Mabel to Julia
Dear Julia:
I heard you speak at the club last week, and I enjoyed the little talk more than I can tell you.

Next time you have anything to say about household efficiency, I want you to take up the question of advertising.

Does every woman understand what an important part the reading of newspaper ads plays in her scheme of home economy? If I hadn't been a persistent ad reader from the start, I wouldn't have such a happy, cozy home to-day—neither would you.

Ever,
Mabel.

A BOY STRUCK IN FACE BY PACKAGE OF LIGHTED FIRECRACKERS

FACE WAS CHARRED AND HIS EYE IN VERY BAD CONDITION.

The Unfortunate Lad Was Arthur Smith, Plum Street—Not Known If Firecrackers Were Aimed at Him or Not.

A serious accident which came close to ruining the eyesight of a young lad, Arthur Smith, aged twelve years, occurred on Sunday afternoon, when this little fellow was struck in the face with a package of gunpowder, which had been lighted and thrown by an unknown party.

Young Smith was just in the act of getting over a fence at the rear of his home, 17 Plum street, when the lighted package was hurled. He did not know, when asked by a Whig reporter, whether it was meant for him or if it was just tossed there in sport. At any rate the boy got the full benefit of it in the face which terribly charred it, as well as his right arm, which he extended to ward off the flaming explosive.

After receiving the injuries the young fellow ran home where his mother applied some soothing ointments. Dr. Day arrived and made temporary dressings after which he took the boy to the Hotel "Dieu" in his automobile.

Arthur Smith is in the junior third class at Frontenac school and is a cadet of the same school.

IRISH TRIBUTES PAID JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN

His Confidence In The British Race A Feature Also Of The References

London, July 6.—The thing dominates all others in every English newspaper, liberal, unionist, radical, labor alike, namely, the close of Chamberlain's great career. Nothing is more significant than the warm references of nationalists and other Irishmen to Chamberlain's attitude towards the Irish people.

It is however, as the apostle of the empire that Chamberlain is chiefly remembered in to-day's newspapers and speeches. Columns are written and spoken from the text of his speech on Imperial Institute in November, 1895, when he said: "I believe in the British empire. I believe that the British race is the greatest of governing races that the world has ever seen."

When the boat was found this morning. The upturned boat, was found this morning.

Hot Weather at East. It was 99% in the Sun Monday Afternoon.

"My hot it's hot!" This time-worn expression was heard Monday, and there was good reason for it, for it certainly was warm. Saturday Sunday and Monday were all warm days.

At the same time, memorial services were being held in Westminster Abbey, London, attended by the king's representatives and statesmen. Unionists and tariff reformers have seized the opportunity of Chamberlain's death to make a vigorous campaign for their cause. Millions of leaflets were distributed on Sunday bearing his last message to his followers regarding his empire policy. He said: "I would nothing, fight it out to the end. Your cause cannot fail, because it is based on the imperishable principles of British unity. Don't either men about antics, but whether you win sooner or later depends on your tenacity."

Spanish Nicknames. One of the peculiar ways in which Spanish differs from English is in the names of the languages gives to all people with a certain infirmity or peculiarity. A blind man is referred to as el ciego, a man with but one eye as a chico, one who is cross-eyed is a bisojo, a cojo is a lame man and a man who has but one arm. He is humphacked he is a joborado, if baldheaded a calvo, and if his hair is very short he is a pelon. The feminine titles for the same classes are the same, with the exception that they end in "a" where the masculine terminate with "o". These short names are applied as nicknames in many cases, and especially among the owners and ranked high among them or referred to only by these names.—San Francisco Call.

JAS. DUNSMUIR LOSES MILLION AND A HALF

Privy Council Decides Big Case In Favor of Mackenzie And Mann

Vancouver, B.C., July 6.—Hon. James Dunsmuir, former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, and the richest citizen of this province, loses a cool million and a half dollars by an adverse judgment delivered by the privy council in London.

Four years ago Dr. Dunsmuir sold his coal mines on Vancouver Island to S. R. Williams Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann for $11,000,000.

The new owners claimed that they bought the current account in the bank as well as a couple of steamers used in the coal carrying trade between Union and San Francisco.

Mr. Dunsmuir thought so little of this theory that a few days before the transfer occurred, he declared a dividend to himself, which wiped out the balance in the bank of several hundred thousand dollars. He also claimed the Kingdon volunteers were sold and not the steamers. The privy council has declared in favor of the new owners with costs.

Assaulted at Watertown, N. Y. While returning to the army at Watertown, on Saturday evening, one of the members of the brass band of the 14th Regiment was assaulted by some unknown men. Without any warning, the Kingdon volunteer was rapped on the head and then relieved of some of his money. Some lads nearby at the time of the affair, yelled when they saw the bandman fall to the ground, with the result that the men, who were swimming with out bathing suits. There is no one in charge of the island, although the city has been granted the use of it for a park. Swimmers should know better than to expose themselves for there are always snaphop fiends about, besides picknickers.

Patrons of this theatre will see reproduced photographs of happenings they read about in their daily paper the evening before. The only "three cities in Canada" having this service, are Montreal, Toronto and Kingston.

EAGERLY AWAITING FOR COURT DECISION AS TO WHETHER HABEAS CORPUS SHALL ISSUE IN CASE OF HINDUS AT VANCOUVER

Ottawa, July 6.—This is judgment day in British Columbia. The courts of that province will, this afternoon, give decision in the case of the Hindus who have been exercising their British citizenship for the past two months, in a Japanese ship at Vancouver harbor. If the judges at Vancouver shall issue in the case of the Hindus, officials here feel that there is only one hope left.

Judge Doherty, minister of justice, acting minister of interior too. He spent many years on the bench himself, and the immigration department officials believe that he will be able to walk around the decision in Vancouver to-day, if it does not suit him.

THE LIBERALS WIN IN EAST LAMPTON.

Forest, July 6.—Official returns show that R. J. McCormick, (liberal), is elected member of the Ontario legislature for East Lambton by a margin of eleven of a majority, instead of Dr. J. B. Marten (conservative), as at first reported.

Mr. McCormick was first elected to the house in 1903 and has held his seat ever since. Much of the conservative force was centred here, in an effort to beat the liberal elect.

This gives the liberals 25 members in the house, instead of the former, twenty-five.
