit of inspection to the store, and was greatly impressed with the appearance of everything. Charles Livingston, who is at the head of the enterprising business, is to be congratulated on the success of his efforts. From time to time he has improved his store furnishings until now he has it fitted out with the very best that can be secured.

There has just been installed in the furnishing department fifty-five feet of quartered oak cabinets, in which the goods are displayed. Each line of goods is in a separate cabinet, all the goods being kept under cover with plate glass, although visible to the purchaser and clerk. There is a place for everything, and it is in its place, but the beauty of it all is that the goods can be viewed while also covered. In this way they are kept spotless, and not liable to suffer damage.

The new furnishings, which consist of cabinets and tilting drawers, give the store a very neat and smart appearance, and in addition to the comfort it provides the purchaser, it is also a great help to the salesman, as he is able to put his hands on the article he wants in a second.

The cabinets are arranged so that everything can be seen at a glance, and in this way selection of goods is made easy. This is something that will please the customer. The top of the cabinets form the show cases, and these are lighted with electric light, showing a soft light on the goods. In addition to the new cabinets, there has been added a large number of show cases, all of which are also of quartered oak and of the very latest type.

The ready-to-wear department is fitted up with revolving cabinets of the latest type, each holding 100 complete suits. There are also three cabinets for boys' clothing and men's trousers. These cabinets are fitted out in the very latest style. In this department there is one hundred feet of cabinets. Dust is unknown in this store, as the goods come out of the cabinet just as they were put in. In this department, there is a pretty little alcove, in addition to a dressing-room. Nothing more could be added to improve the conditions.

That Kingston has one of the best equipped stores goes without saying. As to the stock, the firm is too well known to require any comment. The stock is of the very best. If it's a good thing you will find it there. Kingstonians should pay the store a visit at the earliest possible moment.

MRS SMITH HAD DREAM

THAT SOMETHING DREADFUL HAD HAPPENED AMONG THE IRISH

And She Was Not Surprised When She Learned That the Empress of Ireland Had Sunk.

A strange happening in connection with the sinking of the steamship Empress of Ireland was the fact that Mrs. Smith, wife of Ensign Smith, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army corps, had a very peculiar dream on Thursday night. About three o'clock she was awakened from her sleep as a result of a horrible dream, in which she imagined that something dreadful had happened the night before. Upon rising on Friday morning she learned of the sinking of the steamer with the loss of so many lives.

At eight o'clock on Friday morning word was received from Ensign Smith to the effect that he had arrived in England.

Ensign Smith had planned to leave on the Empress of Ireland with the rest of the officers, but he changed his plans at the last minute; due to the advice of his wife. His wife advised him to leave on the earlier steamer, so that he could visit his father while in England.

About Those on Board.
Word was received in the city, on Friday afternoon, that Capt. Nellie Nellie Pollitt, of this city, was not aboard the ill-fated steamer Empress of Ireland, as was thought. On Thursday night, she passed through Kingston on her way to Montreal to sail for England.

H. H. Lyman, of Montreal, one of the first class passengers on the Empress, was a cousin of P. D. Lyman, of this city. He was head of the Lyman Drug company, of Montreal.

Kingston Student on Board.
F. P. Godson, a Kingston student, attending Queen's School of Mining, was on board the ill-fated vessel on his way to his home in Fenbury, Worcestershire, England. He was a second year student and boarded on Clergy street.

Claim There Are More Alive.
This afternoon F. Conway, city freight and passenger agent of the C.P.R., received a telegram from the district passenger agent at Toronto saying that 400 passengers of the Empress were landed at Rimouski and that the captain reports the balance of the passengers and the crew in lifeboats. They will return at once to the place of disaster and pick up the balance.

Saw the Empress on Friday.
Miss Emma Pense, West street, who arrived home from England on Friday afternoon, was one of the first to see the passengers on the ill-fated steamer Empress of Ireland before the accident occurred on Friday morning. When the S. S. Teutonic, on which Miss Pense sailed from

Some Fine Asparagus

Some of the finest asparagus grown in this vicinity is now being marketed by the St. Lawrence Fruit Farm, formerly of Howe Island, is the proprietor.

The bunches are of almost perfect shape, and are finding a ready market. Mr. Morton is at present cutting at the rate of 200 dozen bunches per week. He has one of the finest fruit and vegetable farms in the district. The St. Lawrence Fruit Farm was successfully managed for many years, by G. Pyke & Son, and was taken over by Mr. Morton only last year.

Expect a Good Season.
Walter Brown, manager of the Thousand Island Park Association these years, and a trustee nearly a quarter of a century, will soon leave for the resort.

Mr. Brown is optimistic over the season's prospects, stating that there was every indication of a crowd during July and August fully as large as a year ago. He is also inclined to think that favorable action may be expected next fall from the Canadian Navigation company relative to a new hotel at the park.

To Make Arrangements.
Lachlan Maclean, manager of the Development Bureau of the Oswego Chamber of Commerce, is in the city for a couple of days arranging for the running of the steamer Orcutt from Oswego to Kingston during the coming season. The steamer Orcutt is run by the Oswego Chamber of Commerce in an effort to work up closer connection between Oswego and Kingston.

Fire in Barber Shop.
Fire in the barber shop of David Reid, Brock street, on Friday morning at 11.35 o'clock, did damage to the extent of $15, covered by insurance. The flooring caught fire from a gas heater. Mr. Reid was shaving a man when he noticed smoke coming up from the flooring and then the flames shot upwards.

Children's Hats.
Linen, straw and felt in big variety, 15c. up. George Mills & Co.

R. & O. Run Dry.
If a report heard at Ogdensburg is correct the passengers of the steamer Thousand Islander will have to go thirsty this season, for it is rumored to be the intention of the R. & O. not to open the bar.

Weather Notes.

Specials For This Week Only

THE HARVESTER, by Gene Stratton Porter, Author of The Girl of the Lumberlost, Freckles, Etc. Formerly $1.50, FOR THIS WEEK ONLY 40c.

THE HARVESTER, By Gene Stratton-Porter, Author of "Freckles," "A Girl of the Lumberlost," etc. —Mrs. Porter has lavished upon this unique story all the wealth of nature love from her years of patient, enthusiastic study. "The Harvester," David Langston, is a man of the woods and fields who draws his living from the prodigal hand of Mother Nature herself—selling the medicinal roots and herbs and barks, the wild mushrooms and so on, which are his for the gathering. If the book had nothing in it but the splendid figure of this man, with his sure grip on life, his superb optimism, and his almost miraculous knowledge of nature secrets, it would be notable. But when the Girl comes to his "Medicine Woods," and the Harvester's whole sound, healthy, large outdoor being realizes that this is the highest point of life which has come to him—there begins a romance, troubled and interrupted, yet of the rarest idyllic quality.
