

THE ONLY CURE FOR CONSTIPATION

Is "Fruit-a-tive"—That Wonderful Remedy Made From Fruit Juices.

AVON, ORE., MAY 14th, 1913.

"I have used 'Fruit-a-tive' for Indigestion and Constipation with most excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. When I first started about six years ago to use them, I took four at a dose but gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night. Before taking 'Fruit-a-tive', I took salts and other pills but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the illness as from these treatments. Finally, I saw 'Fruit-a-tive' advertised with a letter in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them, and I have no hesitation in recommending them."

LATEST WAR TIDING

Eight persons were killed and over 100 were wounded in the town of Sochaczew, Russian Poland, on Saturday by bombs thrown down from five German aeroplanes.

German Zeppelin dropped a total of 14 bombs over Nancy on Friday, killing two civilians and wounding a score or more. The damage to buildings was unimportant.

The Swiss government has decided to order a partial demobilization, according to the Petit Parisien's Bernese correspondent, who says that 250,000 men will gradually be released from duty.

The British war office has arranged to grant leave to its soldiers on the firing line, because it has been determined by psychologists that homesickness is an important factor in decreasing the vitality of armies.

The many other horrors which the German invasion has brought to the inhabitants of Lille is now to be added that of famine. The citizens of the northern fortress town, which has been in possession of the Germans for some months, are now destitute of food and fuel.

Russian claims that the attempts of the Germans to cross the Buzura River in continuing their advance upon Warsaw, have been completely repulsed and that the Germans are likely to be immured from further attack by these persistent raiders of the public exchequer.

SCOT DISOBEYED ORDERS

And Won a Victoria Cross—The Romance of Newby.

Glasgow, Dec. 28.—There is always something of romance about the Victoria Cross. An honor that is given for bravery must always excite very great interest. This week we have been hearing a great deal about Private George Wilson of the 2nd Highland Light Infantry, who has gained the coveted honor for bravery, which only finds its counterpart in fiction.

Near Verneuil on September 14th the day on which Sir Archibald Gibson-Craig was killed—Wilson discovered that a German machine gun stationed in a wood was doing considerable harm and he decided that its operations must be stopped. He asked his officer if he would allow him to go into the wood. "Certainly not," was the reply. But Wilson determined to silence the machine. A private of the 60th King's Rifles joined him and they made their way along into the German lines. When quite close to the gun, Wilson's companion was killed. By one, he shot the officer and the entire gun soldiers and then took possession of the weapon and two and a half cases of ammunition. These facts are vouched for in the official statement. Wilson himself says that he turned the gun of the Germans and that he carried back his sorely wounded companion who died next day, but these facts are not material to the amazing story. There is no doubt that all the Germans were killed, for the position was examined some days later.

NEGRESS LEAVES $4,000 ESTATE

Wills Savings to Children of Her Employer.

Denver, Dec. 28.—Through the death of their aged negro nurse, Eliza Mason, one a slave, who died last month, a Denver woman, Mrs. Riddell, adopted children of Harvey Riddell, a Denver attorney, will receive an estate worth approximately $4,000. The estate represents the savings of a lifetime, dating back to slavery days, and is evidenced by certificates of deposits.

Mrs. Mason had been in the Riddell family for more than 15 years. She became strongly attached to Rice and Frances Jassett, children of Mrs. Riddell's sister, after their adoption, and it is felt that she mentions her regard for them as her reason for making them the chief beneficiaries.

Mr. Riddell was named as executor of the estate and he applied to the county court yesterday for letters testamentary.

Death at Fall River.

Fall River, Dec. 26.—A gloom was cast over the home of Dan Kirkham's on Thursday morning, Dec. 24th, when their youngest child passed to rest. This was the second death in that family in a month's time. The deceased was a very bright little boy, about five years old, and had been in poor health for some time. The burial took place Friday morning at Bathurst cemetery.

The first "dry" Christmas in Toronto resulted in very quiet streets.

Hadn't Heard of War.

New York, Dec. 28.—A sailing vessel arrived in port Saturday whose crew did not know there was a war until signalled outside the harbor by a British cruiser. She was the Norwegian bark Padang. She left Padang, Sumatra, on August 12th, with a cargo of coffee and the British cruiser was the first vessel she spoke to during her entire passage.

The Pembroke Lumber company, has secured a big order for work for the imperial government which will keep the factory department busy for some months to come. It is for wooden material and we understand amounts to about $25,000. Christmas and New Year's Perfumes in fancy packages at cost, between now and New Year's at Hoag's.

Another Raid?

This is What is Expected at Coming Session.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—While the federal government's idea is to confine its programme of coming session of parliament to war measures, things could seem to be shaping up for another raid by Mackenzie and Mann. Sir William Mackenzie has been repeatedly scouting around this fall, enforced by Z. A. Lesh, K.C.

When the forty-five million guarantee was put through last session he understood that it should be the end of Canadian Northern guarantees. The end, however, is not set. Of the money raised on the guarantee, the greater part was pledged for past indebtedness and the financial conditions have made difficult the carrying out of the scheme generally.

Sir William is evidently looking again to the government to buy its own guaranteed bonds or to in some way further help out the undertaking. It is again being urged that the whole nature of the road is "pre-judged." Those who recall the bitter resentment last session among the members over the everlasting demands of this corporation upon the public treasury, and who were pacified with the assurance that that would be the last raid, will not view with much complacency the prospect of renewed activity by Mackenzie and Mann. About the government office these days, however, one cannot fail to be impressed with the fact that even in a war session, Canada is not likely to be immune from further attack by these persistent raiders of the public exchequer.

LEAVES SAVINGS TO POOR.

Asks That His $341 Buy Christmas Gifts For Children.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—While fighting manfully on a hospital cot the torture of five different operations, eight-year-old Spencer Nelson saved $3.11 to buy Christmas presents for poor children.

Three months of suffering failed to dim the spirit of unselfishness that burned as bright and clear as the prophetic Star of Bethlehem in the tired, fever-racked body of the child.

A little cash register bank lay beside his pillow, and he asked all those who visited him to contribute to the fund. He died with the bank clasped to his breast, and with the request that the money be used to make poor little children happy on Christmas morning.

SUPPORTED THE ALLIES.

His State is Remote One — Had Oxford Education.

London, Dec. 28.—A telegram from Calcutta announces the death of his highness Siddang Tulka, Maharaja of Sikkim, in the eastern Himalayas. He succeeded his father, the late Sir Thotub Mangyal, only a few months ago.

Siddang was the first ruler of his remote state to come in direct contact with western civilization. He spent two years at Oxford university and afterwards traveled extensively with an English political officer. At the opening of the present war he expressed a desire to be of any service possible to the British government.
