R. WALDRON

ONE OF THE WHIG STAFF LEAVING FOR THE WAR

Among the patriotic young Canadians who left the city on Thursday to fight for king and country, the Whig is proud to note, one of its own staff, namely, Lieut. A. D. McConnell, circulation manager. Mr. McConnell has been with the Whig for a couple of years, and is widely known, especially in the country districts, where he has done considerable work of various kinds.

Lieut. McConnell is attached to No. 3 Cavalry Field Ambulance, of the Army Medical Service, as quartermaster. This corps is under the command of Lieut.-Col. A. E. Ross, of this city, and comprises forty-five men. The men entrusted with the plan for Valenciennes, where they will go into camp for the present.

It is a notable fact that every officer of this corps volunteered for overseas service. It is not yet known whether their services will be required abroad or not. At any rate, they are ready.

The Whig extends its best wishes to its fighting representative, and wishes him God speed and a safe return.

LIEUT. A. D. MCCONNELL

THE TIE OF LOYALTY R. S. WALDRON VICTOR

BINDS THE POLITICAL PARTIES OF CANADA.

Which United in a Message of Devotion — Brilliant Declarations by Premier and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—In splendid testimony of the unity of the Canadian people as citizens of the empire, the two parties in the Canadian House of Commons joined, yesterday, in a message of loyal devotion to the motherland, of confidence in the justice of her cause and of determination to enter upon the empire's war with every resource and to the limit of any sacrifice.

The debate on the address, in which the stand of parliament was taken, lasted for scarcely more than two hours. It was opened by Donald Sutherland, of South Oxford, who considered that the occasion was not one for words, but for action that Great Britain had entered upon a just war, and that Canadian would stand with her to the end.

Mr. Sutherland spoke in strong sympathy with the position of those loyal citizens of Canada who were of German descent, but who to-day were unwavering in their allegiance to the British crown. He urged that the government take steps for the protection of the families, dependent and children of Canadians who were going to the front. This Sir Robert Borden announced would be done.

D. O. Lesperance, of Montmagny, in seconding the address in French, said: "We have had our differences of opinion in the past and shall no doubt have them again in the future. But when it is a question of going to the defence of the empire we are united."

Premier Borden said: "As to our duty all are agreed, we stand shoulder to shoulder with Britain and the other British dominions in this quarrel. And that duty we shall not fail to fulfill as the honor of Canada demands. Not for love of battle, not for lust of conquest, not for greed of possessions, but for the cause of honor, to maintain solemn pledges, to uphold principles of liberty, to stand with the world into an armed camp, yea, in the very name of the peace that we sought at any cost save that of dishonor we have entered into this war, and while gravely conscious of the tremendous issues involved and of all the sacrifices that they may entail, we do not shrink from them, but with firm hearts we abide the event."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his usual masterly pressing upon us than all other duties at once, on this first day of debate in a Canadian parliament, to let Great Britain know, to let the friend and foes of Great Britain know, that there is in Canada but one mind and one heart. Not for love of battle, not for lust of conquest, not for greed of possessions, but for the cause of honor, to maintain solemn pledges, to uphold principles of liberty, to stand with the world into an armed camp, yea, in the very name of the peace that we sought at any cost save that of dishonor we have entered into this war, and while gravely conscious of the tremendous issues involved and of all the sacrifices that they may entail, we do not shrink from them, but with firm hearts we abide the event."

Three Convicts Hit Guard With Axe; Escaped

This afternoon about three o'clock three convicts escaped from the custody of the guards on the penitentiary farm, and were still at large when the Whig went to press.

One of the convicts struck Guard Tatten on the head with an axe, knocking him unconscious, and two others made off with him, taking the guard's horse and gun. The alarm was given, and pursuit of the convicts was begun. The escaped prisoners made their way up the Penitentiary Road.

HIS LAUNCH KIOTA II. WINS THE $500 TROPHY.

After Winning Two Firsts Mr. Waldron Had His American Rival Hauled Out, and It Proved To Be a Hydroplane.

R. S. Waldron brought the Col. A. C. Staples $500 gold cup to Kingston on Wednesday night from Alexandria, after participating in four hotly-contested motor boat races. On Wednesday afternoon the final race was run off, but the American boat, Little Jeh, owned by Mr. Church, of New York City, won out by twenty-one seconds. This boat, however, was later disqualified when Mr. Waldron had it raised from the water at his own expense and examined. Upon examination it was found to be a hydroplane, having a step of twenty-two inches.

For this the judges awarded the race to Mr. Waldron, as the rules distinctly read that the cup was to be competed for only by displacement boats.

All through the series of races the American boats acted very mean and disregarded the rules to suit themselves. They violated the rules by having their exhaust upwards into the air, instead of through the stern. However, Mr. Waldron made them remedy this, but the owner of Little Jeh tried to keep secret the fact that his launch was a hydroplane. Mr. Waldron had his doubts about it, and after the final race he was determined to find out. He took it to the Kingston Yacht Clubhouse, where Mr. Waldron intends to keep it.

A Whig reporter, speaking to the engineer, Wilbur, of Mr. Waldron's yacht, was informed that they had a victory during the races, and at some of the turns the Kiota II came within two inches of taking in water.

During the race of Tuesday Mr. Wilbur asserted that the American yacht tried to sink them by glancing suddenly towards the stern of the Kiota II. However, Mr. Waldron's boat was a little too fast for it, and, aided by the swell, the Kiota II only escaped damage by about three inches.

SOME LIVELY DISCUSSIONS AT Thursday Morning Session of the A. Y. P. A.

Matters were livened up a little at the A.Y.P.A. conference on Thursday morning. Several papers were given, the chief ones being read by Miss Fleming, of St. George's, Clarksville, on "The A.Y.P.A. as an Educational Factor," by William Moulton, of Huron College, London, on "The Member and His Obligations"; Rev. Mr. Lindsay, of Toronto, on "Financing the Local Council"; Miss Laura M. Byrd, on "The A.Y.P.A. and Its Social Life"; A. W. Langmuir, of Toronto, on "The Annual District Rally and How To Go About It."

Mr. Hodgkinson, of Toronto, was called upon to supply for Rev. E. A. Helms, who was to have spoken on "The Branch and the Record." Mr. Hodgkinson upheld the social side of the A.Y.P.A. but defined clearly that card-playing should not be introduced into the A.Y.P.A. The recorder should receive the heartiest support from every member of this society, and nothing that might be hurtful should be carried on without his consent.

Mr. Moulton's paper on "The Member and His Obligations" was heartily received and was about the best of Thursday morning's session.

A heated discussion arose towards the end of this morning's programme when the advisability of introducing missionary work into the A.Y.P.A. was broached. Rev. Mr. Lindsay was of the opinion that to a certain extent it should be eliminated and thereby grasp as many members for the A.Y.P.A. as possible who would otherwise not attend if missions were continually being discussed.

Rev. A. M. Barclay, of Scarborough Junction, Toronto, objected to this and upheld Mrs. R. J. Barron's view in which she supported the A.Y.P.A. and missions. The president finally had to call an end to the discussion which ended the morning's session.

AN OPTIMIST'S VIEW

A BILLION DOLLARS AVAILABLE AT HOME.

Paish Says British People Could Raising That Amount in Year.—A Hopeful Outlook.

Montreal Gazette.
Orders should be given, factories should be run, and everything should be arranged to maintain, as far as possible, the productive power and the income of the country.

That is the advice offered to Britons by Sir George Paish, editor of the Statist, who has resigned his position to devote his time in the service of the British treasury.

Cables have already conveyed brief extracts of Sir George's article. In more detail it is as follows:

"At such a time it is of the greatest importance that every one should endeavor to act as if great events were not impending. Were confidence seriously disturbed business would come practically to an end, and our ability to face the difficulties that may be in front of us would be seriously impaired.

"Therefore, it is of vital importance that, as far as possible, the events that are now taking place should not interfere with the daily life and the daily work of the nation.

"It cannot be too clearly realized that the nation's income is dependent upon its daily work and its daily production, and that at a time such as the present it is desirable that every one should work harder and be more productive, in order that we may have the income, and therefore the money, with which to meet any expenditure and any burden that may be placed upon us.

"In the current year the new issues of capital in the London market alone will probably reach $200,000,000, after providing for the nation's expenditure upon the construction of houses and extensions of works. If the occasion should arise the British people should be able, without any serious difficulty, to raise loans amounting to $200,000,000 a year and above any sums they may derive from the sale to the United States of a part of the great quantity of American securities they now possess.

"But for this to be accomplished the situation must be faced with courage and confidence on the part of every one. Investors must continue to invest, bankers must continue to lend, the stock exchange must continue to deal, and every one according to his ability must endeavor to work hard in order that the income of the whole nation may be maintained at the highest possible level."

Very Quickly Stopped Work Dropping Bombs

London, Aug. 28.—Geoffrey Young telegraphs the Daily News and Leader from Nauru under date of August 15th as follows:

German aviators have stopped dropping bombs. According to stories told by the soldiers, King Albert sent an emissary to the Germans to notify them that 100 prisoners would be shot for every bomb dropped in unprotected streets. Only girls and old men have hitherto suffered from these inhuman practices.

The second, third and fourth Belgian regiments have suffered most, the second lost a large proportion of its members. The proportion of officers killed was very large, especially among the Germans, owing to their massed formation and their distinct uniforms.

The Belgians' loss was heaviest during the early fighting on the Tiernood lines. Two regiments mistook each other for enemies and fired on one another. Both lost heavily. Under present conditions such mistakes must occur, as the advanced parties on either side are mixed up in a most extraordinary manner.

Bells Told In Memory Of Pope.

When Archbishop Spratt received official notification of the death of Pope Pius, he ordered the bells of the cathedral and of the Roman Catholic institutions throughout the city to be tolled during the noon hour on Thursday.

Steamer Rochester Pulled Off. The R. & O. Navigation company pulled off the steamer Rochester and ordered her to Ogdensburg to lay up.

Dr. Benson, of Napanee, was in the city on Thursday.
