SITUATION IN ULSTER

A PROLONGED TRUCE SAID TO BE ASSURED.

Priests Urge Nationalists Not to Celebrate Prematurely — Troops Are Kept Under Arms.

Belfast, May 28.—One reason why the passing of the Home Rule bill has not provoked disturbances is due to the fact that the opponents of the measure view it with contentment rather than with indignation. Meanwhile, priests continue to warn those of the Roman Catholic faith that they should not jubilate until they find that the measure has really become law.

The military authorities have mapped out the city into twenty-five blocking points, to prevent collisions between opposing parties. All over Ulster troops have received orders not to mix more than is absolutely necessary with civilians. The same applies to blue-jackets of the coast.

The third battalion, West, Down regiment, encamped at Ballyedmond, Rostrevor, the residence of Major Nugent, June 1st to 6th.

The Irish Times says that every Ulster nationalist realizes that his party's great strength lies in a policy of watchful waiting. Unionist Ulster has been provoked and goaded almost beyond the limits of endurance but it can afford to be patient.

The Freeman's Journal of Dublin, nationalist organ, says: "The Ulster leader has challenged us to win Ulster. We shall and will, and the Irish must begin to-day. They will begin by showing that the cause whose victory they celebrate is no party cause, that it is Ireland, all Ireland, that has come into her own. That the day is one which will yet be blessed by orange as well as by green."

Prolonged Truce in Ulster

London, May 28.—The Prime Minister left yesterday for the Wiltshire recess, which will continue until June 15, but is remaining within easy reach of London in case his presence is required. Several other cabinet ministers are proceeding to the continent.

Peace continues unbroken in Ulster. Reliable correspondents say it is likely the truce will continue, at least until the bill has been passed on the statute book. Even if the present strain is not relieved by an agreed settlement, the truce may go on after that. There may, of course, be isolated scrimmages, but anything in the nature of organized general action extremely improbable. This does not indicate any weakening of the strong feeling moving both parties. The restraint put upon its expression is only a proof of its strength.

Doctor Chadwick, Protestant bishop of Derry, who is regarded by nationalists as a bigoted opponent, has addressed to the primates a letter suggesting that he should use his influence to get the Orangemen to abandon their twelfth of July celebrations this year.

There is another reason for the present quietness. It is recognized that in the peculiar circumstances, the third reading of the bill in the commons, even under the parliament act, is not conclusive. Ulster volunteer leaders are still hopeful—perhaps more hopeful during the last few days than before that something will turn up to prevent its coming into operation in Ulster.

These hopes seem to centre, not in the amending bill but in the double change of an early general election and in a subsequent Tory majority which will smash Home Rule for any and every part of Ireland. It is admitted now, that whatever happens, there could be no early reasons even for the Ulster nationalist point of view, in proclaiming a provisional government until an attempt is made to put the act into operation, which cannot come in any circumstances, for some months. In the meantime, though drilling will go on, it is considered unlikely that either side will do anything to roughen sufficiently hard pates.

MAN-LIKE WOMAN.

Members of Paris Academy of Medicine Get a Surprise.

Paris, May 29.—"I am going to surprise you," said Prof. Puffiere, introducing to his colleagues of the Academy of Medicine a person wrapped in garments in such a manner that the age and sex could not be guessed. Remove the bandages from the head and chest he revealed a sturdy individual with a thick black beard reaching to the waist, but the personage was really a woman who possessed all the feminine attributes until the age of forty, when she began to assume a masculine aspect.

Admired Bernhard.

Romance lies behind a legacy of $25,000 left to Madame Sarah Bernhard by Miss Scorer, a St. John's Wood lady. For years the testatrix had cherished unusual admiration for our greatest actress. Every Friday she would forward her a bouquet of Malmaison carnations, no matter where she was appearing, while on the rare occasions upon which she was privileged to take tea with Madame Bernhard she would don a costume of virginal white, though every other day in the year black would be the rule.

SCATHING REMARKS

A Lord Who Cudged the Beer Orders.

London, May 28.—Some scathing remarks were uttered yesterday by Justice Darling in reference to Lord Saye and Sele, controller of the king's household and a direct descendant of one of the twenty-five barons entrusted with the enforcement by King John of the provisions of Magna Charta.

The incident occurred at the Old Bailey, where sentence was pronounced on the nine British army officers and eight civilians employees of Lipton's, limited, who were charged with conspiracy to offer or accept bribes in connection with the allotment of army canteen contracts.

Lieut.-Col. Whitaker of the second Yorkshire regiment, the highest in rank of the prisoners, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

A pathetic scene occurred when Whitaker pleaded for mercy. The gray old veteran, who has served in the British army for thirty-eight years, broke down and said he had acted on the persuasion of Col. Finnes, now Lord Saye and Sele, who was then lieutenant-colonel of the Royal Scots Fusiliers. Justice Darling, referring to the letter which Whitaker declared had led him astray, said:

"The letter shows sad decadence from the traditions of a great family. I, myself, if I belonged to such a family, would starve rather than get my living by cudging for orders for beer."

Finnes' letter had invited Whitaker to use his good offices in behalf of a firm of brewers. By his position as controller of the king's household, Lord Saye and Sele is a member of the British government.

John Canfield, general manager and director of Lipton's Limited, and Archibald Minto, formerly head of the military department of the same firm, were each fined $2,500. The six lesser civilian defendants were fined $250 each. The other military defendants were bound over to come up for judgment if called upon.

The attorney-general, in closing the case for the prosecution, remarked that it was only fair to Sir Thomas Lipton to say that so far as the prosecution knew, there was no document and no evidence which suggested in the slightest degree that anyone besides those who had been brought before the court should be prosecuted.

LIGHTSHIP VICTIM.

Carried Accident Policy — Married Only Six Weeks.

Lincomb, N.S., May 29.—Another body, making the eighth from the wreck of the Lightship Halifax 19, was picked up on Wednesday on the shore, three miles from the scene of the wreck. It bore the name, Alexander McCreger. In a pocket were accident insurance papers, bearing the address, 52 Keith street, Hamilton, Ont. There was a marriage certificate stating that he was married April 4th, 1914, to Jennie Gibson, also a small testament.

He had no lifebelt. The right wrist had been badly injured some time. The left arm was tattooed. The age is twenty-seven.

LIMITED BAN ON BAR.

No Drink Served Before Ten A. M. Under New Law.

London, May 29.—Beginning yesterday the "no drink before ten" law will be rigorously enforced in Scotland. The act is aimed at the "black squad," namely, the open-air workers in the shipyards, who are addicted to ante-breakfast refreshment, generally a gill of whiskey, followed by a pint of beer.

This is not only detrimental to health, but leads to excessive drinking at other hours. The loss to the licenses is not estimated except that in Aberdeen, where there is no "black squad," the estimate is that it will mean a reduction of $240,000 a year in that city alone.

If a woman still laughs at her husband's jokes five years after the wedding bells have jingled the divorce lawyers get discouraged.

An evening call is productive of much pleasure—if not when you come, at least when you go.

But the man who restricts his joy riding to street cars doesn't have to worry about punctures.

THE SPORT REVIEW

THE CARPENTIER-SMITH FIGHT IN PARIS.

"Home Run Baker," of Philadelphia Weak in Batting This Season — Duryea Has String of Turf Victories.

"Mike" Donlin, pinch hitter for New York in the eighth, knocked out a homer with two on and beat Chicago 10 to 7.

The Ontario Football Association and the Eastern Professional League cannot come to an agreement and negotiations are off for good this time.

The International League pennant will be raised in Newark on June 4th. All of the other clubs wanted this date, but it was awarded to Jersey City.

The Toronto Canadian league club has purchased pitchers Roberts from Pittsburgh and Galin from Buffalo. Pitcher Schwab failed to make good with the Beavers and has been sold to Wilkesbarre of the New York State league.

Hamilton Spectator: Unless somebody gets busy Ottawa and London are going to make another runaway of the race. Last year they had things all their own way, and here they are again with the season only two weeks old, making a stiff pace for the others to follow. London has won seven games in a row.

"Home Run" Baker, the great slugger of the Philadelphia Athletics, denies the truth of the stories circulated that he has "gone back" in hitting. He says the season is too young as yet for him to be any fence breaking. Baker has been weak in stick work thus far, and the fans state the Athletics will not go to the lead of the percentage column until he takes a brace.

In Paris the proposed fight between George Carpentier and "Gumbo" Smith is cutting considerable figure. The Parisians give "Gumbo" more than an even chance with Sarpentier. In fact, many fans are of the opinion that unless Carpentier keeps away from Smith and fights at long range that his chance for success will be rather small. "Gumbo" is given credit for having a dangerous punch. In England the American fighter is only given the outsider's chance. The bout no doubt will furnish a good comparison of the respective strength of the American and foreign boxers.

H. B. Duryea, one of the most prominent American turfmen, has already a string of victories to his credit. Duryea and Harry Payne Whitney have jointly owned a number of horses. He has stables both in England and France, and accompanied by Mrs. Duryea, he has been a familiar figure at most of the important races of the last ten years. Formerly Duryea was well known as a yachtman. He took a leading part in the America's cup races. His interest later turned to horse racing and when the anti-betting laws were passed in New York state he started his foreign stables, and since then has spent most of his time abroad.
