QUEEN'S SUMMER SCHOOL

Lecture by H. Mitchell on Co-operative Associations.

The first general lecture was given at 6 p.m., in the history room, Kingston hall, by Humphrey Mitchell, of the department of economics. Mr. Mitchell dealt chiefly with the subject of co-operative associations. A system first used in the old countries, but which is rapidly spreading through Canada in the form of co-operative stores, cheese and butter factories, telephones and co-operative fruit growers' associations. Co-operation is of great benefit to the farmer as it allows them to dispose of their produce at the very best advantage; also doing more than any other thing to keep down the trusts. Nova Scotia has the most successful co-operative store in the Dominion, while Saskatchewan is doing excellent work in the line of co-operative hail insurance associations and co-operative elevators which afford the farmers of the west a means of disposing of their large quantities of grain.

Co-operation in Canada was first started by miners of Nova Scotia and has been used to the same extent in Scotland and England. It especially benefits the poor of a country who must save their farthings or cents as the case may be.

LESS FLIES ARE NOTICED

In Kingston This Summer Than Ever Before.

People are noticing the decrease in the number of flies which are to be seen around this summer. A. White reporter making his rounds to various points has been informed that there are now not one fly over ten flies that originally used to both the care-worn office official. What ever the cause may be several reasons may be advanced:

First, the backwardness of the season. Secondly, the cleaning up day has worked wonders and removed considerable annoyance when many of these detestable creature have come into commission so prevalently and a regular crusade has been made against the fly. The latter cause has played an important part and every fly killed means that there are less eggs laid from which in warm weather the insects hatch quickly.
