THE NEEDS OF GIRLS DEPEND UPON DEMANDS

That Are Made Upon Them by the Community.

MISS UNA SAUNDERS

DEALT WITH QUESTION IN Y.W.C.A. PARLORS

The World's Y.W.C.A. Is a Body of Specialists On a Girl's Life—Necessity of Aiding In Y.W.C.A. Work.

Miss Una Saunders, of New York, who is paying a visit to Kingston for a few days, is giving a series of addresses in the Y.W.C.A. parlors. Miss Saunders is one of the leaders in Young Women's Christian Association work in the United States. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. R. Carr-Harris presided at the first meeting and introduced Miss Saunders, who spoke to a good-sized gathering. The speaker's topic was, "What a Girl Needs." Miss Saunders said that the world's Y.W.C.A. is looked to as a body of specialists on a girl's life. At the world's conference in Stockholm, Sweden, last June, the whole subject of the unfolding of God's plan for women was discussed, among the topics that came up were the training of girls for home life, the place of women in state, and national life, the care of immigrants, etc.

To discover what a girl needs in Canada, we need to consider what the community expects of a girl. It demands much—steady work, good character, the building up of the right sort of homes. One of the ways by which the community can best help these girls from whom they demand so much is by co-operating with the churches in making the Y.W.C.A. a centre for the girl-life of the city. In the national work of the Y.W.C.A. we find girls being helped by Travellers' Aid workers at the stations, employment provided through the secretary's help, a home recommended, a chance of a holiday through a Y.W.C.A. summer home, friendship with other girls in a club—in short, many of the physical and spiritual needs of a girl's life.

GERMAN WIRELESS STATION.

Canal Zone Police Got Tip From British Minister.

Panama, Jan. 15.—The canal zone police discovered a wireless telegraph plant on the top of a tall building in the heart of Panama. The plant was destroyed by the authorities, who declared that it belonged to a Danish West Indian negro, who they believed was a student in wireless telegraphy. Complaint was made recently by the British minister, Sir Charles Mallett, of the existence of a wireless station in Panama, and he gave the police the approximate location. After a search of several days it was finally located.

Early Attack Upon the Suez Canal

London, Jan. 15.—Many of the Australian contingents will probably be under fire before the Canadians, owing to the expected Turco-German invasion of Egypt. The Times expects an early attack upon the Suez canal, and says it must be taken seriously.

"The German masters of the Turkish government wish to march on Egypt," the Times says, "because their object is to distract Great Britain from pursuing a dominant purpose in France and Belgium. The attack on the canal will be a picturesque episode in war. Our preparations for a defence are so extensive that we can all afford to await the outcome with serenity."

Regarding the Turkish invasion of Persia, the Times says: "Whenever a German government touches oriental policy, they invariably blunder very badly and dispatch a ruthless horde against inoffensive people. Persia is perhaps the worst blunder of all."

The programme was of a varied nature. Some thirty members of the intermediates gave a drill and march admirably, accompanied by piano music rendered by Louis N. Marchand.

A swinging of Messrs. William Gimblett, Arnold O'Grady, Earl Moncrieff, Melzer Davy and Arthur Dean. The remainder of the lengthy programme consisted of special parallel bar gymnastics by the intermediate leaders; tumbling events by the junior department, comprising pyramids featuring and mat work by the intermediates.

Sweeping Russian Victory

London, Jan. 15.—The correspondent of the Daily News at Petrograd telegraphs:

"The Russian new year opens with a sweeping victory over the Turks on the Caucasian frontier. In the Olmy Valley the Turkish rear guard was completely destroyed, and simultaneously another Russian army routed the main Turkish force at Karaguz. The Russians captured the entire supply of mountain guns, which the Turks brought for the campaign, together with their ammunition. They also took the Turks' complete stock of field artillery and all their cattle, both for slaughter and transport."

ITALY IS STUNNED BY EARTHQUAKE

At Avellino, where she immediately installed herself as a hospital nurse to care for the wounded.

Injured Taken To Rome.
Trainload after trainload of injured are rolling into Rome. Every train arriving from the province of Avellino brings hundreds of persons who have been wounded. The refugees are distributed among the hospitals and private dwellings.

The mayor of Rome, Prince Colonna, has placed at the disposal of the refugees several hotels and public buildings, where food also is provided by the city.

It is estimated that 4,000 persons were buried alive under the wreckage at Avezzano. Throughout the night shouts for help could be heard. In one instance a school building collapsed, burying 200 children, many of whom are still alive.

It is stated that four hundred soldiers were in the barracks at Avezzano when it collapsed, and that only four of them escaped.

Dead Now Number 30,000.

Rome, Jan. 15.—Every hour swells the casualty list of the earthquake disaster. Official and unofficial reports reaching Premier Salandra, in charge of the relief work, show that towns heretofore believed immune have suffered. The latest estimates of dead say that at least thirty thousand fell victims to the quake. The list of injured may reach one hundred thousand.

The minister of public works who is at the scene of disaster to-day wired Premier Salandra that every city, town and village in Lera Valley has been damaged, with many of the inhabitants dead and wounded.

Because many of the victims are still entombed in the ruins of their homes, additional troops were sent to the quake zone to-day. Hundreds of wounded victims are streaming into Rome and all the public buildings have been ordered opened and turned into temporary hospitals to relieve the pressure on the regular hospitals already crowded to the limit.

The minor shocks, which still continue, have added to the terror, and thousands of residents of the poorer quarter of Rome have refused to return to their homes, but remain quartered in the open squares of the city.
