OF ONTARIO COMMISSION IS NOW TAKING SHAPE.

Craffic Census-Takers Will Visit Ci ties to Determine Roads Which Civic Councils Must Maintain.

Highways Commission is ly taking shape, and officials expect that by the end of the summer preliminary construction gangs will be sent out on the roads. In two weeks a temporary staff of traffic census takers will be distributed among the titles of the province to study the demands of the different centres and to determine the share which each city should take in the support of the highways running out into the respective counties. These men will be especially de tailed to settle the size of the suburban areas containing roads whici are of unusual importance to city business, and for which the civic councils will be expected to provide maintenance. The intention of the commission is to so divide up the cost in every instance that the par ties concerned will bear proportion-R. Thus, in certain areas surrounding the cities, roads will be made practically self-supporting. Between these and OSPHONOL FOR MEN. Vim and throughout the purely rural districts will not be expected to go much bevond their customary taxes for road support, and these highways will as nearly approach strictly government ventures, as any which the commission are planning.

The staff of census takers will be supplemented as occasion demand and a chief officer will be stationed at commission headquarters to tabulate reports for final consideration. The census taken prior to the published plans was designed altogether from a rural standpoint. The idea in view was to gain information as to the needs of the farming community in the getting of their products to the nearest market centres. In the tabulation no notice was taken automobile trajc. This, how ever, is increasing daily in Ontario and is being recognized as one of the most important factors to

I have a payment to make now and wish to sell you five hundred shares for which I will draw on sou three drafts for $100 in thirty, sixty and ninety days each. Some time early in June I will be happy to explain fully the property and discuss matters with you. The drafts will go through the Merchants' Bank and they will notify you and be good enough to accept them to assist me. Yours truly, (signed) R.

R. Gamey. As yet we have had no explanation from Mr. Gamey. Were there personal relations between Mr. Gamey and those to whom the letter was addressed that would justify his action? Was the letter a general communication to those with whom Mr. Gamey is in the habit of doing business? Any suspicion that Mr. Gamey, as controlling proincial patronage in Manitoulin, would practically levy an assessment upon the fishermen should be disproved. On its face the letter is disturbing. Mr. Gamey ought to meet the charges that have been made with a frank and full explanation.
