PRISONER IN THE FORT THE ROBINSON CASE

HAS MADE A FINE MODEL OF AN AIRSHIP

Out of Pieces of Wood and Wire He Picked up—A Russian, Mistaken For a German, Awaiting Parole.

It is evident that some of the prisoners of war confined to Fort Henry have had some experience in the manufacture of air ships. One German, who is very handy with a pen knife, has amused himself for some days in cutting out a model of an airship out of pieces of wood which he picked up. A few pieces of wire were used to put the machine together. Pieces of cotton form the wings on the ship.

The maker takes great pride in his work, and has the model hanging from the ceiling in the room where he is confined.

It is stated that there are other men in the fort who have had considerable experience in the work but are not nearly as handy as this man.

The Russian referred to in the Whig on Tuesday evening, as "asking for his parole, is anxiously waiting for the news to arrive from Ottawa. As soon as this man is released he will accept a position with Susman & Cohen, of this city. The man stated he was born in Russia, but had been in Germany during his education. He left Germany two days before war was declared. When he arrived at Montreal he was placed under arrest and sent to Fort Henry.

Operated On German Prisoner.

One of the German prisoners of war now confined to Fort Henry is a patient at the military hospital, Queen street, suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis. He took ill during the night and was immediately rushed to the hospital, where it was found necessary to perform an operation.

RESCUED THEMSELVES,

But a Cry Was Raised That They Were Drowning.

About four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon a motorboat and two citizens caused a great amount of excitement near the waterworks wharf. John Sargent, Dufferin street, and Frank Purcell, Charles street, both machinists in the locomotive works, were out for a little run on the harbor. When passing the waterworks wharf, Mr. Purcell accidentally fell out of the boat and Mr. Sargent immediately jumped in to rescue him. Both are excellent swimmers, and would have been able to rescue themselves, but some one set up a cry that a man was being drowned, and every one that heard that cry rushed to the water front. Several skiffs and two motorboats were upon the scene, but before they had reached them, the men were safely on shore and the only thing needed to do was to tow in the launch. This was done and in a few minutes the men were able to get off in their boat none the worse for their dip.

WANTED TO DO BETTER

And Consented to Going on the "Prohibited List."

"I want to turn over a new leaf, your worship," said Napoleon Newell in the police court on Wednesday morning. His fondness for liquor has led him into trouble many times, but he was quite earnest in his appeal to the court. He said he wanted to do better, and asked for suspended sentence.

"There is only one way to do better," said the magistrate to Newell. "Do you want to do better?"

"Yes," replied the accused; "I want to do better."

Magistrate Farrell then called Inspector C. W. Wright to the court room and told him that Newell wanted to go on the list.

"Yes, I will do anything," said Newell.

His case was remanded for a day, and if he is then on the list he will be given his liberty.

GAVE HIMSELF UP TO POLICE

When He Heard He Had Been Accused.

Having heard that he had been accused in evidence given at the police court of securing liquor for a member of the "prohibited list," a young Kingstonian gave himself up to the police, on Tuesday afternoon, and declared that he was ready to fight the case.

He will be given a chance to defend himself on Friday when the case comes up. He was not held by the police, but summoned to appear.

NOT GIVEN TO GRAND JURY UNTIL WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Justice Kelly Decided There Must be More Evidence Submitted to the Grand Jury Than There Was on Hand.

Napanee, Sept. 23.—A significant feature of the opening of the assizes was the fact that, following the empanelling of the grand jury, with ex-Warden R. A. Fowler, of Amherst Island, as foreman, no reference, direct or indirect, was made respecting the charge against Dr. C. K. Robinson, whose non-appearance was likewise disappointing to the crowd.

Shortly after Justice Kelly reached the court house James A. Hutchinson, K.C., of Brackville, crown prosecutor, held a conference with Acting Crown Attorney W. G. Wilson, respecting certain phases of the crown's case, which gave rise to several objections on the part of Mr. Wilson, and subsequently Mr. Hutchinson consulted Justice Kelly, who decided that, in his opinion, additional evidence should be produced before he would permit the case of Dr. Robinson being placed before the grand jury.

His lordship agreed that in view of the position assumed by the crown prosecutor subpoenas should also be issued for the appearance before the grand jury of Daniel McGregor, the fiancé of the late Miss Blanche York, and Dr. W. P. Connell, of Kingston, who, with Dr. Wilson, made the autopsy.

The crowd had figured that the evidence of these two witnesses would not be necessary before the grand jury, preferring to rest its case upon the testimony of seven witnesses from Tamworth. Those subpoenaed were: Agnes Walsh, J. Frank York, J. S. Taylor, Dr. H. W. Wilson, Mrs. M. J. Thompson, J. F. Van Koughnet and Provincial Inspector William Greer.

In compliance with the decision of Justice Kelly, the case was given to the grand jury this morning.

W. S. Herrington, Napanee, was present with instructions from T. C. Robinson, K.C., of Toronto, counsel for accused, to make application for an enlargement of the trial until the fall assizes. Mr. Herrington stated that the defence was not ready to go on, owing to the fact that it desired to fathom certain evidence which will be adduced when the accused physician faces trial.

It has been stated that the defence will endeavor to show that Dr. Robinson had nothing to do with the severing of the limbs from the body of Miss York, and that he was not aware of the presence in the collar of the body. It is pointed out that the defence will show that when Inspector Miller searched the house he was shown everything, and his evidence will be used to prove that there was no sign of any bones in the cellar or body being hidden there. The defence also claims that the way in which the limbs were severed shows conclusively that the operation was not the work of a practical surgeon.

Among the spectators were Mrs. Robinson, wife of the accused physician, and several members of the York family.

Hearing Evidence.

Napanee, Sept. 23.—Following a brief address by Justice Kelly with regard to the powers of the grand jury in criminal cases this morning, in the hearing of the case of death of Blanche York, three witnesses were examined by the tribunal before the noon adjournment. Those called were Miss Agnes Walsh, J.

S. Taylor and J. F. York, all of whom reiterated their testimony adduced at the preliminary investigation. Provincial Inspector Greer was also called and produced rings which were used to establish identification of the deceased girl's body.

May Come Up Again.

There is a possibility of another attempt being made to secure for Queen's university the Leonard bequest, as it is understood the donation is still open. Other colleges are casting envious eyes at the offer. There are many who believe the bequest should be accepted as the present war has clearly demonstrated the need for trained army officers. This work of equipping and developing officers could be very satisfactorily done at the university, and while young men are full of enthusiasm and vigor.
