

Our $15 Overcoats Are Prizes

A man came in on Saturday and said, "Show me the best overcoat you can give me for $15.00." We got busy at once and showed him one of our warm storm-resisting overcoats, with convertible or shawl collars, guaranteed to keep out the cold and storm. Very swell, you know.

He examined the coat and tailoring, carefully took note of all the new style features, tried on the coat, stood before the mirror a moment, then said, "It's a peach; I'll take it."

We've more of these "peaches" at $15.00. We've all the new models and we're at your service.

In opening his address Dr. Strachan said: "There is so much written; so much has been said in the first eleven chapters of Genesis, that every science the world has known has been honored. No other chapters have been covered more than these. They are, as it were, the battleground of the Bible. Genesis is a living book, full of reality, life, sin and change. It can be called the gospel of the Old Testament."

Rev. G. Brown, of Campbellford, also gave a lengthy address on the same subject. Discussions by various members of the subject were continued till one o'clock.

Lunch is served every day during the conference for the members in the principal's room.

OPEN EXTRA CLASS

A Result of Large Attendance For the Dressmaking.

Owing to the large attendance at the dressmaking classes held by the Board of Education, an extra class will be inaugurated next week. On Monday night the attendance numbered forty, and it has now been decided to hold a class on Monday and Thursday nights.

The attendance at the men's classes has been very poor. The war is given as the main cause. Many of the men volunteering for overseas duty would have attended the classes.

On Monday six more recruits of the 15th regiment, Belleville, came to Kingston to join the 21st battalion. All are married except one man, and the majority are Canadians. Hastings county has sent fourteen more volunteers to Kingston for the second contingent, and more are expected from the northern part of the county in a day or so. THERE IS A DEMAND FOR CARE AND THOUGHT

Said to Be Many Young Women Out of Work And Some Plans Should Be Devised to Meet the Distress.

The mayor at council last evening made a fair presentation of the situation so far as unemployment and distress appear at the present time, and an outlook as to the future. In this connection the Whig desires to call to the attention of the women of this city, who are charitably disposed and whose labors in behalf of the suffering has been such a splendid aid in this city, that there is much work for them still to do in view of the number of needy women who, while willing to work, are unable to secure it. There are numbers of young women out of employment; they have been let out of shops and mills and other places where labor was available and many of these demands careful thought and action on the part of the patriotic motherhood of this city. It is for the women to meet and discuss the situation and to provide such remedies as they feel the circumstances warrant. It might be that much of the work that is now done by the kindly disposed ladies, in connection with the Red Cross society, could be transferred to scores of needy persons, and would be a great help to them during the rigors of the coming winter. We believe that the citizens as a body would splendidly stand behind the movement and aid in the relief of womankind whose claims are especially pressing upon this community. We need not call attention to the temptations and pitfalls that lay before the distressed and discouraged and in the name of common humanity we urge that every woman who will maintain character, standing and honest worth.

A Patriotic Father.

Brockville Times.
A loyal incident in connection with the recruiting of the second squad of recruits at the local armory, took place on Saturday afternoon. Widdis Stewart, while signing the necessary papers which permitted two of his sons, Ross and John Stewart, to go with the recruits, remarked: "I have four other boys left and if they want to go I will give them my permission." Mr. Stewart, who appears to be about sixty years of age, has a two-hundred-acre farm near Addison. The ardor of his spirit should set on fire the hearts of other fathers in permitting their sons to volunteer.

Premier Asquith's Trumpet Calls to the Allies at the Guild Hall Banquet in London.

London, Nov. 10.—The Guildhall banquet last night, like the pageant with the dominions' troops participating, assumed an essentially military aspect.

Right Hon. Herbert Henry Asquith, the prime minister, upon rising to respond to the toast of his majesty's ministers, was given a rare ovation. He said in part:

"There is certainly nothing in the warfare of these hundred days to damp our hope, to depress our confidence or impair our resolve. Our enemies tried in turn three separate objectives: namely, Paris, Warsaw and Calais. From each in turn they retired baffled, frustrated by the insincible steadfastness of the allies. But this is not enough. We shall not sheathe the sword which we have not lightly drawn, until Belgian recoverers in full measure more than all that she has sacrificed; until France is utterly secure against the menace of aggression; until the rights of the smaller nationalities of Europe are placed on an unassailable foundation; until the military domination of Prussia is fully and finally destroyed."

War Tidings.

French aviators are operating not only on the German lines but considerably to the rear of them.

In Russian Poland the immense armies of the Russian emperor are pushing forward with surprising speed threatening the Germans on home soil.

From Tokio comes the report that a Japanese army may be sent to the west to take its part with the British, French and Belgians in the struggles on the battlefields of Europe.

Military observers agree that the war has entered upon a crucial stage and that the next week may mark a definite turn in the course of events.

Advices from Vienna say that the Russians are rapidly advancing on Cracow, and that in consequence the Austro-Hungarian military authorities are betraying great anxiety, and calling up every available man to the colors.

Panama Canal officials and members of the legation there say they have no information concerning the report that seven British dreadnoughts were in the Atlantic bound west, possibly with the intention of proceeding through the Panama canal to Pacific waters.

A Premature Report.

Evidently there has been a report going the rounds outside the city that a new hotel is to be erected in Kingston. This would certainly be good news but so far as can be learned there is nothing doing. On Tuesday morning a well-known Kingston man was surprised to get a telegram from a party in Ottawa asking for the name of the architect who had the plans for the new hotel in charge.
