

THE KAISER NO HERO

WILHELM TAKES NO CHANCES IN THE DANGER ZONE.

While in Neighborhood of Front is Well Prepared for Hasty Retreat—He Goes Around Making Bombastic Speeches to Troops.

Amsterdam, Oct. 5.—A typical day with the kaiser is thus described by an eye-witness: "Hid yourself first of all of the idea that the emperor is a heroic figure. He is a man, not exactly of small stature, but distinctly below the average height and rather fat. Moreover, his left arm is several inches shorter than his right and is slightly paralyzed. The deformity strikes the eye unpleasantly, although one cannot withhold a certain admiration for the energy which enabled the kaiser to become a good shot and a passable rider, in spite of this treacherous handicap.

On this particular occasion the kaiser had been sleeping in a French chateau, but not without elaborate precautions, against a surprise attack. The extraordinary measures taken to guard the kaiser might be attributed, not so much to personal fear as to his profound conviction that his safety is essential to the fatherland. It must be remembered that his mental make-up is a quaint mixture of intelligence, capacity for quick absorption of superficial facts, religious fanaticism and magalism.

The French chateau was fortified against aerial attacks. Sacks were piled on the roof, and a protective shell of metal net work was erected wherever the kaiser moves his headquarters. A small army of military engineers precedes him to carry out these defensive measures before his arrival. Of course, they are withdrawn from the firing line as the kaiser genuinely believes that his person is of more value to the cause of Germany than a complete army corps.

Surrounded by Soldiers. "Around the chateau were men of a special bodyguard, a detachment outside his bedroom, another in the hall, another at the front door and two more detachments in the room immediately above and beneath his own. These unbroken lines of sentries surround the house, and a whole battalion of infantry and several squadrons of cavalry were encamped in the park. This was some twenty miles from the front, and the chateau was connected by field telegraph with the headquarters of

ARE MAKING PROTESTS

THE CONSERVATIVE PRESS IS DECIDEDLY OUTSPOKEN.

Cochrane is Accused of Being Behind the Appointment of Hearst, Who is Called Peculiar Names—The Disappearance of Sir Adam Beck.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—Most inauspicious in many respects is the opening of the Hearst regime. The chief difficulty comes from adverse criticism in the ranks of the conservatives themselves. Some of the government papers look upon the new era not as a Hearst administration so much as a Cochrane-Hearst regime. It seems to be an admitted fact that the appointment of a successor to Sir James Whitney instead of being made democratically by a caucus of the conservative members of the legislature, was arranged from Ottawa. Even the Toronto News, conservative, excuses this on the ground that Sir James Whitney himself always regarded the conservative party in Ontario "part of a national organization. This is not fair to Sir James Whitney, whose devoted reputation for independence and his line of defense made necessary by the embarrassing position in which the government is now put. The World and the Telegram, both conservative, are outspoken in their protests against the interference from Ottawa. The former refers to Cochrane's nominee, (now prime minister, as a "putty" man and the latter exclaimed: "Surely the members of the Ontario legislature are not enough to resent meddling from Ottawa."

Of interest, equal to the appointment of prime minister is the appearance of Sir Adam Beck from the cabinet. Gloss is over as the government is undoubtedly trying to do it is easy to see that public opinion throughout the province is suspicious. Cochrane has always been regarded as a "corporation" politician. Indeed, the Telegram says openly that at Ottawa, "He has been more of a hindrance than a help to the Hydro-electric policy."

It is this man's nominee, (this man's "Friday," who is now prime minister. Does this not go a long way to explain Beck's absence from the new government? Sir Adam today is only a private member. His influence is that much reduced and his curtailment of his power is unpopular with the people.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, formerly the chief man in the limelight and the acknowledged successor to Sir James Whitney when the latter would retire is strangely out of the maelstrom these days. The "road-fund" and "Snider" investigations have made a big change for the provincial secretary, a change which must to him be most unwelcome.

THE BI-LINGUAL CRY.

Its Hollowness Exposed by the Action of Cochrane.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—That Hon. Mr. Cochrane was expressly invited to assist in organizing for the provincial election, last June, is the interesting revelation contained in an editorial of the Toronto News, conservative. The man who wrote it could scarcely have realized that he was exposing the hollowness of the bi-lingual cry raised by the government at that time.

Towards the end of the contest, plainly in accordance with a pre-arranged plan, the bi-lingual issue was made prominent, and it was claimed that the English language in Ontario was in danger at the hands of the liberal party and its alleged connection with the French propaganda. The charge was groundless in any event, the real facts are now becoming apparent.

The conservative campaign was deliberately put under the direction of the man who, in the federal election of 1911, brought Bourassa into Ontario. Moreover, it was Hon. Frank Cochrane who, while at a congress of the Ontario government, made the following statement as quoted in a pamphlet issued by the French-Canadian Educational Association: "At the civic reception tendered the French-Canadian congress at Ottawa, January 19th, 1910, he said: 'I have done much towards opening the first bi-lingual training school in New Ontario and I wish to say to the French-Canadians that they can rely on me.'"

At a banquet given the French-Canadian congress at Ottawa on January 20th, 1910: "The French-Canadians can reckon upon my sympathy and support as well as upon the spirit of justice of the government which I have the honor to represent. It is this same Mr. Cochrane who, not only conducted the campaign in the cabinet. Gloss is over as the government is undoubtedly trying to do it is easy to see that public opinion throughout the province is suspicious. Cochrane has always been regarded as a "corporation" politician. Indeed, the Telegram says openly that at Ottawa, "He has been more of a hindrance than a help to the Hydro-electric policy."

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE FALL FAIRS HELD IN THE KINGSTON DISTRICT.

Weather Man Smiled on the Exhibitions This Year—Keen Rivalry in Exhibits Tends to Raise Standard Throughout County.

The weather man certainly smiled on the fall fairs this year. The majority, if not all, of the fairs in the Kingston district are over for another year, and taken altogether, the weather was the best experienced in some years. The best of weather prevailed for "Kingston's Only Fair," and although it has now passed into history people are still talking about it and congratulating Robert J. Bushell, the energetic secretary, who worked like a Trojan to make it a success and who is certainly deserving of every praise for his work. On all sides one hears warm words of praise for the fair and Robert J. Bushell. This year the number of visitors from outside the city was far in advance of other years and this all brought great credit to Kingston's mill, for it brought money to the merchants and also to the hotels and restaurants, as there were many extra-diners to be provided.

Next year a still larger crowd is looked for, and it will not be long before the fair directors will have to secure more accommodation. This year there was keen interest in the exhibits. The healthy rivalry at all the fall fairs is helping a great deal to make the quality of the exhibits much better. One of the most interesting features at a country fair is the exhibits of fancy work and cooking by the farmers. They take great delight and pride in winning a prize for their cooking and fancy work. There is a much larger display at a country fair as there is at some of the larger exhibitions, and it must be stated that there is quality as well as quantity.

ACTIVITY IN PAPER BOX BUSINESS INDICATES INCREASED ACTIVITY IN OTHER INDUSTRIES

The paper box business is a good barometer of business conditions generally because it quickly feels any marked increase or falling off in the shipping orders of the many articles that are packed in paper boxes. It is, therefore, most encouraging to learn that the paper box manufacturers throughout the country are experiencing increased activity since the war began.

The Rudd Paper Box Company, for example, has increased its staff about 20 per cent, since the breaking out of hostilities, and in addition the employees in some departments are working overtime several nights a week. This company reports that the orders from manufacturers since the war began show a decided increase over the run during the previous six months. One customer, a manufacturer of a food product, has more than doubled his standing order of 200,000 boxes a month. Another customer has ordered 65,000 cansisters as a three months' supply instead of his regular 7,500 cansisters a month. Still another customer has placed an initial order of 50,000 boxes for a Made-in-Canada article that is to replace a similar article that was imported from Germany before the war began.

The significant and encouraging fact in connection with the increased activities in the plants of the Rudd Paper Box Company Limited, and other paper box manufacturers is not so much the increased activity in those plants in itself, as the great increase in the packing and shipping of orders by manufacturers generally that is indicated by the increased demand for paper boxes.

A Burial Coincidence. Phillipsville, Oct. 5.—The remains of the late Robert Godkin were borne to his last resting place at Oak Leaf on Friday, Oct. 2nd. Mr. Godkin had been in poor health for some time. He was in his seventy-seventh year. Surviving are a widow, two sons, John and Manfred at home, and one daughter, Mrs. Willoughby at Seely's Bay. Six or seven years ago the remains of the late John Earl were taken from the home of Robert Godkin to the English chape at Delta, thence to the Oak Leaf cemetery at Lansdowne. Last Friday the late Mr. Godkin's body was taken from the same house to the same church, thence to the cemetery at Oak Leaf by the same path borne with the exception of one, and all had their dinners at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Godkin on each occasion.

News From Newburgh. Newburgh, Oct. 3.—Eld many friends of M. Ryan are very glad to see him home again, after an absence of six months. Joseph Ramsey has a new auto. Rev. J. H. Hunt has sold his property here to Clarence Wilson, of Winnipeg, and has gone to live with his son, Stanley, of Welshwood, Miss. Strange, the post office inspector, visited the office here recently, and as usual, found everything in first class shape. Miss M. E. Fitzmarty spent Sunday at S. Fitzmarty's. Miss Edith Husband, Miss Bird Madden, Frank Ryan and Percy Patterson have returned to Kingston to resume their studies at Queen's University. Several from here attended the patriotic meeting in Napawa on Tuesday, the speaker being Sir Allan Aylesworth. Alexander Moore was successful in passing the normal entrance held here in the summer. Three varieties of dogs never bark, the Australian, the Egyptian shepherd dog, and the lion-headed dog of Tibet. All the other varieties live in the west end of Kingston. R. D. Leonard and wife, of Michigan visited in the city on Tuesday.

TEA OR COFFEE HURT YOU?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good tea or coffee never hurt anyone." You know better than that, for you can put out all around you folks who are the worse for their slugging. Think over a few tea or coffee drinking friends and casually enquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how tea or coffee treats them. If it hurts others isn't it just possible? Catch the drift, don't you?

It's a Poor Bargain

to swap health and a clear, business-like head for a few cups of tea or coffee each day. Every tea or coffee toper tries to wiggle round and charge his aches and ills to weather, overwork, too much or too little food, this, that or the other thing, but how he hates to admit that the real enemy is his Master, tea or coffee.

A Sure Personal Test

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be tea or coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before organic heart trouble or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured.

The test is pleasant, accurate and satisfying—

Quit both tea and coffee absolutely for ten days and in their place use POSTUM.

Postum now comes in two forms. Regular Postum must be boiled. Instant Postum—soluble form made in the cup instantly, with hot water. Both kinds of this famous food-drink have a delightful flavour and are absolutely free from caffeine (the drug in tea and coffee) or any injurious substance.

If in a few days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show signs of recovery or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or head works clearer, (the ills of tea and coffee drugging are multitudinous) the facts will be before you, and

Mrs. W. G. Whitmarsh who spent the past few weeks in Toronto and Orillia returned on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. L. Blair, of Perth, were visitors in town on Thursday. J. F. McNally was a week end visitor in Kingston.

Miss Bessie Silver, Cataract, has returned home, after spending two weeks with relatives in Gananoque.

Miss Daisy McAlpin, Gananoque, is the guest of Miss Mattie Harpell, Cataract, for the week-end.
