Prominent Merchant Thinks His Life Was Saved by "Fruit-a-lives"

DAVIDSON, Ont., June 15th, 1913.

"I am a general storekeeper at the above address, and on account of the great good I have experienced from using "Fruit-a-lives", I recommend them to my customers. They were a great boon to me, I can tell you, for about two years ago, I was laid up in bed with vomiting and a terrific pain at the base of my skull. The pain nearly drove me mad. Doctors feared it would turn to inflammation of the brain, but I took "Fruit-a-lives" steadily until I was cured. I have gained fifteen pounds since taking "Fruit-a-lives", and I verily believe they saved me from a disastrous illness."

LATEST WAR TIDINGS

Germany will ignore the exequaturs of consuls in any territory occupied by Germany during the war.

Germans are blowing up hundreds of factories in West Poland to obtain material for new fortifications. This is said to explain recent German inactivity in the Warsaw area.

One battleship destroyed in German coast waters in five months is not an encouraging result for the "whittling down" policy urged by Bernhardt. This is the paramount lesson of the formidable loss: the Germans have failed in five months' warfare to make any important inroad on Britain's naval preponderance.

According to an Athens despatch the sultan and his court are preparing to leave Constantinople, fearing the early fall of that city. The attack on Egypt seems to have been abandoned indefinitely.

Various reports concerning the conditions of Emperor William's throat are again in circulation. According to one version, the emperor must soon return to Berlin to undergo an operation.

With the full knowledge that vast numbers of men are now being trained in England, Germany, it is recognized in London, must be preparing fully to meet their entry into the war. It is agreed that much depends upon the quality of the new formations on both sides. The English view is that Britain's new troops will be the cream of the country, while Germany having sent in her finest forces at the outset, must depend for reinforcements upon those less fit physically.

There were wild demonstrations of loyalty to Belgium when the Belgian burgomasters met at Antwerp to raise fifty million dollars tribute demanded by the Germans. Many leaders were arrested.

A French airship squadron attacked Metz, destroying a large portion of the fortifications. Near the Swiss border French troops have advanced, gaining five miles territory and capturing several heavy German guns.

Survivors of the formidable sea battle of the Heligoland, where among them while struggling in the water, killing many of their comrades.

The total survivors from the battleship Formidable is now 201. Another cutter with fifty men having reached a port in Dorsetshire. The cutter had about sixty men when leaving the sinking battleship but only fifty survived. All the survivors were in state of exhaustion having been in a fierce storm for twenty hours. There is very little hope of any further survivors.

Fighting along the Rawa and Buzza Rivers continues fiercely with success for the Russians. Austrian troops were routed in Bukovina.

At the request of King George special prayers are being offered in Great Britain and Ireland for success of the allies and the soldiers engaged.

It is officially estimated at Petrograd that about four hundred thousand Austrians and Germans are already prisoners in Russia and three times that number have been killed and wounded. The statement adds: "Warsaw is in no danger."

French bombarded railway station at Aitrich, and also occupied some of enemy trenches in the Vosges. French infantry advanced 500 metres near La Boisselle.

Pope Benedict has received cordial answers from King George and Emperor William promising their assistance in the exchange of prisoners.

To Increase Coast Guard.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Following out the views of Gen. Weaver, chief of the coast artillery, Lieut. Gardner of Massachusetts Saturday afternoon introduced a bill to increase the coast artillery's authorized strength by about eight thousand men. In a statement Gardner suggested that the garrisons at Portsmouth, Charleston, Savannah, Key West, New Bedford, Tampa, and Baltimore, Mobile, and elsewhere will have to be reduced to caretaker detachments unless the increase is granted, as Weaver recommends.

Man's Body, Chopped To Pieces, Found Wrapped In Burlap.

New York, Jan. 4.—New York police are wrestling with what now appears to be one of the most baffling murder mysteries they have ever been called upon to solve.

Chopped up into small pieces and wrapped up in woman's clothing, and then in burlap, parts of a man's body were found late Friday night frozen in the icy marches of West Meadow, near Coney Island.

Two packages were found. One contained a large part of the victim's torso. The head, arms, and entrails had been removed. In the other package was the upper part of one leg. Search is being instituted today for the other parts of the body, which it is believed, will be found in the ice of the same pond.

Absolutely no clue is afforded the police in the packages found last night. One contained a New York newspaper of December 21st, and the other an Italian newspaper of the same date. This is the only evidence the police have that the crime was committed recently.

The discovery of the gruesome package was made by John Thomas, a trapper, and his son. Blood-stains at once attracted their attention and they made an effort to chop the bundles out of the ice.

From the parts of the body already found, the police are of the opinion that the victim was a young man of strong build, weighing about 160 pounds.

The department will request all teachers to use this book, and give instruction to the pupils in the school regarding the facts leading up to the war, in order that the children may fully understand why the empire is at war, the principles which are at stake, and the efforts which our empire made to maintain peace. The books will be ready for distribution early in January.

FEARS NO GERMAN RAID

Arnold White, After Inspections, Reassures Timid Britishers

London, Dec. 30.—Criticism of the government's war preparations which was prevalent in the early stages of the war has largely ceased, indicating that the general public either had settled down to the belief that everything is being done about as well as possible or has tired of writing letters to the press.

The war office has now enlisted the services of business men, with experience in carrying out big enterprises to take part in the work of supplying the army, and the labor unions have volunteered to watch the execution of government contracts to see that proper equipment and rations are supplied to the soldiers.

Arnold White, a former colonial official, has been making a thorough inspection of the training camps for the purpose of detecting any scandals and mismanagement. Having been a bitter enemy of the liberal government, the point of view was not prejudiced in its favor. He writes:

"Having visited thirty-six camps in various parts of the country, I am thoroughly cheered. In the majority of cases business men are handling the difficult problems of war. Dwellers in luxury have no conception of the thoroughness, efficiency, and silence with which the war office and the admiralty have co-operated for the business of preventing a German raid or invasion.

"The alarm that is still felt in some parts of the islands is wholly unjustified, because, firstly, the business efficiency of the fleet under Jellicoe has increased since war began, and secondly because the practical measures adopted by our military engineers, if generally known would enable the island to sleep quietly in their beds. If I were out to pick holes in our administration it would not be in the general management of the war."

FACTS 1915 CONFIDENTLY

London Bid Farewell to Old Year Much as Usual.

London, Jan. 2.—London faces the new year with confidence and calm. Long press articles on the forthcoming year breathe only confidence, many expressing the belief that the war will end favorably before another New Year's day comes.

Midnight was celebrated much the same as usual. Church bells clanked, motor horns hooted, and whistles were blown with the incoming year. At all the great hotels there were festivities made more picturesque than usual by the military uniforms of the officers stationed in London, officers back from the front, some of them wounded, and officers in training.

At old St. Paul's the usual enormous crowd surrounded the cathedral and sang patriotic songs as they waited for the great bells to ring in the new year. Throughout the city "God Save the King" was the popular anthem. The authorities lifted the special regulation, placing forward the closing hour for games selling liquor, and let them resume for the night the old-time period.

DESERTED FROM PLAIN.

Brockville Man Deserted From First Contingent.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 2.—The Brockville police have received from Scotland Yard a request to arrest Allan McGregor, a local bank clerk who enlisted with the first Canadian contingent and is wanted for desertion from the camp at Salisbury Plain. McGregor held the post of paymaster in the 3rd Field Battery, under command of Captain Britton of Gananogue.

The story goes that the young officer took advantage of a three days leave of absence, and crossing to France shipped to New York. It is also alleged that McGregor absconded with a considerable sum of money placed in his keeping. He arrived in Brockville a few days ago, and after a short stay disappeared before Scotland Yard had communicated with the police. He accounted for his return on the score of illness, stating that he had been invalided home.

"The very life of the empire," says the letter, "may depend on the response given to the call for men. I think we can say deliberately that no household nor home will be acting worthily, if in timidity or self-love it keeps back any of those who can loyally bear a man's part in behalf of the land we love."

A Huge Apple Crop.

Washington, Jan. 2.—This year's apple crop was the largest ever produced in the United States. Estimates announced today by the Department of agriculture placed the 1914 yield at 259,000,000 bushels, or 114,000,000 more than was produced last year.

London Bid Farewell to Old Year Much as Usual.

London, Jan. 2.—London faces the new year with confidence and calm. Long press articles on the forthcoming year breathe only confidence, many expressing the belief that the war will end favorably before another New Year's day comes.

Midnight was celebrated much the same as usual. Church bells clanked, motor horns hooted, and whistles were blown with the incoming year. At all the great hotels there were festivities made more picturesque than usual by the military uniforms of the officers stationed in London, officers back from the front, some of them wounded, and officers in training.

At old St. Paul's the usual enormous crowd surrounded the cathedral and sang patriotic songs as they waited for the great bells to ring in the new year. Throughout the city "God Save the King" was the popular anthem. The authorities lifted the special regulation, placing forward the closing hour for games selling liquor, and let them resume for the night the old-time period.

DESERTED FROM PLAIN.

Brockville Man Deserted From First Contingent.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 2.—The Brockville police have received from Scotland Yard a request to arrest Allan McGregor, a local bank clerk who enlisted with the first Canadian contingent and is wanted for desertion from the camp at Salisbury Plain. McGregor held the post of paymaster in the 3rd Field Battery, under command of Captain Britton of Gananogue.

The story goes that the young officer took advantage of a three days leave of absence, and crossing to France shipped to New York. It is also alleged that McGregor absconded with a considerable sum of money placed in his keeping. He arrived in Brockville a few days ago, and after a short stay disappeared before Scotland Yard had communicated with the police. He accounted for his return on the score of illness, stating that he had been invalided home.

"FOR THE LAND WE LOVE."

Archbishop of Canterbury Makes Appeal for Recruits.

London, Jan. 2.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, in a New Year's letter to the laity and clergy, seeks to give impetus to recruiting by a fervent appeal to all men qualified to bear arms.

"The very life of the empire," says the letter, "may depend on the response given to the call for men. I think we can say deliberately that no household nor home will be acting worthily, if in timidity or self-love it keeps back any of those who can loyally bear a man's part in behalf of the land we love."

A Huge Apple Crop.

Washington, Jan. 2.—This year's apple crop was the largest ever produced in the United States. Estimates announced today by the Department of agriculture placed the 1914 yield at 259,000,000 bushels, or 114,000,000 more than was produced last year.

An appeal to renew the liquor sales in Petrograd and Moscow was turned down.

FEARS NO GERMAN RAID

Arnold White, After Inspections, Reassures Timid Britishers

London, Dec. 30.—Criticism of the government's war preparations which was prevalent in the early stages of the war has largely ceased, indicating that the general public either had settled down to the belief that everything is being done about as well as possible or has tired of writing letters to the press.

The war office has now enlisted the services of business men, with experience in carrying out big enterprises to take part in the work of supplying the army, and the labor unions have volunteered to watch the execution of government contracts to see that proper equipment and rations are supplied to the soldiers.

Arnold White, a former colonial official, has been making a thorough inspection of the training camps for the purpose of detecting any scandals and mismanagement. Having been a bitter enemy of the liberal government, the point of view was not prejudiced in its favor. He writes:

"Having visited thirty-six camps in various parts of the country, I am thoroughly cheered. In the majority of cases business men are handling the difficult problems of war. Dwellers in luxury have no conception of the thoroughness, efficiency, and silence with which the war office and the admiralty have co-operated for the business of preventing a German raid or invasion.

"The alarm that is still felt in some parts of the islands is wholly unjustified, because, firstly, the business efficiency of the fleet under Jellicoe has increased since war began, and secondly because the practical measures adopted by our military engineers, if generally known would enable the island to sleep quietly in their beds. If I were out to pick holes in our administration it would not be in the general management of the war."
