

YEAR 51 NO. 252

THE MAN ON WATCH

The hunting season opens on the Sabbath, and the Lampan supposes the churches will be pretty scantily attended on the morrow by the male population.

Who'll defend Kingston in the event of a winter invasion? Why the veterans, assisted by the hockey players of the town, if the 14th household and the student soldiers are found wanting.

The Lampan wonders if the university German club will give a performance in aid of the patriotic fund and present a German "culture" programme.

If the war continues, the game of bridge will be very lonesome, for the ladies are too busy this autumn knitting for the soldiers to give any attention to that pastime. "Bridges" are few and far between, for which the preachers are said to be thankful.

The Lampan hopes that the town schoolmarms learned something about "Germany's Place in Modern Culture," on which topic a Queen's professor was to dilate for their edification. Once Germany had a place in culture, but she has no place in "modern culture."

The Lampan has heard of a lady who bought an article in a Kingston store, and after using it, she found marked on the bottom the fateful words: "Made in Germany." She was so angry that she declared her intention of using the article as a garbage receptacle.

Complaints reach the Lampan about short-weight goods. A townswoman wants to know if fifteen ounces make a pound in wartime. The Lampan's advice was to try another dealer for sixteen ounces still made a pound, excluding the paper wrapping.

If German generals are to be court-martialed and shot for mistakes and defeats, the Lampan nominates the kaiser as an eligible. Wilhelm is the master bungler — of Germany, but as "the king can do no wrong," the Prussian murderers still live.

Those people are living in fool's paradise who for a minute imagine that the moral condition of Kingston is even to be rated as fair. Town Councilman Nickie knows whereof he speaks, says the Lampan, and when he becomes mayor some day, look out for a clean-up campaign.

THE TOWN WATCHMAN

'Cellist Reported Shot Returns Home Chicago, Oct. 31.—Bruno Stendel, widely known as a 'cellist, reported shot as a spy in Europe, returned to his home here to-day.

He caught the last train out of Paris for Berlin, and, having had training as a soldier, tried to enlist in the kaiser's army, but was refused because he had passed the age limit of 45 years, he said.

ACTORS BEGGED JOBS

Wanted To Come With Cyril Maude To America

London, Oct. 31.—Cyril Maude and his company have sailed for New York by the steamer Lapland, to inaugurate the world tour lasting two years. He will open in the United States, and will proceed to Canada, his itinerary including Montreal, "Grumpy," "The Second in Command" and other favorite light comedies and farces will be played. In interviewed before leaving London Mr. Maude stated that he was looking forward to visiting Canada again, where so much of his youth was spent. He had been bombarded with applications from actors and actresses desiring to accompany him, as the theatrical profession is suffering acutely here, owing to the war. The substitution of matinees for night performances, owing to the wholesale darkening of London for fear of aerial raids, has not proved attractive for business, and has resulted in a decrease of the already depleted patronage.

Worse To Come

The regular trombone player of a Scottish orchestra was laid up with a cold, and the conductor reluctantly accepted the services of a brass band amateur. He was a little doubtful, however, as to the suitability of his substitute.

After the first performance the new player asked the conductor how he had done.

The conductor replied that he had done pretty fairly, but that perhaps he would do better next night.

The newcomer eyeing him gratefully answered:—

"Man, ye see, the music is strange tae me the night, and I'm no just shair o' yer, but you wait tae the moro's night, an' ye'll no hear ane o' the fiddles at a'."

Absentminded

Clark Conkling tells of a man in Lyons who had long boarded at a restaurant, but finally there came a time when he was caught by the waiter's attention. The man was a young woman, and she was very busy one day, he forgot all about being married and at dinner time he entered the restaurant and took his seat at his accustomed place. It was not until he was half through with his dinner that the idea occurred to him that he was married and his wife probably had a dinner waiting for him at home.—Kansas City Star.

Good At Figures

Sammy was not prone to over-assertion in the classroom; therefore, his mother was both surprised and delighted when he came home one afternoon with the announcement: "I got 100 this morning."

"That's lovely, Sammy!" exclaimed his proud mother, and she kissed him tenderly. "What was it in?"

"It's in reading and fifty in arithmetic."

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Rhyndress, Calgary, Alta., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Vera Fern, to Herbert G. Humble, son of captain and Mrs. C. Humble.

Thomas Gilbert Cook has been acquitted of the charge of murdering William S. Crawford, a former resident of Balderson, at Wainwright, Alta., in May last.

Smith's Falls has purchased a new town clock.

A SCENE OF DESOLATION

A scene of carnage on the Maree Road leading to Etropolis where the Battle of the Marne took place. It was here that the French infantry and Zouaves engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with the Germans. The photo shows one of the French fighters lying in the cavity made by the body of the French Zouave beside that of a German infantryman on the left of the picture.

A STINGING REBUKE

PATRONAGE WITHDRAWN BECAUSE EMPLOYEES LET GO.

Big Cheque Returned — Prince of Wales' Fund Did Not Want Money Wrang From Clerks.

London, Oct. 31.—One of London's great department stores has removed from its windows its royal patronage signs. This is said to be due to a royal rebuke.

This store, where Queen Alexandra has heretofoe done her shopping, sent a cheque for 10,000 pounds to the Prince of Wales' fund. So large a donation might well be put to the credit of its advertising account in view of the publicity given it.

However, the managers of the Prince of Wales' fund discovered that the store dismissed half of its staff, so that the donation came really not from the firm, but from its unfortunate discharged employees, whereupon the cheque was sent back and the royal patronage taken from the firm.

The problem in England is to avoid pauperizing the unemployed. The aid placed on private charities is all that can stand. Both in the case of the Prince of Wales and of Queen Mary's funds, the principle is to provide employment rather than to make doles of the idle. While some industries have received an artificial stimulus through the war, others have been forced to close. It is the aim of the royal family to induce employers to keep their business going, even at a loss, rather than to discharge hands and soothe their consciences by giving to charities which their own actions have made necessary.

EMDEN COALS AT SEA

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 31.—One explanation of how the German cruiser Emden is able to keep at sea without putting into ports for coal is contained in a cablegram received from Colombo, Ceylon, by the crew of the steamer Exford, one of the vessels captured by the Emden. The cablegram reported the safe arrival at Colombo of the captain and crew of the Exford and added that the commander of the Emden, announced before he sank the Exford that he intended to take on board the cruiser the 7,000 tons of stean coal with which the Exford was laden.

Rev. A. B. and Mrs. Johnston were the recipients of an address of appreciation and a bare of silver at the paragonage of Nokomis, Sask., the evening of August 15th. The occasion of the celebration of their twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding was thus thoughtfully taken advantage of by a loving people.

A happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wood, Ameliasburg, when their daughter, Mabel Pearl, was married to Burton D. Fox, Rednerville.

FACE AND HANDS COVERED WITH SORES

Zam-Buk Worked Complete Cure.

Mrs. J. Watson Drummond, of Theford Mines, Que., writes: "Every fall for three years, as soon as the weather sets in, my daughter's face and hands would be covered with rough, watery patches, which before long would turn into nasty sores. These would itch and smart terribly, and she would suffer in this way from fall to spring. Nothing we could get did her any good until I started using Zam-Buk. This wonderful ointment quickly relieved the irritation. We persevered with Zam-Buk, and to our great delight it worked a complete cure. I have also used Zam-Buk for cuts and burns, and think there is nothing to compare with it."

For eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin disease or injury, Zam-Buk is unequalled. As soon as applied, it commences its work of healing, quickly alleviates the pain, and builds up new healthy tissue.

At all druggists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c. per box. See the name on the box and refuse all substitutes.

SUCCESS IN AFRICA

Allied Troops Occupy Edoa After Gallant Fight

Paris, Oct. 31.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Bordeaux says: "A report received here from General Dobell, commanding the French forces operating against the German Kamerun, Equatorial West Africa, says that two Franco-English columns occupied Edoa, October 26, after serious fighting in which the allied-troops showed great bravery."

TURKEY IS DOOMED

Signed Her Death Warrant For European Status.

London, Oct. 31.—The Times editorial says the allies are quite ready for Turkey, and have been ready for her for a long time. "All preparations for the Turkish advance have been made by Great Britain in Egypt along the banks of the Suez canal and in the peninsula of Sinai-Greece too, is ready, and more than ready, as Turkey may soon discover. By her foolish yielding to the investigations of Germany, Turkey has pronounced her own doom. The Ottoman empire in Europe will soon be merely a memory."

"These may sound like large assumptions, but they will be proved by events. The world will never submit to the extension of Prussian domination, but the appearance of Prussian-Turkish domination in Europe, and the near and middle east, would mean the end of the civilization as we have known it. The allies will not sheath their swords until both ambitions have been checked beyond any risk of re-appearance."

WHEN BABY IS ILL.

Big Rush of Aliens Feared

London, Oct. 31.—The danger from an economic standpoint of aliens flocking to the overseas dominions to escape the inconveniences of the European war is the subject of a letter to the Globe by Rowland Hunt M.P. The writer points out that many aliens in the British dominions are persuading relatives to join them. This will result for the moment in increasing the political danger, and at the close of the war it will be found that these aliens have taken the room and the opportunities which should be offered to British immigrants. The colonial secretary's answer to Mr. Hunt's representations was that the matter was one for the respective overseas governments to handle.

No Women at Front

Paris, Oct. 31.—Hereafter no women, except qualified nurses, will be allowed at the front.

This order has just been issued by War Minister Millerand. He warns officers they will incur severe punishment if they allow their wives to follow them even to the rear of the battle zone.

HOUSES FOR ENGLAND.

New York Veterinary Will Buy 50,000 Animals.

New York, Oct. 31.—Dr. John Martin Potter, a veterinary surgeon who has made all sorts of animals for use in circuses and on the stage, announced, yesterday, that he had received an order from representatives of the British government for 30,000 horses, and that he would leave at once for East St. Louis, Ill., to get the animals together.

"There are more than 5,000,000 horses in the United States," said Dr. Potter, "so that no shortage of them need be feared. The demand for horses abroad is only one indication of many that will soon experience an era of prosperity in a great many lines directly affected by the war, which will more than offset the depression caused in other lines."

A PITHY VERDICT

War Will Finish Before Germans Master Belfort.

Geneva, Oct. 31.—In view of news spread by German agents at Belfort, the correspondent of the Democrat, who has been permitted to visit the fortress, gives an interesting description of the defenses, which he crystallizes in a sentence: "The war will finish before the Germans become masters of Belfort."

He says the various forts are armed with numerous and most powerful guns capable of responding efficiently to the big German howitzers. All the villages around the main fortress have been transformed into shelters by barbed wire entanglements of sustaining prolonged bombardment.

The multiplications of the fortifications around Belfort, the correspondent adds, make it impossible to use the 17-inch howitzers in the destruction of the main fortress.
