PLACED UNDER ARREST

CHARGED WITH CASHING BOGUS CHEQUE AT BROCKVILLE.

Believed to Be the Same Young Man Who Worked Similar Game in Kingston on Tuesday—Had Groceries Sent to Resident and Presented a Cheque.

A young man placed under arrest at Brockville on Thursday is believed to be the same young fellow who swindled the grocery store of James Redden & Co. out of $15 on Tuesday by cashing a bogus cheque. The young fellow played a similar game in Brockville as that pulled off in Kingston.

The Brockville Times of Thursday says: This morning a young man entered the store of F. H. Clifford and ordered groceries to the extent of $3, stipulating that they be sent to a well-known resident of the town. In payment of the order he presented a cheque in favor of Henry Miller drawn to $20. Mr. Clifford paid him the amount of the note, deducting the $3 for the groceries, and the man left the store. After his departure Mr. Clifford became suspicious, and took the cheque to the bank. Mr. McClellan phoned Kingston to see if the account was correct, and discovered that the man had worked the same game there, getting away with $15. Chief Burke was notified and went to the station in company with Mr. Clifford, where the stranger was arrested. He had most of the money on his person, in addition to a ticket to Port Hope.

ELECTORATE MUST DECIDE.

This is the View of William O'Brien in a Letter.

London, June 25. — William O'Brien, in a letter to the Morning Post, addresses an earnest warning to British politicians, liberals or unionists, who think they see in any compromise under the amending bill any hope of peace. He says that the amending bill starts hopelessly on the wrong track. It kills home rule under the perditions of a present of enacting it. Even Pitt's act of union left Ireland as a sacred entity around which to centre unquenchable hopes, and it remained for a home rule government to render her by statute into two separate Irelands. He affirms that any compromise of which the bill is susceptible will be viewed by the Irish with detestation no less intractable than that with which France thinks of Alsace or with which Englishmen would receive the proposals under German dreadsoughts to cede Kent and Sussex. He says: "A peace conference, though a desperate remedy, is the only escape from a still more desperate calamity. Let the house of lords instead of consummating the partition of Ireland through the bill propose an all-party convention, and adjourn the consideration of the home rule bill with the repealing bill for three months, pending a report."

The Post editorially disagrees with the suggestions, declaring that unionists cannot consider a compromise with a policy striking both directly and indirectly at the unity of the United Kingdom. There would be no settlement unless the issues were submitted to the judgment of the people.

Dr. and Mrs. Mackie, even when this worthy couple were abroad for two years, were given a pleasant surprise when the good doctor and his wife paid them a visit, in company with Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. S. J. M. Compton. An entertainment and treat was provided by the former minister of St. Andrew's and Mrs. Mackie, and the patients enjoyed themselves immensely. The Rockwood orchestra furnished music for the pleasant event, which was held on the hospital lawn.

MARRIED AT BELLEVILLE.

Frank Birch Formerly of Kingston is the Groom.

Belleville Intelligencer. One of the most beautiful marriage ceremonies of the month was that solemnized in Christ church on Thursday morning, when Miss Minnie A. Rutan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rutan, became the bride of Frank J. Birch, of Port William.

Rev. R. C. Blagrove, rector, officiated. The church was appropriately decorated for the occasion, and when the bridal party arrived the auditorium was filled with friends of the young couple, both of whom are well and favorably known in this city.

The bride was becomingly attired in white silk crepe, with black lace hat, with opeyres and carried white roses, while her sister, Miss Pearl Rutan, the bridesmaid, wore a costume of dainty silk pink crepe, with hat to match, and carried roses. The groomsmen was Harvey Milne, Kingston, Ont.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of gold; to the bridesmaid a bar of pearls; to the groomsmen a pearl tie pin.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents, on Jones street, where a dainty wedding dejeuner was served.

The wedding gifts were very numerous, costly and useful, demonstrating the high esteem in which the bride is held by hosts of friends.

The young couple left on the flyer for Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The bride's travelling suit was of blue embossed corded silk, with black hat. Mr. and Mrs. Birch will reside at Fort William.

FALSE CLAIM.

Over 1,000 bars have been closed in the last nine years by the efforts of both conservative and liberal temperance workers; and owing to a three-fifths handicap, it cost us over $607,000 to do it. Not a single cabinet minister or Dr. Ross ever helped by cash or vote to remove these. It is absolutely false for Whitney to claim credit for any part of this reduction.

Every possible accommodation will be given the visitors so that they may enjoy with us the results, which we feel sure will be favorable to the liberal party.

Wolfe Island News.

Wolfe Island, June 25.—The garden party on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Presbyterian church was a splendid success. Miss Agnes Brebner, of Kingston, rendered very acceptably Pissuti's "Lead Kindly Light," in the Methodist church last Sunday evening. Mrs. (Rev.) J. Ferguson returned on Thursday from Gananoque where she spent a week with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Dewitts, Hay Island. Mrs. Hiram Davis, who has been visiting her daughters in Watertown, and Cape Vincent, N. Y., has returned home. Mrs. Hannah, of Kingston visited her sister, Mrs. H. B. Card this week.

Taught Too Little.

It was Richard's first day at school. As noon he rushed into the house, picked up the treasured funny page of the paper, and scanned it with eager anticipation in his face. A moment later he threw it down, and in a tone of disgust cried: "Go! That's a rotten school." "Why, Richard?" exclaimed his astonished mother, "what do you say that for?" "Well, I've been to it a whole half day and I ain't learned to read yet." —Harper's Magazine.

SOME PRISON CHANGES

CONVICTS TO GET A SUNDAY EVENING MEAL

And Spoon and Fork—Visiting Physician to be Appointed—Tubbing and Hosing Abolished.

An Ottawa despatch to the Whig says: Portsmouth penitentiary changes are being put into effect by the dominion justice department. The reforms are as a result of the recent royal commission sittings and decisions.

Convicts who used to have on Sundays their last meal of the day in the early afternoon, are to have an evening meal. While knives are not to be allowed, a new spoon and forks are to be furnished.

The system of tubbing and hosing is to be abolished, or very sparingly resorted to, and in addition to the resident physician, a visiting physician is likely to be engaged.

There have also been changes made in the staff. The broader question of prison reform will be considered during the parliamentary recess.

The commission suggests more outside work for the convicts, such as farm labor, and particularly recommends that the manufacturing operations be extended so as to include such things as furniture, etc., required in government departments. This is recognized as a question which would require careful consideration.

LORD BRASSEY ARRESTED.

He Was the Victim of German Spy Mania.

Kiel, June 27.—An extraordinary incident occurred to mar the even tenor of the Anglo-German naval contest, in the harbor of Kiel. Lord Brassey, who arrived here on Wednesday, in his well-known steam yacht Sunbeam, was arrested by the harbor police late yesterday afternoon on suspicion of espionage.

Lord Brassey had left the Sunbeam in a dinghy to go around the harbor. When passing near the imperial dock yard he was suddenly accosted from the shore by a policeman who informed him he was under arrest.

It took Lord Brassey an hour and a quarter to establish his identity and secure his release. The huge floating dock in the imperial yard, near which Lord Brassey was arrested, has for several years, since the outbreak of the spy mania in Germany, been adorned by a legend in letters two feet high, and extending the full length of the dock warning trespassers that they will be punished to the full extent of the espionage law.

Quebec Treasury in Luck.

Ottawa Journal. Succession taxes paid by the estates of the late Lord Strathcona and late James Ross enrich the Quebec provincial treasury by $1,300,000. The amount from the Strathcona estate is $600,000; from the Ross estate $700,000. The smaller figure for the Strathcona estate is due to the fact that only a part of the fortune Lord Strathcona left is assessable in Quebec.

The Quebec treasury does well; and who is hurt Lord Strathcona left $27,000,000; Mr. Ross left about $10,000,000. The former had only a daughter, the latter only a son. Neither of these did anything to help make the money their fathers left. They will still have, the one over $20,000,000, the other nearly half that. Inheritance taxes seem to be about as nearly unobjectionable as any sort of taxes can be.

What Liquor Does.

Peterboro Examiner. Every employer of labor, every industry, every manufacturing concern, would be the better for the abolition of the bar. They all know how the working capability, the earning capacity of employees is lessened by drink; and to such an extent is this generally recognized that in every field of employment—the man that drinks is blacklisted.
