The local boys, and others that comprised their ship's complement, were really all aboard and ready long before the day they set sail. The writer tells how the transport was placed in a small bay down in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, near Gaspe.

The last word received from officer, who wrote the letters, that upon the afternoon of Oct. 2nd the admiral in charge of the fleet signalled that next day it would sail and great reiology was manifested among the soldiers.

No Cause For Fear.

Luther Sills is back at Queen's from Mundare, Alta where he has been teaching school during the past summer. Mundare is about sixty miles east of Edmonton and is the centre of a big Galician and Buckowinian settlement. These people are from Austrian provinces and are naturally very much interested in the present war but he says we need nave no fear-of their causing the gov ernment any trouble or of them bebeen most bountiful this year and they will have big harvests if the weather now continues dry enough to get their grain stacks threshed.

Deranged Man Found in Woods. After two days continuous searching for Thomas Purting Constable Dixon, of Pembroke, managed to secure him and brought him to the city on Friday afternoon to undergo treatment at Rockwood hospital. The patient, whose brain had become mentally deranged over some family matters pertaining to property, left home and began to wander in the woods. A thorough search was made which lasted for two days and nights and eventuended in the wanderer being found in a small hut in a dense underwood forest.
