

1600 BARS; WIPE THEM OUT AT ONE COMPLETE SWEEP!

DR. SPANKIE STANDS IN THE CAUSE OF RIGHT

His Address To The Electors Of Frontenac

HE WILL GO AS FAR

AS POSSIBLE IN THE INTERESTS OF EDUCATION.

He Wants to See the Country Schools Get Better Attention From the Government—Has Some Good Suggestions to Make.

The Frontenac nominations took place at Barrisfield on Monday afternoon in the township hall, where a large crowd gathered to hear the candidates, Anthony M. Rankin and Dr. Spankie.

Dr. Spankie said he was a candidate in the cause of right and fair play. He was fighting a battle for the sake of the boys of our country and the young men of our country in order that they may if they wish at any time to offer their services as representative men to the British fair play and not be crushed by the corrupt conventions that have prevailed of late. It was a stand for the right and as such he would fight to the finish.

He was well-known in the county and had been before the people in a public capacity for many years. He was now appealing his case from the lower court of the corrupt convention to the highest tribunal available—the people themselves.

On the public questions of the day he was not evasive. He had no criticisms to offer but had many suggestions for further improvement of conditions. He said he was the first in this county to introduce the present system of the teaching of agriculture through district representative and school fairs. He believed this to be the proper and satisfactory solution of the agricultural problem. The doctor had on all occasions encouraged and assisted these representatives in their work and would continue to do so.

Educational work had been his life's occupation and during all the years he occupied the high position of inspector of public schools there never had been one complaint of partiality or other complaint of any kind entered against him. He had treated all alike, justice to all and partiality to none had characterized his official career and would continue to do so if he were sent to the legislature. He thought he could make some valuable suggestions for the betterment of the conditions of the schools, especially our rural schools. He knew their wants and their needs as well as their work and their capacity. He would recommend renewal of some form of local authority and would suggest the proper equipment and maintenance of good model schools for the training of teachers to supply the needs of the small sections.

Dr. Spankie said he would suggest a sane system of examination for the students of our high schools in place of the automatic plucking that has occurred so long and been so destructive. He believed the school grants should be increased instead of diminished, and he would give a large fixed grant to every school so that trustees would know what to expect.

With regard to good roads he thought nobody was more familiar with all the roads of this county than he was. He had travelled over them for many years and was a strong advocate of good roads. As to the report of the commission on good roads he could not speak for it was not yet in print and distributed. He did not believe, however, that the farmers, after buying the roads, building them, and maintaining them, should lose control of them and have to buy a license to drive a horse and wagon over them. He did not think the legislature

Truth This is the motto of the advertising men of America who are holding a monster convention in Toronto this month. A higher standard of ethics than ever known is coming into advertising usage.

Stringent laws are being passed in the various states making untruthful advertising a crime, and vigilance committees are seeing that they are enforced. There never was a time when greater safety surrounded the purchase of advertised goods. The road for the fakes grows harder each year.

HIGH LIQUOR FUND.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Ottawa Citizen, conservative, gives prominence to the following story of campaign contributions from the liquor interests to help defeat Mr. Howell: "It is common gossip in the public places here, where politics is the prevailing topic for discussion, that not only are the local liquor interests, such as the hotel-keepers in Ottawa, contributing to a fund to be spent in a fight to defeat the 'abolish-the-bar' policy, but the owners of large whiskey distilleries in Great Britain are contributing $200,000 to the conservative campaign fund, and a big round sum has been subscribed by the whiskey makers and wholesale dealers in both Canada and the United States."

Men interested in the liquor business here deny any knowledge of subscriptions to a fund to be spent to defeat Mr. Howell and his supporters. One hotelman, however, admitted that an appeal had been circulated from the executive officers of the liquor men in Toronto asking for a subscription of $10,000 from Ottawa.

THE BILINGUAL QUESTION.

The Position of Leader Rowell is Clearly Stated. Ottawa, June 22.—The Morning Citizen (conservative) in replying to an editorial in the Evening Journal (conservative), dealing with the bilingual issue, asserts that Mr. Rowell, liberal leader in Ontario, has promised to give the French-Canadians any more bilingual rights than they now enjoy.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR IS FOREMAN OF JURY

Motorist Who Killed Young Woman Acts As Inquest Without Telling Coroner

Toronto, June 22.—Under the eyes of the young man to whom she was engaged to be married, Mary Walsh, a Richmond Hill girl, was killed on Saturday evening by an automobile driven by John L. Whaley, an Eglington grocer, who pulled up for a moment or two after the accident, then disappeared into the night, and half an hour later was subpoenaed to act as the coroner's jury on the same case, and appointed foreman.

Whaley took his place at the inquest into the girl's death without saying a word to the coroner or the other jurymen concerning his alleged part in the tragedy. Police officials spent many hours investigating yesterday before they suspected that Whaley was the man in charge of the death car. A piece of glass which they picked up at the scene of the accident fitted perfectly with a broken headlight on Whaley's automobile.

Whaley is held on a charge of manslaughter without bail. He lives at 2955 Yonge street.

Advertisers' Convention. Toronto, June 22.—After being officially welcomed by Sir John Gibson, lieutenant-governor of the province, and Mayor Hocken, of Toronto, delegates to the Great Advertising Club's convention today settled down to business. There was a good deal of technical business discussed and various prizes awarded for essays on salesmanship and advertising. One great feature of this convention is the number of ladies among delegates and the tremendous part they take in the proceedings.

Candidates Nominated. The nominations for the legislature took place at the city hall, from noon until 2 p.m., Monday. At the latter hour, J. B. Walkem, returning officer, declared T. F. Harrison and Dr. A. E. Ross as the contestants for the local seat. The speeches will take place this evening, and everyone favorable to the election of Aid. Harrison should make it a point to be on hand and give the temperance candidate a hearty reception.

Two drunks, members of the prohibited list, appeared in the police court on Monday morning. One was remanded for a week and the other for a day. Another tippler was dismissed.

NEW INDIAN RESERVE

Tract for Cree Indians Over Twenty-eight Miles Square. Ottawa, June 22.—A new Indian reserve has been set apart at Red River, on the Peace River, below Fort Vermilion, to be known as Fox Lake Indian Reserve, and a number of the Cree Indians of that district of the Cree Indians of that district are to be located thereon. The new reserve contains eighteen thousand and forty-nine acres, or a little over twenty-eight square miles.

The Shoal Lake Indian Reserve is increased by the addition of over 200 acres, in which is located the burial ground of the Indians now occupying the reserve.

THE LIST REDEEMED

By the Honors Conferred Upon Two Men. London, June 22.—The Daily Express comes out strongly against the list of names on the king's birthday honors. "The list is only redeemed," says the Express, "by the earldom conferred upon Lord Kitchener and the Order of St. Michael and St. George, granted the Right Hon. R. L. Borden." The Express thinks that the latter honor is a very proper recognition to the worth of true statesmanship.

HUSBAND'S DEAD BODY WAS FOUND BY WIFE

Dog Found Shoe Containing Dead Man's Foot—The Deceased Had Committed Suicide. London, Ont., June 22.—Body of Donald McDonald, a prominent Benlloch farmer who has been missing since November 6th, was discovered under the most gruesome circumstances to-day. The family dog came into the house, dragging a shoe containing the dead man's foot, and taking it away from the animal followed the dog into the bush, where his wife found the body of her husband—it had been horribly mutilated. It is believed that the body was torn to pieces by either dogs or wild animals. In a treacle by a tin cup was hanging and it is supposed that McDonald committed suicide by drinking poison. At the time he went away, search parties scoured the district but didn't find him.

VOTE BY CONSCIENCE.

Temperance Men Should Decide the Matter Thoughtfully. Rev. G. I. Cambell in the course of his sermon Sunday evening in Queen Street Methodist church, took occasion to speak of the paramount issue in the present election. He felt that temperance men, in both parties, should approach the candidates and find out where they stood in regard to the great question of abolishing the bars; if both were agreed to aid this issue, then he would be content to have either men represent Kingston. In any case, he felt that it was conscientious duty resting upon every man who believed in advanced temperance legislation to support the person who would give the most in connection with the matter.

He was frank enough to say that he had deserted party on other occasions and was prepared to do the same at any time for the advancement of causes for the welfare of the people and in this paramount issue of the day, every man should carefully weigh the matter and mark his ballot with a clear conscience. That was all that could be expected of them.

Sam Hughes, minister of militia.

THE BISHOP'S COUNSEL

TO MILITARY COLLEGE CADETS WHO FINISH COURSE.

His Lordship Also Addressed Himself to the Rochester Visitors, Who Attended St. George's Cathedral Sunday Morning.

The bishop of Kingston was the preacher at the Sunday morning service in St. George's cathedral. His text was 1 Cor. ix, 26: "I therefore so run, not as uncertainly, so fight it, not as one that beateath the air." St. Paul illustrates the necessity of purpose and conviction in life from the striking pictures of the runner who never swerves from his course, and the boxer who makes every blow tell. Neither talents nor cleverness nor adaptability will bring true success in life unless supported by earnestness of purpose and conviction of the true meaning of life.

Speaking to the Royal Military College cadets, he said some of them were listening to him for the last time and were about to start in life with every advantage not merely of education but of training in habits of self-restraint, discipline, and obedience. To what use would they put those advantages? Would they just drift along, or would they keep before them the definite purpose of serving God and their fellow men? He commended St. Paul's words to them as those of a strong, successful man.

He was not of course speaking of success in the ordinary sense, but of something much higher. St. Paul had before him the ideal of the perfect man Christ Jesus, and his purpose was to become like him. They would find many conventional Christians who simply marked time, but made no real progress. The great man in the Kingdom of Heaven was one who strove always to do at all costs the will of God and so write his name in the book of life.

The bishop then welcomed the deputation from Rochester, a city in which he had himself received the warmest welcome when preaching there recently. He said that St. Paul's message applied to every department of life, social, civil, commercial and political. In these days of government by majorities and attempts at social reform by force of parliament, we needed the Christian life of individuals which alone can reform the world. This was the method Christ himself taught. His followers were to leave and inspire by their lives the life around them. So the convinced Christian led and inspired others because he did not trust to his own strength but humbly strove to serve. These were the lives which counted, and the record of which God writes in imperishable characters in the great book of life.

The Weather by Hicks.

During June 21st to the 25th storms will grow in extent and intensity as they pass eastwardly across the country. Vivid and startling electrical manifestations will attend these storms. Heavy rain, wind and hail may reasonably be looked for, with tornadoes entirely probable. These storms will reach their highest culmination on and touching the 23rd and 24th. Watch for indications.

DELEGATES OF VILLA TO GO TO CONFERENCE

If It Continues—Rebel General Plans To Oust The Constitutionnalists

Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, June 22.—General Francisco Villa, whose powers are believed by many to be almost dictatorial since his seizure of the reins of the constitutional government in Northern Mexico, is planning to oust the constitutionalist commissioners in Washington, according to reports. He is said to be especially dissatisfied with Rafael Capmany, and will also send representatives to Niagara Falls to keep him in touch with the situation there if mediation negotiations do not collapse.

It is understood he has decided to send as his representatives Col. Eusebio Colzardo, a general manager of the constitutionalist railway, and John W. Roberts, an American newspaper correspondent. The new appointments are expected to be made in a few days.

Though most of Villa's staff have started for the front, Villa himself is still here. Owing to heavy rains and washouts, extensive movement of troops has been impossible. Wires are open as far south as Fresnillo, but no word has been received regarding the movement of General Panofel Natera's troops.

About to Roast Baby.

Sarnia, June 22.—One of the most shocking crimes ever attempted was nipped in the bud in the South Ward when a woman, who was mildly insane, went violently insane, and attempted to roast her baby in an oven. The woman had washed the child, put pepper and salt on it, and was about to place it in the oven when a neighbor stepped in. The child was uninjured.

Given an Honor.

Dr. W. G. Anglin will this evening be granted a fellowship, in absence, in the American College of Surgeons, which holds its convocation in Philadelphia. Dr. Anglin may attend the convention in November next.

DAY OF NOMINATION IN 111 CONSTITUENCIES

In One Of Warmest Election Campaigns Ever Held

HALF DOZEN MINISTERS HAVE BEEN NOMINATED OVER TEMPERANCE ISSUE.

It is Expected That There Will be a Fight in Every Riding in the Province—Liberal and Temperance Coalition.

Toronto, June 22.—This is nomination day in one hundred and eleven constituencies throughout the province of Ontario—nomination day in the midst of one of the warmest elections ever held in Canada's largest English-speaking province. From the social reform standpoint the issues of this election are more pronounced than those of any previous provincial election. The liberal-temperance coalition party, is out with the "abolish the bar" slogan, and the conservative (government) forces point to their record of legislation curtailing the liquor traffic and ask, "Why abolish the bar and leave licensed liquor shops?"

This issue has naturally brought the churches and moral reformers strongly into the fight. At least half a dozen pastors in active church work will be nominated in various Ontario constituencies to-day to oppose straight conservative government members at the polls.

Much interest is taken in Toronto, which will have ten seats in the new legislature, but where the temperance and church forces are usually strong. Toronto's members in the last legislature were all conservatives.

The nominations take place in all constituencies between noon and two o'clock to-day all over the province. There will likely be a fight in every constituency.

THE EMPRESS ENQUIRY HAD BRIEF SITTING

It Adjourned Monday At 11 a. m. For Reception To Duke Of Connaught

Quebec, June 27.—When the Empress Inquiry was resumed this morning Lord Mersey announced that the court would adjourn at eleven o'clock for the official reception to the Duke of Connaught. Elmar Reinert, second officer of the Storstad, was called into the box and said he was awakened by a jar and rushed out. He noticed that the Empress was going fast.

Lord Mersey—"Am I to understand that that was after the impact?" "Yes."

OIL PLAN FROM CALGARY

Showed Some Samples to a Whig Representative.

On Monday morning a Whig reporter had a conversation with C. A. M. Holland, of Montreal, who is connected with one of the large syndicates interested in the oil discoveries around Calgary. Mr. Holland had several samples to show of the various qualities of oil extracted. One of these was the pure gasoline, which is obtained direct from the ground without having any refining process made to it. This substance is of a greenish yellow color, and very strong in odor. Mr. Holland claimed that it was very combustible, and even better than the ordinary gasoline purchased at this section of Ontario. He also had some dark crude oil that ranks high in percentage for oil producing qualities. The former of these products come from the Black Diamond mine and owes its pure state, according to Prof. Adams, of the University of Alberta, who is also provincial geologist, from the fact that the oil-bearing sands slope down to a greater depth at this point, and has a tendency to purify the product by coaling through the sands.

The Calgary Petroleum Products company, who control the greater part of these wells, is installing twelve large tanks of 12,000 gallons capacity each, making a total of 144,000 gallons, which it intends to keep in surplus stock.
