

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

ALMOST EVERY SPORTING CLUB HAS MEN FOR FRONT.

The War is Hitting Sports Very Hard All Over Canada - Wanderer Hockey Club Will Cut Down Salary of Players This Winter.

Almost every Toronto sporting organization is sending its quota of men to the war. There will be many gaps to fill in the ranks of the football and hockey teams this fall and winter. Perhaps the football teams of the Argonauts, of the Interprovincial Union, will have the honor of sending more men, pro rata, to the service of their country than any of the other local clubs. The double blue will be minus the services of Bill Jarvis and Harry Symmons, quarter-backs, both of whom are officers in the government-general's Body Guards; Art Muir and Alex Sinclair, wing men, who will go with the 48th Highlanders; Alex McFarlane, who enlisted from the 51st Highlander at Hamilton, and Ross Binkley, who played back field positions and managed the team.

James Duffy, the Canadian winner of the Boston Marathon this year, and who later on created a sensation by turning professional and trying to get Fabre to turn pro. With him, has gone to the front.

Practically every member of the Wanderer Hockey club, Montreal, who figured as a regular on the team a year ago, has received a letter from president Lichtenhein advising him that there will be a reduction in salaries this winter. The letter points out the fact that last season was losing one for the club and that expenses must be reduced.

Including two foreign entrants and one of them from Canada, there are 112 names on the list of entries given out by the United States Golf association for its twentieth annual national amateur championship golf tournament, which will begin Monday and continue until Saturday.

Three of the members of the Ottawa Basketball team, champions of Eastern Canada, have enlisted and will go to the front. They are George Guy, Sam Cuff and Herb Hector. They were members last season of the Y.M.C.A. team, which got into difficulty through playing with and against disqualified amateurs on the American side of the line.

Joe Fox, the Brooklyn boxer, has sprung a new one on the boxing world. He gets his fighting inspiration from encouraging words spoken by his father and mother, who sit at the ringside at every bout in which he takes part.

The war has cost Tony Ross a bout with "Bombardier" Wells. A promoter of Hull, England, was willing to put up a $20,000 purse for the pair.

Young Saylor received the decision in a twenty-round bout with Joe Shugrue at Sydney, Australia, a short time ago.

The Dominion Messenger Pigeon association flew the third race of its young birds schedule on Saturday, Aug. 22nd, from Scotia Junction, an air line distance of 125 miles, the winner timing in 3:28.14.

Mordecai Brown, deposed manager of the St. Louis Federals, has quit baseball, according to information given out by an official of the St. Louis Federals. According to the story, Brown will return to his home in Terrehaute, Ind. Next winter he will go to California to look after his mining interests.

The Ontario championships produced some excellent tennis at Toronto. Miss Browne, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bickle won their games handsily, while Sherwell, Baird, Burns and Parton won in the men's open.

Much interest was taken in several sets played by Miss Mary Browne and Mrs. R. H. Williams, who are playing in excellent form, and this is probably the only tournament in Canada in which these young ladies will play this year.

Charlie Grier, the well-known golfer of the Royal Montreal Club, runner-up for the Montreal and District Amateur Golf Championship title, will take part in the American Amateur Golf Championship tourney. Mr. Grier is the only Canadian entered in the American tourney being paired off in the first round with R. S. Kempmann, of San Antonio, Texas, for the first day's play.

The official programme for the grand circuit trotting meeting to be held at Lexington, Ky., October 5, to 17 inclusive, under the auspices of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeder's association, was issued, and shows that thirty-eight races will be run, with a total of $85,000 in stakes. Probably the most attractive stake will be the 3-year-old division of the Kentucky trotting tur, which will be contested for on October 6.

Back River polo club, Montreal, will abandon sending a team to the San Francisco exposition owing to so many of its players going to the war.

Arraignment of the Clergy.

Rev. G. M. Royer, New York, in Evening Post. That christianity continues to exist in the outward seeming is most true. True, there are still hopes, patriarchs, bishops, missionaries and thousands of churches where the Bible is read and prayers are said the year round. But if these hopes, patriarchs, bishops, ministers, and churches all combined cannot enforce upon the nations of the christian world the first principles of the religion they profess, then it is perfectly evident that christianity has broken down—in practice at least—and the question presents itself to practical minds, why this waste of men and money upon a mere sentiment which has no practical value. The modern world boasts of its efficiency, of its practical, utilitarian ability, and yet it is sending millions in the support of the christian churches, christian ministers, christian missionaries, whose sole reason for existing is that they undertake to persuade men and nations to live in harmony with the essential principles of christianity, which are love to God and man. But the actual conduct and character of the christian nations of the world at this moment, as revealed by the state of things in Europe, strips the churches and their ministers of all spiritual significance. To put it in plain language, it seems that they are not doing what they profess to do and what they are paid for doing, and hence there is a vast waste of money and energy.

The Navy At Work.

London Chronicle. Though silence has fallen upon the North Sea, the navy is there at work. It is at work in many parts of the world also. Twenty-four of its cruisers are engaged in hunting five German cruisers in the Atlantic. German overseas commerce is for the time being at an end. Scores of vessels have been captured or detained, others have fled to port, and some have not dared to leave port. German imports are worth $550,000,000 a year, and her export about $450,000,000, and raw and half-manufactured materials for manufactures are imported to the extent of $200,000,000 yearly. All, or nearly all, this vast commerce is arrested, and the industrial heart of the country is ceasing to beat. Already there are riots in Berlin, and the tide of anger will rise. In the meantime the navy is keeping open our own routes of trade, and shipping is in progress between Bergen, in Norway, and Esbjerg in Denmark, and our western ports. The blockade of the German coast is effective, and in war our commerce is almost as free as in peace.

Bonus To Flag Bearer.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—C. F. Herbert of Winnipeg, in presenting the flag to the 106th regiment of this city, made an offer of $500 to the man who brought it back after it had gone through active service.

A SPORTS COAT.

trimmed with a vest of plain cloth bound with silk braid.

Here is a design that is sure to win immediate favor because of its distinctive lines. It is best developed in the brilliant French and Scotch plaids, which come about 64 inches wide and cost from $2.50 to $4 a yard. For a woman of average size 3 1/2 yards of material are required to make the design, but if the vest is made of plain material 3 yards will be sufficient.

The entire garment is cut from a fold of the goods, the back alone being arranged on the lengthwise fold. The underfacing, the front and collar which are cut in one, the lower sleeve section, pocket lap and yoke and upper sleeve section are cut on a lengthwise thread of the material.

First find the "oo" perforation indicating the seams of front and collar section, which are in one; then close center-back seams.

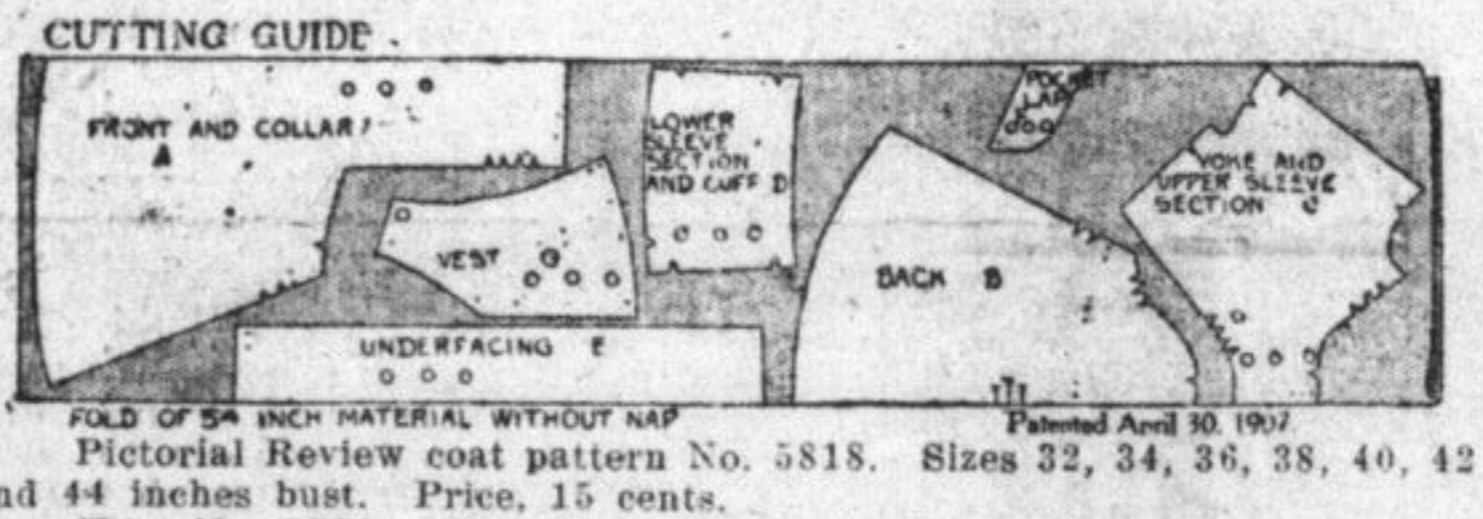

Adjust underfacing to position underneath front and roll back on small "o" perforations. Upper front edge of pocket lap indicated by small "o" perforation. Adjust to position, upper edge along crossline of small "o" perforations.

Close back seam of yoke indicated by triple "ooo" perforation. Join sleeve sections as notched; sew yoke and sleeve section (in one piece) to front and back as notched. Close underfacing lower part of lower sleeve section from lower edge to 1/2 inch above crossline of small "o" perforations; roll back on small "o" perforations to form cuff.

Take up dart in vest as perforated. Center-front indicated by small "o" perforations. Adjust an elastic length and width of stay to position, bringing double "oo" perforation at lower edge to corresponding perforation in vest. Adjust to position underfacing coat, being careful to bring small "o" perforations at shoulder edge to corresponding perforations in front and yoke and stitch shoulder edge to position.

The vest is sometimes outlined with braid and trimmed with fancy buttons. One-half yard of 3/8-inch material makes the vest.

England is Optimistic Over the Prospect.

London, Aug. 27.—Canada's war loan is discussed by the Globe's financial editor, who thinks the bulk of it will probably be issued in the United States through a number of Canadian banks will doubtless take up a portion of the issue, in view of the security of liquid funds in Canada. However, it is not expected here that Canadians' subscriptions will absorb more than a small proportion of the loan.

An optimistic feeling prevails here among those interested in the financial result of the grain crop in the west, especially as the safety of the Atlantic, which is now assured, has induced tramp steamers to enter the trade again on this route. It is anticipated the crop will now be shipped quickly until the close of the St. Lawrence.

A STIRRING EPISODE

Fred Himself to Only Train With His Suspenders

Montreal, Aug. 27.—More stories of thrilling experience, in the war zone, were told by refugees who arrived here on the Allan Liner Gramscian and the Donaldson Liner Atterton, both from Glasgow.

Mrs. P. C. Bergerson, Chicago, who was in the line with the war work, got as far as Liege before being held up. Notwithstanding that she had plenty of paper money she could buy nothing for three days. Mrs. Bergerson stood up in a train all one night and an airship was travelling above them most of the time. Finally she reached London.

Rev. Father Finn, Chicago, said the only Germans that he saw who wanted war were from 18 to 20. The better class of people knew what it would mean to Germany and its trade.

Father Finn was in Dresden at the outbreak of hostilities and landed ultimately in London with only a shilling in his pocket, upon which he existed for three days.

Miss Peregrine, Galt, Ontario, a school teacher, tells of how the military in the Orkney Islands, where she was staying when war was declared, disappeared in a single night, nobody knew exactly when or where.

Dr. Willoughby, of Catasapula, Pa., was caught in Paris by the war. The congestion there was terrific. He tried to get away on an early train, but failed to do so. He caught a later one, and the train was so great that he could not get into a car. He stood on the footboard, and for fear he might fall off he tied himself fast with his suspenders. A stranger near him used a steamer rug for the same purpose. In the night the water quit at five minutes' notice to go to the fight. They left their customers sitting at the table, and never came back with any orders they had taken.

"I lost a good dinner there," said Dr. Willoughby.

SEES KAISER ON KNEES

Diplomat Predicts He Will Soon See "for Peace"

London, Aug. 27.—A prominent diplomatist of the highest official standing in a neutral government, who happens to be in Europe observing the developments, predicts that the Kaiser will make the first overture for peace in two months. He said:

It is clearly evident that the Russian advance will make Germany's position untenable in the long run. It is equally evident that the Kaiser cannot afford to permit the fatherland to be crushed in the final stage of the struggle, as final defeat, even after early military achievements, would mean the probable loss of his imperial crown and serious internal trouble in Germany.

Diplomatists who at first took the view that this would be a fight to the finish are now taking the view that the Kaiser will endeavor to end the struggle with a grand flourish of German trumpets, even though Germany gets no fruit of victory.

COMPANY STATES POSITION.

Hope To Keep the Married Men Employed.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—In an open letter to the press, Massey-Harris Co. state: "It is obviously impossible for the company to operate its works on the basis of ordinary conditions. Naturally we will desire to run to the full limit of the trade available. Having in view the best interests of our employees, we have planned that such manufacturing as is possible under the changed conditions will be carried on during the winter months.

"We earnestly hope to have sufficient work, beginning in the late autumn and continuing during the winter months, to employ at least those of our staff who have families to support."

Germany's Open Door

London Chronicle. It would be a mistake to suppose that Germany's food supplies have been cut off by the Holland blockade at war with Germany, and it may be taken for granted that Germany will take the utmost pains to prevent Holland being drawn in to the conflict. Even in normal times a very large proportion of Germany's imports enter by way of the Dutch ports. At this moment the trade that usually enters through Hamburg might easily be transferred in part to Rotterdam, which is a far more direct avenue to industrial and populated Germany than the famous German port. There is nothing to stop American, Canadian and Argentine grain being consigned in vast quantities to its ports at Rotterdam so long as it is carried in other than German ships and these Dutch importers cannot be prevented from transshipping this grain at once into the barge and sending it up the Rhine. It is a matter almost of life and death to Germany that this open gateway for food and trade should not be closed, and it is this solicitude that explains to a large extent why the Germans have been careful not to violate Dutch territory. An advance of the allied forces, however, as far as Cologne and the Rhine valley would close this avenue almost altogether. In the last resort Germany might hope for an import of food through Italy and Austria, or from Rumania, but this route is exceedingly dubious, and in time of war might not be open for the purpose.

No Money Orders.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—"Not until rates of exchange are on a more permanent basis will the money order traffic between Canada and Britain be resumed by the post office department," said the deputy postmaster-general. "I can only say that with the present rate of exchange, we should lose money if we started the money order business at this time."

CABINET CHANGE.

Hon. Dr. Roche's Ill-health Renders His Retirement Probable.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The continued ill-health of Hon. Dr. Roche is giving rise to the belief that a change in the administration of the department of the interior is not far off. Dr. Roche recently underwent a severe operation and will, it is understood, undergo another less serious one before his return to Ottawa. It is thought that under these conditions he is not likely to resume the permanent administration of so heavy a department as that of the interior.

A Whalebone King.

Springfield Republican. Practically every pound of that indispensable article, whalebone, is stored away in a small three-story building in New Bedford. There are only 10,000 pounds of it, yet this precious store represents the whalebone supply of the entire world.

This cornering of the whalebone product is the enterprise of Edgar R. Lewis, a New Bedford young man who knows the whaling business from beginning to end, and has whalebone phase of that business intricately and carefully planned through agents in Paris and other sources, he secures control of every pound that is taken. All of the whalebone from the Arctic, the northwest, and the small quantity supplied from the Pacific coast of South America and the catch of the Dundee whalers he gets. He is the one man with whom all the buyers of America and Europe have to deal.
