REGARDING RETIRING OF JUDGE PRICE FROM BENCH

Made Kindly Reference to Him and His Successor, Judge H. A. Lavell—Cases Taken Up in the County Court.

In his address to the grand jury, at the opening of the county court sittings on Tuesday afternoon, Judge Madden, of Napanee, made a kindly reference to Judge Price and Judge Lavell.

"There is another matter to which possibly I ought to make reference," said Judge Madden. "Since the last sittings of this court there has been a change in the judiciary of this county."

"As you all know, His Honor Judge Lavell, one of the leading barristers and able lawyers of Smith's Falls has been appointed judge of the county of Frontenac. He was born in your city, brought up in your city, and was a student at law as well, and the family name has been intimately connected with the good work of your colleges, ed that the seed he shipped to Hutchinson should not have been offered for sale until it had been inspected.

The court reserved judgment in the case. C. E. Webster appeared for the plaintiff and Frances King for the defence.

The case taken up at the evening session of the court was that of Louise Laveck vs. M. D. Tetro, and Elliott Bros. third party. Plaintiff claimed $500 damages for an accident which she claimed was due to negligence on the part of the defendant, but after evidence was taken, the case was dismissed with costs. No blame could be attached either to Mr. Tetro or Elliott Bros. for the accident Mrs. Laveck met with.

The accident occurred on March 14th, 1911 when the plaintiff lived in a house on Montreal street, owned by Mr. Tetro. The plumbers were at work putting in improvements and Mrs. Laveck tripped over a piece of pipe and a door fell on her.

The witnesses called included the plaintiff's husband, Frances Laveck, Dr. W. A. McCarthy, who attended her, M. D. Tetro, Mrs. Tetro, N. Van Winkle, Frederick Tetro, John Ramsay and William Sands. Mr. Day appeared for the plaintiff and T. J. Rigney and J. L. Whiting for the defence.

JUDGE J. H. MADDEN

churches and schools and generally with the progress of your city many years ago. He comes to you with every prestige of success and I am safe in predicting that he will have a most useful judicial career and be credit and an ornament to the Canadian bench.

"Now while it is an honor (to be coveted) to be recalled to your native county to preside over the courts, it is a greater honor to retire in good health as His Honor Judge Price has done after thirty-seven long years of good and faithful service on the bench. A period of thirty-seven years is a long span in a man's life and it has fallen to the lot of few judges to enjoy a longer service on the bench. I had the pleasure of practicing before his honor Judge Price for many years, and he has been associate judge of my own county for upwards of a quarter of a century and I have been associate judge with him in this county upwards of ten years and I know his sterling worth and to be the best of men.

"He has discharged his duties with zeal and ability, and he has been a careful painstaking and patient judge, and he has never been led astray from the broad track of common sense. His kindness of heart and never failing courtesy made him a favorite, and he retires in the highest esteem of every member of the bar of your city and every member of the bar of my town. His judgments were impartial, independent and sound in law, and of the thousands of cases that he disposed of in only two was it deemed advisable to lodge an appeal, and in both cases his judgments were sustained. And the peculiar part of this is that it was the first and the last case he tried that were in appeal and his judgments were upheld.

"This is a great compliment indeed, but I think the greater compliment that is paid him to-day, is that of the thousands and thousands of litigants and of prisoners who came before him, to-day we hear no word of complaint that any injustice was done to any one of them. This is a good recommendation, indeed, and one which the highest judge in any land might well be proud of.

"Gentlemen," said his honor in conclusion, "I am sure you will all agree with me in wishing that he will long continue to enjoy the leisure he has so fully earned and richly deserved."

Two Cases Heard. Two cases were heard by the court on Tuesday, one during the afternoon, and the other in the evening. The grand jury had but one case to consider, that of the King vs. S. Hoover, charged with theft from the C. P. R. station at Mountain Grove. After being out an hour, the jury brought in a "true bill" in this case, which was then set for hearing at 9 o'clock.

The grand jury is composed of the following: Edward Bradden, Thomas Buck, Robert Manio, John D. Shibley, James Barrett, Coleman Cronk, George Smith, Henry W. McAuley, Frederick C. Hambrook, W. Toner, F. Jackson and T. Flynn.

The case heard in the afternoon was that of David Hutchison, Kingston vs. E. W. Knight, Blenheim, Ont., in which the plaintiff made claim for a return of money paid to the defendant for fifteen bags of red clover seed in December last, and which plaintiff declared did not come up to the quality of the sample. The seed was purchased by Knight from James A. Steele, Toronto.

Thomas Raynor, government seed inspector was a witness for the plaintiff. He told of making an inspection of the seed in Kingston, and said that he held it under suspicion.

HAD A GOOD FRIEND
Paid His Fine While Policeman Was Taking Him to Jail.
James Mullin was fined in the police court on Tuesday for being drunk. He did not have the money to pay the fine, so he had to go to jail. Police Constable Cotter took him in charge but before the two got one quarter of the way to the jail, a friend of Mullin's appeared on the scene, covered the fine and Mullin was given his freedom.
It certainly pays to have friends in this world, especially when the friend has some spare cash.

Falling Off in Canoeing
Has it ever struck those people who like to sit along the waterfront and watch the different craft carrying pleasure parties, that the predominant of these are motor boats, with a big falling off in the canoe enthusiast line? A couple of years ago it was a common thing to see this latter craft traversing all sections of the harbor as well as the St. Lawrence river but now they are gradually disappearing. It is quite evident that the two great marine disasters, coupled with the large number of local drownings last year, have made the lovers of this sport more timid. This to a large extent has been brought about by the fair sex who used to grace the fore-part of almost every canoe, being reluctant in exposing themselves to dangers. Of course if the girls will not go then the boys are not anxious either.
As a general rule very few girls can swim and it is more than likely that many an anxious moment was passed by canoe girls who took trips in these frail craft in order to please their gentlemen friends, who in some cases could not swim themselves.
