

THE SPORT REVIEW

THE TORONTO BALL TEAM IS AWAY FROM HOME.

During Most of July and August—Pugilist Ritchie Has About $120,000 Stowed Away.

Ritchie, who lost the lightweight championship to Welch, has about $120,000. And nearly all of it will have been earned since Thanksgiving day, 1912, when he wrestled the title away from Ad. Wolgast.

The Pittsburgh National League Baseball club has purchased Shortstop "Jimmy" McAuley from the Waterloo, Ia., team. Several other teams from the big leagues were after the youngster. McAuley will have a big job on his hands, as the present incumbent of the shortstop position on the Pirates has seen many candidates for his place come and go.

The New York American League club has completed a deal by which "Birdie" Cree, for years the star left fielder of the club, was repurchased from the Baltimore Internationals. Cree was sent to Baltimore for $2,500 last winter, the local club exercising an option to recall him for $5,000. Outfielder William Holden, who has been with the New York club since August, goes to Baltimore in part payment for Cree.

Neither Westminster or Vancouver professional teams looks very strong this year, and the time is ripe for either the "Big Four," champions of the N. L. U. winners to go out and get the Minto Cup, but the trouble would be in financing the trip. It costs about five thousand dollars to take a lacrosse team to the West, and while amateurs can get a large percentage from subscriptions this method would not be very productive for the professionals.

The remarkable closeness of the Federal baseball league race is strikingly illustrated by the fact that during a single week Buffalo held its own against Chicago for two days, Buffalo dropping to fourth place, and while amateurs can get a large percentage from subscriptions this method would not be very productive for the professionals.

Anxious to make the national game of lacrosse as fast and interesting as possible, the National Lacrosse union made a number of very important changes in the rules at a special meeting in Montreal. The most important change is the lengthening of the field of play. Formerly the field was only one hundred yards in length, but for future games it will be one hundred and twenty yards long.

Vancouver, two months ago, received Joseph Lilly with open arms and declared him the greatest man lacrosse had ever known. Now, because he gave an adverse ruling against that city, they demand that he be removed and a new trustee appointed for the Mann cup. Mr. Lilly showed firmness as well as fairness in his decision, which will earn for him the respect of all lovers of the national game.

Fourteen years in the National Baseball league, and still the leading twirler, is the record of Christy Mathewson, New York Giant. The way "Matty" has been moving down the batters in the old league so far this season, it looks as if the season of 1914 was going to be the best in his long career. To date Christy has won 14 games, losing 3. His control has been the best of the having only issued 13 passes in 18 games. "Matty" has been touched up for 144 hits, mostly scattered, and coming when they were liable to do the least damage.

The German lawn tennis league has been again decided to take part in the competitions for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy and will send a team to the United States to meet the Australians. Early in the year Germany sent in a challenge for the cup, but a few weeks later notified the United States Lawn Tennis association that it would withdraw the challenge. This caused much disappointment, and Otto Froitzheim, the German champion, who is in the best of form, is now endeavoring to induce Robert Klenschroth to accompany him to the United States. Froitzheim and Klenschroth should be prevented from doing so.

Whoever is responsible for the international league schedule did not give Toronto any the best of the greater part of July and August, but they are here for a long stretch in September, when the weather is generally unfit for the diamond pursuit at the island. After the present series with Montreal the local club travel to Rochester for three games and then return for four games with Buffalo. Away they go again, this time to Montreal, coming back series with Baltimore, Newark, Jersey and Providence. They then swing around the circuit and are away practically all August, which is the best month in the year it is a fine piece of work.

KNITTING MERGER

Spinning Companies to Take in Many Others.

Hamilton, July 9.—One of the largest mergers ever formed in Canada is likely to be the outcome of negotiations by the Eagle Knitting company and the Eagle Spinning company, limited, now owned and operated by Col. J. R. Moodie, who have practically accepted a very attractive proposal to take in all of the largest knitting mills in Canada, including that of the Penman company at Paris.

It is expected that the Hamilton companies will be taken in at a valuation of $1,500,000, and they will continue to be operated under the direction of the Moodie family.

A NORWEGIAN TOWN.

Camrose Is a "Little Norway" From Her Names To Her Skis.

Camrose, Alberta, is par excellence the Norwegian metropolis of Canada. Its first name was Bakken, named after a Norwegian who first settled in the town when the town is built. Mr. Bakken came to Canada from the United States to get a farm. He looked around for a long time, because an old fortune-teller had once told him that he would get a quarter-section of land where a river cut off one of the corners, and where he would find plenty of coal and wood, and that on this quarter a town would be located. After having looked around for a long time, Bakken came out from Wetaskiwin and found a quarter-section which in every respect covered the fortune-teller's description. He settled down here, and while his friends laughed at him, he stayed by it, as the only settler in that vicinity. When the Canadian Pacific Railway was built the station was located on his land, and when the town was surveyed he became a very rich man. He is now dead.

To-day Camrose is the centre for three railways, and has managed to retain its Norwegian stamp. Looking over the map of Camrose, one will find that the streets have Norwegian names, such as Christiania avenue, Bjovorsen street, Ibsen street, Bakken street, Paulsen street, Dahl street, Thomsen street, Christine street, and of subdivisions there are many with Norwegian names, such as Bakken Addition, Dahl Addition, Gulv Addition, etc. This is not the only evidence of the Norwegian influence. In looking over the voters' list for last year's election, it is found that of the 378 votes cast in the town of Camrose, 223 were Norwegian, and taking all of the Camrose district, it is found that out of 1,400 voters, 973 are Norwegians. When the United Lutheran Churches determined to build a college for the education of young Norwegian boys and girls, Camrose was selected as the site, and it now has the only Norwegian college in the entire British Empire. Camrose is the centre for the skiing devotees in the Canadian west and is also the headquarters for the prairie competitions.

"Home to Norway Association," is working with a view to securing the largest possible number of tourists for the centennial celebration in Norway this year.

Last winter there were 2,400 gathered at the ski sports in Camrose, and about 4,000 in Edmonton, and the interest in the sport is ever increasing. The absence of great hills in the country makes it necessary to build timber scaffolds for ski runners to get a start, but these scaffolds serve the purpose as well as the steep hills in Norway. The demand for skis is so great that it has been necessary to establish a ski factory at Camrose, and we also have a school where Canadians and others are taught the sport.

It is probable that no other town in Canada has so marked a national spirit as has the little town of Camrose.

The Event Was Past.

Deputy Sheriff Jarvis of York County, who, despite the weight of his 84 years, daily takes his place just to the right of the Judge, when the Assizes are in session in Toronto, tells an amusing story at his own expense. "One night," said he, "about two years ago, I was sitting all alone in my house, poring over that morning's issue of The Globe. I noticed to my surprise and pleasure that Christy's Minstrels were advertised to appear that night at St. Lawrence Hall. I noticed that every time I read before, and was delighted to think that the old name had been kept up. Having nothing else to do that evening, I put on my hat and coat, got on a street car, and went downtown. Reaching my destination on King street, I noticed that everything about the hall was in darkness—not the least sign of a performance. I asked a man standing nearby when the exhibition was due to begin. Well, he just looked at me as though I were a Rip Van Winkle, and laughed in my face. Why, my dear man," said he, "St. Lawrence Hall has been built over this many a long year. You will never see any more shows here."

"I went home feeling quite angry with The Globe for putting such a mean hoax in the paper, and I made up my mind just to writing the office when I got back and tell them what I thought of such jokes," remarked the Sheriff. "However, just to be sure, I picked up the newspaper when I reached home and took another look at it. Yes, there it was sure enough. The announcement read plainly: 'The Minstrels at St. Lawrence Hall to-night'—but just above it my eye caught something it had missed before. That was the heading: 'Fifty Years Ago To-day.'"

This Woman 115 Years Old.

The distinction of being the oldest woman in Canada probably goes to Mrs. Chapman, wife of Thomas Chapman, living in Bastard township. She has just celebrated her 115th birthday, and is hale and hearty with good eyesight and good hearing. She was born in Ireland in 1799 and came out to Canada in 1844, taking up residence at her present homestead and remaining there ever since. When she married Thomas Chapman she was 56 years of age. Her husband is about 70. The couple have no children. Mrs. Chapman boasts of the fact that when 100 years old she could climb a ladder into hay loft and do many odd chores around her farm.

Reward For Heroic Captain.

The Italian consul-general at Montreal has received a handsome pair of binoculars from the Canadian Government to be forwarded to Captain Gerolamo Bacigalupo, commander of the steamship Dora Bates, of Genoa, Italy, who rescued the officers and crew of the schooner Carrie M. Wambach during a severe storm in the Mediterranean on Jan. 27.

McFadden of Renfrew and the Hope Lumber company of Bay City. Each section comprises 36 square miles with dues of $2 per mile and a ground rent of $10. WERE PRESENTED WITH GIFTS ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

For Saving Other Boys From Drowning—Public Recognition Was Made of Their Brave Deeds.

Gananoque, July 8.—An incident of a very pleasing nature transpired at the river front last evening while the crowd had gathered for the band concert. Occasion was taken to show appreciation for the brave acts of two little lads of the town which in the case of each resulted in the saving of human life. The first was the presentation of the Humane Society's diploma to young Colin Battams for the rescue of his little cousin, Samuel Battams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Battams, North street. The second the presentation of a bank book representing a purse made up by subscription among the citizens of the town for little David Bellie, for the saving of his elder brother, William, from drowning. Both circumstances were considered worthy of appreciation. Senator George Taylor made an excellent speech of a commendatory nature and the presentation was made by Mrs. John A. Webster, who had interested herself in bringing both before the notice of the Humane Society. Both little lads as they appeared in answer to their names were given an ovation by the large gathering.

DINNER NO EXCUSE

Even Though American Ambassador Was Host.

London, July 9.—A strange incident occurred in the House of Commons last evening. Shortly before eleven o'clock Hon. Walter Long and Lord Robert Cecil drew attention to the absence of the prime minister from the debate on the budget, which was going on. Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George explained that Mr. Asquith was keeping an engagement with the American ambassador. Lord Robert Cecil taunted the premier with "merely dining with the American ambassador," whereupon William Redmond rose amid an uproar and cried: "You have no right to sneer at the ambassador!" Lord Robert retorted: "You willfully misunderstood me. I like to dine with the American ambassador myself." Lord Robert added that he deemed it perfectly ludicrous for the chancellor of the exchequer to tell the house that because the prime minister was dining with somebody, however exalted, he could not be present at ten minutes to eleven. Such an excuse was scandalous and he thought it was a disgrace for the chancellor of the exchequer to tell the house that because the prime minister was dining with somebody, however exalted, he could not be present at ten minutes to eleven. The unionist leader, Bonar Law, in supporting Lord Robert Cecil, said if Mr. Asquith had an engagement with the American ambassador, peace or war, there would be an excuse, but as it was there was no excuse.

NUNS AS FIRE FIGHTERS

Form Bucket Brigade to Save Their Convent.

New York, July 9.—While a fire which almost completely destroyed the embroidery works of L. & M. Druckman, at Liberty avenue and Warwick street, East New York, was being fought by firemen called by four alarms Tuesday night, twenty nuns of the Dominican Order of St. Joseph organized bucket brigade and passed pails of water up from the street level to where they could be poured on the roof and walls of the frame convent building diagonally opposite from the embroidery works. The work was done under the direction of Sister Mary Florentina.

On the same plot with the convent stand the church and school of St. Michael's a parish founded many years ago, when the section was settled by citizens of German origin. Father Fulgentius, in charge of the parish, and Fathers Francis, Nicholas, and Hyacinth and Brothers Klaus, John, Lawrence, and Michael set out four lines of hose with the aid of Edward K. Oke an undertaker, who lives across the street, and George Schwenzer, the janitor, and played them on the buildings of the parish which were constantly threatened by burning embers.

DEMAND SHORTER HOURS

Railway Men Ready to Strike if Reduced Boon.

Chicago, July 9.—More than 80,000 Western railroad operators announced through their accredited representatives their determination to strike unless the railroads agreed to change the working day from 10 to 8 hours without reduction in pay. The unions represented were the railway clerks, freight handlers and warehouse men, locomotive firemen and engineers, maintenance or way men, oilers, engine-wipers and trainmen. At a conference in the office of Lawrence Curren, international president of the freight handlers' resolutions were adopted that provided for a strike vote by the unions that had not already voted, with the delivery of an ultimatum to the railroads not later than July 14th, that a strike will immediately follow unless the 8-hour day is granted. The sentiment for a strike was reported to be overwhelming throughout the west. The roads involved are 67 trunk lines and subsidiaries west of Chicago.

To Overcome Sunburn, Tan, Freckles, Wrinkles

If your skin is unduly reddened, freckled or tanned, dab a liberal amount of mercurochrome on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine flaky, almost invisible particles of mercurochrome will be left on the skin, the entire outer skin absorbs it, but so gradually there is not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful-looking, you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercurochrome is procurable at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases. If sun and winds shake you about and brown, you're bound to cultivate wrinkles and crow's feet. To overcome these quickly, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic in a half-pint which hazel.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "star" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. It is a good fat worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put. Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly, and makes the fat-producing condition of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh on your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Druggists sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

If Mrs. Smith Stayed Home

BEFORE you leave for your summer vacation, you order your favorite daily newspaper sent on to your vacation address. And having had it sent you, do you not watch for its daily arrival almost as eagerly as for your personal mail? But do you read the advertisements in it as carefully at such a time as you do when you're at home. Of course you do! There is much in them to interest, advise and help. The shrewd manufacturer nowadays realizes that it is wise to continue advertising his wares all the year 'round. He advertises all through the summer partly to keep his goods before the numerous people who take no vacation and are thus possible customers every day throughout the year partly to reach those who are away at summer resorts, but who will be home again in a few weeks ready and eager to buy his goods. In his advertisements there is for Mrs. Smith, at the summer resort, just as interesting news of merchandise as for Mrs. Jones, who stayed at home. When Mrs. Smith comes home she will find a lot of new things needed for her home and her family. And she should have her mind already made up as to the kind of things she will select. Your daily paper, read on the porch of a summer cottage, will aid you in this—through its vitally interesting advertising columns—just as much as if you had stayed home and were reading it there. So read the ads. Mrs. Smith—even if you are away.

You can obtain helpful advice on advertising free of cost and without obligation by consulting the Business Department of The British Whig.
