SEARCHING FOR SISTER

FELL INTO HANDS OF POLICE ON CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

George Marshall Fined for Using Abusive Language on Street—Member of "Prohibited List" Also Had to Pay Fine.

"I came here from Clayton to try and locate my sister, and got full." This was the explanation Charles Glenwood, a stranger, made in the police court on Saturday morning, when the charge of drunkenness was read against him. The magistrate fined him $1 and costs.

George Marshall, who stepped on a piece of the newly-made pavement on Princess street the other day, and then used bad language because he was told to get away by one of the workmen was fined $5 and costs with the option of fifteen days.

Constable Arnel was the complainant and the case was remanded for a few days in order to give the constables time to secure a witness. The witness was on hand when the case was called, and told about Marshall using bad language.

Marshall claimed that there had been a mistake. He remembered walking on the new roadway, but stated this was merely a slip on his part and that he made some remark to the effect that his stepping on the road would make more work for the men. The magistrate however, took very little time in taking the story of the constable and his witness and imposing a fine.

Arthur Rhodes on remand for being drunk when a member of the "prohibited list," was fined $1 and costs or twenty days.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

British People Should Have the Preference.

Kingston, July 25.—(To the Editor): Would it not be better if the dominion government closed her provinces to immigration for certain periods. This would be the means of stopping so much overcrowding, unemployment and starvation, which is taking place at the present time.

I would like to ask the questions: Who Canada belongs to? Who made Canada what it is? Who has the biggest right to live in Canada, the Englishman or the foreigner? (Clear the foreigners out of it and give English people their right to live and work in a province which belongs to their own country.—AN ENGLISH WORKER, NOT A SHIRKER.

Should Regulate the Traffic.

It is customary for the police to be on hand at the stations when the trains come in or are going out, and the same should be the case when the ferryboat Wolfe Island lands on Saturday mornings. There is always a large crowd on this boat on this market day and it is a shame the way some of the women have to wiggle their way through the waggons which line up in full force upon the wharf. Better regulations of traffic is needed at this ferry wharf.

Taken at His Word.

A suburban minister, during his discourse one Sunday morning, said:—"In each blade of grass there is a sermon." The following day one of his flock discovered the good man pushing a lawn-mower about, and passed to say:—"Well, parson, I'm glad to see you engaged in cutting your sermons short."

Wedded In The West.

AT SATURDAY'S MARKET.

What the Housewife Had to Pay for Produce.

Down at the market Saturday morning raspberries seemed to hold the most prominent position.

"Oh, yes, ma'am, we've lots of raspberries," the fruit man was telling an eager customer. "They're selling at two boxes for 25c."

"Well, I have to get some other things and I'll be back later," and away she hurried to the island market. This building was very crowded but she was able to get a lovely pair of chickens for $1.25, two pounds of butter for 50c, some peas and patches (two boxes for 25c) and some carrots, lettuce and radishes, she took her basket to a store and returned to order the berries and other things she needed.

"If the new potatoes are cheaper I will get a bushel sent up."

"They are selling at 40c a peck, ma'am, but they are good ones—feel." After ordering the potatoes she ordered a dozen of eggs and took her basket on the street car home.
