A Standardized War Despatch Here is a standardized war despatch. We advise our readers to cut it out and post it in a convenient place. When too busy to read the war news, peruse it:

Berlin (or Petrograd, or Vienna or Paris, or London), ---. 1914.-The situation at the centre cor tinues unchanged. Our troops have successfully resisted the utmost efforts of the enemy. On our right the enemy advanced against us in force two days ago. The result was his atter disorganization and the capture on our part of two army corps, numbering 40,000 prisoners with arms and ammunition. After this brilliant coup our army fell back on positions previously selected, and at this writing reports slight advances. It is anticipated that by far advanced as would have been the case had we won no victory at On our left we have evacuated the city of Zyxwvutsrqp, of no strategic value, which was immediately occupied by the enemy. withering fire; it is estimated that parations are under way to give him a half-dozen other towns on game terms. The war office is much encouraged .- St. Louis Republic.
