FATHER WAS FINED

FOR NEGLECTING TO SEND BOYS TO SCHOOL.

Two Lads Are Blamed for Great Deal of Petty Thieving Around the City—Rounded Up By Children's Aid Inspector and Police.

Parents who neglect to keep their children at their studies will be severely dealt with in the police court. On Thursday morning Magistrate Farrell imposed a fine of $5, and costs upon a father who was found guilty of neglecting to send his two boys to school. The case was brought up by Inspector Wylie of the Children's Aid society, the inspector and Constable James Craig have taken the two lads in charge on Tuesday.

The accused claimed that he had endeavored to keep the boys at school, but the magistrate had evidence to show that the boys had been kept out of school for many days with the knowledge of the father. In fact it was claimed that one of the boys was seen around the city with his father. There was a similar charge against the mother, but this was dismissed as the magistrate said that he could not hold her responsible in the case.

The boys in question have been in trouble before. It is charged that they have been responsible for a great deal of petty thieving which has been going on in the city for some time.

The boys are about ten or twelve years of age, and since their arrest they have been kept in the new room for juveniles at the police station. Arrangements were made for them to come before the magistrate, and it is likely that they will be placed in a home.

STOLEN JEWELRY RETURNED.

The Thief Was Evidently Conscience Stricken.

In broad daylight, on Monday afternoon, a sneak thief entered the home of Mrs. Stanley Fraser, 428 Princess street, and made off with two gold bracelets and a locket and chain.

On Wednesday Mrs. Fraser was very much surprised to have the stolen jewelry returned to her home. She found the jewellery on her table in the hall. Evidently the thief became conscience-stricken.

THE SPORT REVIEW

THE QUEEN'S WAS FAVORABLE TO ADMITTING LONDON.

To Intercollegiate Hockey Union, But McGill Considered the Distance Too Far For It.

The Yale-Harvard rugby receipts were $127,000.

With the end of Intercollegiate football, the players on the McGill teams have turned their attention to the McGill regiment.

Dr. Roy Thomas will again coach the Varsity senior team. Only Jupp and Hanley are left of last year's septette.

Varsity will be under a handicap in the Dominion rugby finals. They will have to change their interference style of play.

The Canadian Rugby union deserves the thanks of the rugby fans when it decided to make the O.R.F.U. and Big Four champions meet in the middle of the week, say the Toronto News.

Hamilton Rowing Club are champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Such was the decision of the O.R.F.U. executive.

It is quite probable that Western University will form a group with O. A. C., of Guelph in the Intercollegiate intermediate series.

Alvin W. Heron, the holder of the Intercollegiate sprinting title at 100 yards and at 220 yards has enlisted in the second contingent and will leave McGill for the front with it.

Toronto Telegram: McGill have not made themselves any too popular in the last few years, holding out of their city teams and voicing their opinion on the subject and Varsity are welcome back into their own.

Hamilton Spectator: "Billy" Mallett is still the king of punters. He is without an equal at the present time. He gets more out of his punts than anybody since Ben Simpson's time. Mallett is one of the few who can place a drive.

The idea prevalent a few weeks ago that the Maritime Province hockey would continue this year is not deemed likely, as the indications are that on account of the war there will not be any professional hockey this winter in Halifax at least. President Lithgow will call a meeting shortly to reach a final conclusion. Halifax will have amateur hockey.

According to The London Free Press the U. of T. and Queen's representatives at the Intercollegiate Hockey Union executive meeting on Saturday were agreeable to take Western University into the senior series. McGill, however, objected. They preferred to see the union disbanded rather than enlarge it with the war in progress. The trip to London is too expensive, according to McGill, and they could not see how they could come out ahead of the game.

Several of the younger hockey players in the city will be at the "Frontenac" Hockey club meeting in the council chambers on Friday night. There are several boys around the city who may prove to be "finds." The number of new players in the club will be large, although very few have come in from outside places this year. The meeting will draw a large crowd as this is Frontenac's year to win.

CONVICT IN PREDICAMENT.

Entitled To Parole, But Has Nowhere To Go.

One of the penitentiary convicts who has been granted a parole is in a rather awkward predicament. Robert E. Wilson is his name, and he was sent here from Niagara Falls about three years ago, for a crime committed on this side of the border. He admits that he is a deserter from the United States navy. His application for parole was granted on condition that he cross the border where he resided before his trial. The United States authorities will not allow him to cross as they have no way of making sure he will again apply or be allowed to re-enlist in the navy, thinking that his plea of wanting to again join the navy is only an excuse to be paroled and allowed on American soil.

The navy authorities will of course try him for the admitted desertion and might probably, after the sentence was carried out, again accept him. The immigration authorities will not take the responsibility of seeing that he goes to the navy yard in New York city, and, therefore, refuse to allow him to cross. At the present time, Wilson is in rather a peculiar position as he will not be allowed his freedom if he stays in Canada and he cannot enter the United States. As his conduct in the big prison justified his release on parole, it is unfair that he be kept longer in the Portsmouth institution.

At the present time he is waiting for a turn in the situation to find out if either side will yield enough to give him his freedom.

IN JUVENILE COURT.

Case of Wayward Boys Was Disposed of.

After the session of the police court on Thursday morning there was a session of the juvenile court, when two wayward lads, whose parents were charged with having neglected to send them to school, was arraigned before the magistrate. It was shown that the lads had been staying away from school and hanging around the city streets.

The magistrate gave an order to have one of the lads handed over into the care of the Children's Aid Society, while the parents will be asked to look after the other.

TO SPEND $6,500

The Good Roads Proposition Was Carried.

The special election held at Cape Vincent Monday which time the taxpayers were given an opportunity to vote on the good roads proposition, was a quiet affair. One hundred and seventy-eight votes were cast, 164 in favor of the proposition and 14 against.

The proposition gives the village trustees authority to issue bonds in the sum of $6,500 to improve Broadway, the principal thoroughfare of the village, from Market street to Bay street in the eastern portion of the village. The road will be built of concrete and will be 22 feet in width from Market street to the Hotel Carleton and 24 feet wide the remainder of the distance.

The state is to build a road through this street next summer which will be 16 feet in width and the village is only obliged to defray the expense of widening said road to the widths mentioned above. The bonds, when issued will be for $500 each and will run for a period of 13 years.

Chickens Are Cheaper

The east is beginning to feel the benefits of the mixed farming in the west. When the great movement was to the west, every farmer who went out took some fowl and other eastern products with him. Last year they had just about enough for themselves but this year the goods are being shipped east instead of west as formerly and the prices here are, as a result, decreased somewhat. Chickens were selling as low as eight cents a pound on the market on Thursday and the prospects are, according to a dealer, that the lower prices will prevail. Of course apples will remain at the old prices because apples do not thrive as well in the west as here. There was a fairly large market on Thursday, with Saturday's prices generally being used. Butter sold at 23c a pound and eggs were sold at about 45c a dozen for strictly fresh ones.
