

BACK IN OLD CHARGE

REV. DR. SALEM BLAND AT QUEEN STREET CHURCH.

Sunday was observed as Missionary Day—Speaker Recalled Old Days in Kingston—Dealt With "The Church of To-morrow."

Sunday was missionary anniversary at Queen Street Methodist church, and the congregation had as special preacher of the day, an old pastor, Rev. Dr. Salem G. Bland, of Winnipeg who delivered two strong and forceful sermons. Both morning and evening the congregation was very large. Rev. G. I. Campbell, the pastor, drew the attention of the people to the importance of giving to missions, and asked for a liberal response. Rev. Dr. Jordan assisted in the evening services.

Dr. Bland expressed his pleasure of being back in his old charge, to see old familiar faces, and to renew friendships. Outside the place of his birth, Kingston held the warmest spot in his heart, for it was in Kingston he played as a boy studied at one of the schools, and he rejoiced that some of his boyhood friendships were still not broken. He recalled the services in Wesley Hall, with its memorably singing, the old church destroyed by fire and the present edifice, Kingston had always been kind to him and no person had ever done as much for him as old Queen Street church.

"The Church of To-morrow" was Dr. Bland's subject at the evening service, and in short, his declaration was that the church of to-morrow would be a church with a short creed and a long programme—a church that moves forward as an organization of God. He dealt with characteristics of the church of to-morrow, all of which would be better. In the first place the church must have theology and a creed, and the shorter the creed the better. All that was necessary was to ask the questions, "Do you believe in Jesus Christ?" "Do men love the name of Jesus?" "What was the attitude of the people? Would they be willing to stand alone against the world?" A long creed and a short programme was responsible for no prayers being made.

"Europe is now engaged in a terrible struggle," said Mr. Bland, "the outcome of which no man can foresee. And what is the Christian church doing? There never was a time in our history when we showed such worthlessness. The time has come when the church must take a stand. The world has been waiting for a mediator for the spirit of Jesus and divine leadership.

The speaker said the church of today is sinking to the lowest ebb ever known in history. This was the decisive hour. The church should realize its responsibility and grapple with everything that is wrong, the church of to-morrow would be a united church. The church should realize that it had a national task, and that it was only through the united church that the problem could be met.

The morning sermon of Rev. Dr. Bland was a vivid sketch of the growth of christianity. It was a most instructive review of the developments of the past. He dwelt on the outlook for the future, and expressed his conviction that the christianity of China, Japan, Africa and India will be of a more intense and devoted type than either that of the old world or the new. The sermon was in Dr. Bland's most graphic style and will be long remembered by those who heard him.

Mrs. (Dr.) Coleman is building up a splendid choir, upwards of thirty voices were in it on Sunday. The anthems were given in splendid time. The soloists of the day were, Miss May Hinckley, Mrs. J. Evans, Harvey Angrove and Judge Lavelle. The Judge's solo, in the morning was very expressive and delightfully rendered.

William J. Bushell, 374 King street, is at home after a successful season of the passenger steamer Rapids Prince, of the Canadian Steamships line.

Rev. W. Craig, Kingston, preached on the Morven circuit on Sunday. Dr. Holcroft, of Havelock, was in the city on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Anglin, Kingston, with her little son, is spending a few weeks with her father, M. M. Albright, Renfrew.

Miss Sara and Miss Ethel Gillespie, Albert street, have returned from Syracuse, N.Y., after spending a week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie.

John H. Seels, agent for the Dominion Express company, has received a letter from the company's head office asking the employees to give one day's pay to the patriotic fund. The request will be acceded to.

Miss Daisy Appleby, Pembroke, is to enter one of the Kingston hospitals as a nurse-in-training.

THE SPORT REVIEW

COOKE'S AND ST. PAUL'S ARE TO REPLAY GAME.

The S. S. A. A. Yields to the Objections Raised by Cooke's—Kingston Rifle Association Scores on Saturday.

The executive of the S.S.A.A.A. Saturday evening reconsidered the St. Paul's-Cooke's junior baseball situation, and decided that the final game should be replayed at the cricket field on Saturday afternoon, September 26th at 3.30 o'clock, the winner getting the championship.

At a recent meeting of the executive, St. Paul's were declared champions on the ground that Cooke's played two men contrary to the constitution of the association. When the matter was gone into more thoroughly on Saturday evening, it was found that St. Paul's should have entered a protest, and as it did not, it could not claim the championship, although it had been awarded it.

D. A. Shaw, superintendent of the Cooke's school represented the team at the meeting. He stated that Cooke's were not eligible to play and the president will look into the matter before the game is pulled off.

Athletics Vs. Queens. It is expected that a baseball match will be played next Saturday afternoon between the Athletic baseball aggregation and a picked team from Queen's university. It is likely that this game will be played at the cricket field.

Kingston Rifle Association. There was another good attendance of the members of the above association at the rifle ranges on Saturday. The scores were made: W. Sawyer, 87; W. A. Milton, 96; J. H. Barrett, 93; J. C. M. Howdle, 92; Dr. W. Barrett, 91; D. T. McManus, 90; J. J. Barrett, 90; R. A. Baillie, 90; F. J. Coldham, 90; W. Knight, 90; F. Russell, 87; W. M. Baillie, 87; Rev. J. Elliott, 80; C. H. Elliott, 86; H. C. Clarke, 84; Rev. A. Cooke, 84; W. Millard, 84; S. C. Coburn, 84; W. A. Baker, 82; H. Beach, 78; J. Farrar, 78; Major Barrett, 78; Major Leatherland, 77; H. Dowler, 67; W. Rutan, 66.

Several other members for whom scores were not collected made good showings, and it was felt that for their first time. One said: "This is the first time I have had a rifle in my hand for forty years."

Olden Is Loyal. According to a statement received at this office, from present indications it would appear that every man, woman and child in the township of Olden will subscribe to the patriotic war fund.

When the Salada Tea company started in business their cheapest tea was sold at 35c per pound, but the market advanced and they had to raise their price to 40c per pound. A year passed, the market declined and the price was reduced to 30c a pound. The market still kept declining and the price of brown label went down to 25c a pound. After two years the market advanced considerably, and Salada brown label was advanced to 30c per pound. The ever increasing price of tea and the extraordinary charges the war has entailed, has compelled the company to advance their brown label to 35c a pound, blue label to 45c a pound and red label to 55c a pound. In all the period, alluded to above, twenty-two years, the quality has never deviated—it is always of the highest standard possible.

Miss Sara and Miss Ethel Gillespie, Albert street, have returned from Syracuse, N.Y., after spending a week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Gillespie.

John H. Seels, agent for the Dominion Express company, has received a letter from the company's head office asking the employees to give one day's pay to the patriotic fund. The request will be acceded to.

Miss Daisy Appleby, Pembroke, is to enter one of the Kingston hospitals as a nurse-in-training.

BISHOP OF KINGSTON

MAKES AN APPEAL FOR THE PATRIOTIC FUND.

In a Sermon in St. George's Cathedral—Text Was, "Greater Love Hath No Man Than This."

In St. George's cathedral, on Sunday morning, the bishop of Kingston made a stirring appeal in behalf of the patriotic fund, during a sermon based on St. John xvi, 13: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." In part his lordship said: "At the present time we are seeing ideals of this nature being tested on a large scale. It is no longer enough to applaud them in a conventional way from the stock academic subject to the platform or debate, they have become the living, burning questions of the day. We are now being forced to ask ourselves what patriotic really means, and we are compelled to see that a nation stands or falls by the answer it gives. However great our prosperity, our wealth, and our resources may be, we understand clearly enough now that they are of little or no value, unless there is in control of them a people who are prepared in case of need to make whatever sacrifice their cause and country demand, even the supreme sacrifice. It is true that there is a spirit of cynical selfishness abroad in some quarters which affects to despise patriotism as mere sentiment and looks upon one who is prepared to sacrifice himself for the sake of his country as little better than a fool. But thank God such opinions are not proclaimed themselves in the open, and we may trust to the honor of our people and our country that they will never prevail. As a matter of fact, the response to the appeal of patriotism has been made with no uncertain voice, and before very long there will go forth from these shores that noble company of men who are prepared to show their love by the gift, if need be, of their lives. May God bless, keep and preserve them is the heartfelt prayer of us all.

But there is given to us also an opportunity to take part in the work. It is our privilege who are unable to offer ourselves to assist with all our power those who depend for their livelihood on the men who are going to the front in the one thing that they would ask of us, and it is the very least return that we can make. Nor shall we attempt to discriminate too closely between those who are going as professional soldiers, who live their lives in the light of the battles of their country if called upon, and those who are specially offering themselves at this particular crisis. The rewards the former receive cannot be commensurate with the risk they run, for you cannot reckon a man's life in terms of money. And if they need and deserve our help, how much more those who, through patriotic motives, are giving up good positions and prospects, are tearing themselves from their loved ones, and sacrificing everything that men as a rule hold most dear, in order to obey the call of their country, knowing full well the risk they run? They only ask us in return to care for those they love, and this we shall surely do. They will not ask in vain. My brethren, as I speak to you here this morning, there are many who are proving the truth of the words of my text, as many more have done in the few weeks since this unhappy war broke out. And there are still many more who are prepared to make the same supreme sacrifice. They depend upon us as their friends. Please God, their confidence will not be misplaced. We will take care of those they leave behind, and so share in their patriotic response to the call of duty. We will do so, because we fully accept as true our Lord's pronouncement, and thank God that it is being proved true by our own kith and kin—"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Queen's Rugby Club. The members of Queen's senior rugby team are returning to the city and will be out to practice as soon as Prof. Lindsay Malcolm, honorary coach, returns to the city. Hill, Pilgrim and Quigley "blew" in to the city on Friday and are anxiously waiting for the team to get down to practice. The captain, McLeod, who will captain the team, is on a mission field back of Napanee, but will be in the city as soon as the players are ready to get down to business. It is expected that Lyon and "Jimmie" Stewart two members of the Kingston Collegiate Institute team, will be candidates for Queen's team this fall. The caretakers employed at Queen's university are putting the athletic grounds into condition.

Convicts Would Fight. The clemency branch of the department of justice is overwhelmed with applications from convicts who want to get out with the object, ostensibly, at least, of volunteering for service.

They have no disposition to open wide the prison gates for any such purpose, and the good faith of many of such application to question, but it is understood that a number have been released on parole.

Still Confined To Bed. M. S. McFarlane, who was injured at Findlay Station, about a week ago, is still confined to his room. He was shaken up badly and will not be out for some time. In discussing how the accident happened he said that going from the light car to the outside it was very dark. The conductor came up to him and said: "This is Findlay," and went with him to the platform and saw him step off. The train was running so smoothly he did not realize it was moving. He stepped off about half a mile west of the station.

At Valcartier the 10th Royal Grenadiers, of Toronto, defeated the 5th Engineers, of Kingston, at baseball, 22 to 6.

New Skin Peeler

In Great Demand

Since the discovery that mercurozinc possesses repellent properties when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renovator has been tremendous. Druggists in every section report sales as far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves. Ordinary mercurozinc wax, according to Prof. F. H. Mann, "gently peels off the dead surface of the skin, and the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, tan and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing it in original packages and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied to face, neck or hands the same as cold cream, allowed to remain over night, then washed off with warm water.—National Drug Review.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. Guy Bros. Minstrels Were the Saturday Attraction.

Guy Bros. minstrel performance at the Grand Opera house on Saturday evening was well attended. Their singing and dancing was excellent, while their end men with new jokes, recitations and songs, was well received. Their closing comedy, "A Day Along the Congo," was amusing. The scenic effects were pretty.

"Sixty Years a Queen." If anyone entertains the idea that time is withering national affection for the memory of Queen Victoria, the idea will be dispelled by a visit to the pictorial history of her life and reign at the Grand Opera house for three days commencing Monday, Sept. 21st, matinee daily and evening at 8.15, this and next week. The pictures may at once be described as a vindication of the efficacy of the moving picture as an agency for earnest instruction as well as entertainment.

Robson in "Martha-By-The-Day." May Robson, the foremost character actress of our stage, and one whose presence in any play is a perfect guarantee of a laughing treat, comes to the Grand in a new comedy, and surrounded by an entirely new company, on Thursday night, Sept. 24. Miss Robson's new vehicle is a dramatization of Julie M. Lippman's very popular book, "Martha-By-The-Day," which in play form retains its book title. Her story was one of the most refreshing bits of recent fiction. Miss Robson has engaged a splendid supporting company for its star. The cast includes Julie Harne, Lois Frances Clark, Anita Clarendon, Violet Howard, Jane Heron, Coates Gwynne, Mary Marsch and Edwin Brandt. The settings for the three acts are particularly elaborate.

Crippled With Rheumatism. And Skeptical After Trying Many Medicines—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Cured Him.

When the kidneys fail to purify the blood the poisons left in the system cause pain and suffering, such as backache, lumbago, and rheumatism. Read how this skeptic was cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. F. W. Brown, Kingsbury, Que. writes:—"I have been completely cured of backache and lame back by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I also recommended the pills to a man who was a cripple from rheumatism. He was skeptical, as he said that he had tried nearly everything on earth. Finally he consented to try them, and to his surprise was greatly benefited. In the first week, and the pains left his legs until he was so supple he could walk without pain or difficulty. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have worked wonders in this case, and we think there is no medicine like them."
