CENTENARY OF PEACE

SUITABLE SERVICES ARE TO BE HELD IN CHURCHES.

The Event Marks the Ratification of the Treaty of Ghent Between Britain and the United States—Making Most of the Lesson.

Canada and the United States will, to-morrow, Feb. 14th, by suitable services in the churches, commemorate the Hundred Years of Peace between the British Empire and the United States of America.

It is an occasion towards which the Canadian Peace Centenary Association has long looked forward, and an occasion which has been somewhat marred by the incidence of war. Indeed the propriety of celebrating the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, in the Carthusian monastery, in Belgium, has, under the circumstances, been very seriously questioned.

Commemorating a hundred years of peace amid the din and distress of war! Why not, when the great conflict of the day, the greatest in the history of the world, emphasizes the value of peace and makes the conditions on this continent so very desirable.

The Treaty was signed on Dec. 24th, 1814, but not ratified by the government of the United States until February 17th, 1915, the delay being incidental to the slowness with which the mails were carried in those days. The document reached Washington on February 14th, and was ratified three days later. So that February 14th is the nearest Sunday to the centenary of this event.

The truce, so long kept between Anglo-Saxon people, is something which should be marked in a distinctive and outstanding way. A monument and a movement of special significance was projected in Britain and will be carried out when the troubles of Kaiser Wilhelm have been settled according to ancient fashion. The movement to have the hundred years of tranquillity in America marked in a significant way has not been abandoned. It, too, will be followed up later.

In the meantime the churches are making the most of the lesson which lasting peace has taught. In Europe the boundaries of kingdoms and empires have been outlined by ironing fortifications, regarded as impenetrable by outward foes, and proved to be worthless, as signs of security, before the attacks of modern siege guns. In America the four thousand miles of Canadian-American frontier are not only without fortifications but they are difficult to trace, and in the course of the last century engineers and arbitrators have been engaged in a friendly way, in re-establishing them.

The conquests of the peace party in the nation have been for the growth of national life on this side of the Atlantic, or on this continent, bounded by the ocean, is the regard which it has for treaty obligations.

tions. The best monument of the centennial of peace is the implanting in the hearts of the people of that noble feeling which springs from a proper recognition of a reign of righteousness as opposed to the reign of frightfulness.

Cardinal Gibbons in a letter to Hon. A. B. Parker, of the American Peace Centenary Committee, has expressed the sentiment of the hour so appropriately that the Whig cannot do better than quote it: "When the waters receded from the earth after the Deluge, Almighty God made a solemn covenant with Noah and his posterity, that the earth should never again be destroyed by water, and, as a sign of this covenant He placed a bow in the heavens. Let Britannia and Columbia join hands across the Atlantic, and their outstretched arms will form a sacred arch of peace which will excite the admiration of the nations, and will proclaim to the world the hope that, with God's help, the earth shall never more be deluged with blood shed in a fratricidal war."

FORT HENRY PRISONERS

To Testify at Nerlich Treason Trial In Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The belief is gaining ground that the Nerlich high treason case is going to attain far greater proportions than was at first imagined. This belief was substantiated when Mrs. Hendry, Norwegian, wife of Emil Nerlich, was arrested in addition to her husband, and when the bail for the two was made $150,000.

It is now known that the military department has been instructed by the civil authorities to secure the presence in Toronto of quite a large number of important witnesses for this case. The military authorities have already brought seventeen alien enemies who had been interned from the Fitzroy camp. Fort Henry and other detention places in Stanley Barracks, where they are being held for trial, which will take place shortly. The military authorities do not really know how important these witnesses are or what part they have played in the case, but the prisoners are being kept under strict guard so that they cannot get into touch with outsiders.

FREIGHT RATES SOARING.

Caused by Great Demand For Newcastle Coal.

Newcastle, Feb. 12.—The demands for coal exceed those of any day since the outbreak of the war. As a consequence there was a corresponding increase in freight rates, the rate to Genoa reaching the unprecedented figure of 39 shillings ($9.75) per ton. Italy, France and the Scandinavian countries were the heavier purchasers.

Mrs. William Fenwick, North Fredericburgh, had the misfortune to break one of her legs on Wednesday.

RUSSIAN ARMY EVACUATING EAST PRUSSIA.
Owing to the enemy being heavily reinforced, the Russian troops have been ordered to evacuate the Mazurian Lakes district. The Russians advance towards Lyck; (3) Russians withdrawing towards Ostroloka; (4) heavy fighting near Serpez. The positions held on February 1st are compared to those held according to recent Russian reports.

REBUILD BELGIAN CITIES.

Kaiser Was Not Present At This Conference.

London, Feb. 13.—A comprehensive plan for the rebuilding of towns and cities of Belgium was discussed at the opening of the international conference of garden cities. "From the ashes of the devastated towns and cities there shall arise a newer and finer Belgium," said Herbert Samuel, president of the local government board. "Among the 200 refugees who were welcomed to England, there are about 200 architects. Our idea is to bring them together and to place at their disposal our experience, for the development of Belgian towns along modern lines."

SUBMARINES BATTERED.

Heavy Gales In North Sea Played Havoc With Them.

London, Feb. 13.—The Daily Mail has the following from its Copenhagen correspondent: "I am informed privately from Christiania that during heavy North Sea gales a few days ago ten German submarines put into Bergen, Stavanger, Trondhjem and other Norwegian ports in a terribly battered condition. The crews reported to have been many days in heavy weather, enduring privations, loss of sleep and discomfort through the ceaseless rising and falling of the mountainous seas. The men were in an exhausted condition, several of them being ill. The submarines were escorted to Norwegian waters by Norwegian patrol cruisers, and informed that they must leave within twenty-four hours, according to the international rules, or be interned. They remained about twenty hours for rest, and carried out some slight repairs. The men were only half inclined to return to their task in the North Sea."

"OUT OF POLITICS."

Says The Right Candidate Will Turn Up.

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 13.—Former President Taft, yesterday, intimated his complete severance from politics. "They hint that you may be induced to enter the political arena again," Mr. Taft was asked. With a laugh, he replied: "Oh, no, the progressive party is dead and I have no desire to disinter it. We entered the cemetery together, and in death we do not part."

OYSTER SHELLS

Once Little Valued, They Are Now a Boon to Oyster Growers.

Ten years ago any stranger could spot the shore location of any oyster fishery by means of the mammoth piles of oyster shells. These were heaped up on the shore in great stacks sometimes from thirty to forty feet in height. These shells were considered of little value. In many places they were actually given away and they were used to be crushed up, and spread over road beds and they were also burned in order to get the lime from them.

To-day these piles have disappeared and if you wanted a ton or so of them you would have to pay a pretty good price, simply because the owners want to dump them back into the sea.

There used to be a great deal of difficulty in preparing oyster beds for breeding place for the embryo oysters was on the smooth inside surface of the adult oyster shells, and so every year the shells from the oyster beds were taken out and scattered over the beds. The baby oysters attack themselves to these surfaces and thrive mightily. There are experts to-day who know nothing of fishing for oysters or marketing them, but who devote all their time to the preparation of artificial oyster beds. This has become a recognized part of the industry. After the shells have been properly spread over the bottom of the water and spawn is liberated upon them and they are left to fight their own battles with the crabs, periwinkles, starfish and other enemies.—Boston Herald.

THE FOOD PROBLEM.

The City Folks Can Help to Solve It.

Woodstock, Feb. 13.—That the war did not create the problem in Ontario of the necessity for increased food production, but simply emphasized that situation, was a statement made by N. W. Rowell, K.C., M.P., during the course of his address here in connection with the Patriotism and Production Campaign. Mr. Rowell reminded his hearers that in 1913 he had spoken right in Woodstock as well as in other places, pointing out the seriousness of the decline of food products and rural population in Ontario and the necessity of grappling with the question and solving what could be done to increase the food supply.
