What to Do to Get Fat and Increase Weight

The Best Cause of Thinness
A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE: Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all about the fat-making elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fat-making elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power. For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not as some believe, a patented drug, but a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful fat-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal offsets the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by all good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

The members of the 14th Regiment, who went overseas with the first Canadian contingent, left for France on Sunday, Feb. 7th. A letter received by Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsay, 45 Division Street, from their son William, contained this information. The letter reads as follows: "Just a line in a hurry, hoping that it finds you in the best of health, as this leaves me fine and dandy. We are under sealed orders to leave in a few hours for France. We drew our ammunition this morning. Each man was furnished with 120 rounds. Every man is in the best of spirits, happy as a lark."

On Monday Mrs. Ramsay received a letter from her sister, who lives in Scotland, which was written on Wednesday, Feb. 10th, in which she stated that she had received a letter written on Sunday evening, Feb. 7th, from William Ramsay, while he was aboard ship on his way to France. The Ramsays stated that he understood the ship would land on the coast of France, and the men would likely be billeted along the coast for some time before going into the trenches.

London, Feb. 23.—The Morning Post publishes an article from its correspondent at Budapest, which says Austrian newspapers are furious over America, saying there is ample evidence to prove British use of American-made ammunition. They refer to America as distinguished neutral who wants to grow fat on the blood and misfortune of Europe, and who was only neutral towards Germany, but never towards the enemy.

WORK AT RELIANCE MOULDING COMPANY'S PLANT.

Kingston's Youngest Industry at Out-let Station Has Very Bright Prospects—Company Has Well Equipped Plant.

With a staff of forty-five men, Kingston's youngest industry, the Reliance Moulding company, is making good progress. The plant, situated at the outer station, has attracted the attention of a large number of citizens. The building is substantial, well equipped, and adapted in every way to the work required of it.

A representative of the Whig had the pleasure of making an inspection of the building on Monday afternoon, and was impressed with everything. The staff was busily engaged turning out picture frames and mouldings of various kinds, and all the samples placed on exhibition, showed fine workmanship. Thirty-five of the staff are skilled workmen at this line of business brought here from Toronto, while the other ten are local men. In opening the plant it was, of course, necessary to have the skilled labor. The plant has only been running for a month, and in spite of the hard times, owing to the war, a goodly number of orders have been received, and it is hoped in time to add to the output. On Monday morning several large orders were received from England. The plant is being equipped with the very latest machinery and every part of the work is given the very best attention.

F. B. Phillips, the general manager, hails from Toronto, and has had many years experience in the business. E. S. Wartman is the superintendent. The industry has certainly very bright prospects and the people of Kingston extend to the management their very best wishes.

ELICITED INFORMATION

FROM HON. SAM HUGHES ABOUT MILITARY MATTERS.

A Committee of the Commons To Consider Method of Allowing Soldiers Overseas to Vote. Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Some two score questions, relating principally to matters affecting the department of militia and defence, was answered by the government in the commons yesterday afternoon. Major-General Hughes furnished the principal information. He told J. G. Tarriff, of Assiniboia, that 62,363 razors had been bought by the government for the troops since the war began, prices varying from $1.85 to $9 per dozen.

At the time of the departure of the first expeditionary force from Valcartier 481 defective or injured horses, bought for military purposes by the government, were sold at public auction in Quebec and Montreal, the average price received being $37.44, and the total $25,855. The average price paid for the $150 horses bought for the first contingent was $172. The total number of overseas purchased by the government for the Canadian expeditionary forces was $120,000, the price paid varying from $1.70 to $1.95 per pair. Forty-eight thousand had been sent to England in October, and none had been returned to Canada. The average cost of rations per day for the troops in barracks at Winnipeg was given at 27.74 cents per man.

The government has no information as to what Canadian military supplies were left behind when the Canadian troops recently sailed from England for the battle front. This knowledge was made to parliament when Hon. G. P. Graham called the attention to a press report that Canadian waggon, harness and Ross rifles had been left behind. Sir Robert said that the government had not been informed as to what original equipment the troops had left at Salisbury.

THINK ENGLAND WAS LATE.

Comment in Rome Regarding Poincare Letter.

Rome, Feb. 23.—The letters exchanged between President Poincare and King George on the eve of the war were published here yesterday, and were much commented on in political circles. Although Italy and Italians are almost entirely Anglophile, the opinion prevails that war perhaps would have been avoided if King George had followed the view of President Poincare who had a wonderfully exact vision of the situation.

It is now known positively that Germany, in pushing things to the extreme which caused the war, worked under the misapprehension that England, due to her insular isolation, would not join the war.

An important Italian politician, who has been several times a minister, speaking about the letters, concluded: "Poincare, therefore, was the only head of a state who, on July 31st, a few days before the opening of hostilities, had found the only remedy still existing to avoid war—namely, that France, England and Russia should officially secretary what they did afterwards, that they were united in the war and would continue so until the bitter end."

The Commerce Of Great Britain Leads the World

Washington, Feb. 23.—The value of water-borne commerce of the United States carried under the American flag in the fiscal year 1914 was $85,360,000; under the British flag $2,023,540,000, and under the German flag $522,137,000, according to figures given by secretary of commerce Redfield. For the period July to December, 1914, the proportion was as follows: American, $234,009,000; British, $872,581,000, and German, $50,803,000. Of the total for the first-named period 9.26 per cent, was carried under the American flag; 53.45 per cent, under the British flag, and 37.70 per cent, under the German flag. In the second-named period the percentage under the American flag increased to 14.09 per cent; that under the British flag decreased to 52.54 per cent, and that under the German flag decreased to 3.96 per cent.

TWO MANY BRITISH BORN

Among the Recruits in the Canadian Contingent. Montreal, Feb. 23.—A systematic campaign for the advancement of recruiting is to be undertaken by the Montreal Canadian Club, with a series of meetings throughout the province, at which the position of the empire in the present war, and Canada's duty in that connection, will be discussed. This will not be confined to the English-speaking districts, and the corps of speakers will include a number of French orators. The movement was started by the Canadian-born young men were not showing the spirit that had been expected with the result that an undue percentage of the troops leaving with the Canadian contingents were of British birth.

GERMAN SPIES IN U. S. ARMY.

British Vice-Consul at Denver Makes Interesting Discovery. Denver, Colo., Feb. 23.—Alfred Grebbin, British vice-consul in Denver, declared that William J. Behringer, alias William J. Davis, trooper in the 12th United States cavalry, is a German spy who recently tried to enlist in the British army. Grebbin's belief is that Behringer is only one of scores of German secret service men enlisted in the United States army, and declares Denver, like many other cities, is headquarters for German spies who are watching every purchase or enlistment by the British army.
