CHARGE WAS DISMISSED

YOUNG MAN WILLING TO PROVIDE FOR WIFE AND CHILD.

But Wife Declared to Magistrate That She Would Not Live With Him Again—Husband Placed Under Arrest at Brockville.

With a six-months-old baby in her arms, a young woman in the police court on Monday morning, accused her husband of deserting her, but after evidence was taken to Magistrate Farrell, it was shown that the wife did not want to live with her husband, and further she declared in the court room that she would not live with him. The magistrate dismissed the charge against the young man, who was arrested in Brockville by Constable Arnel on a warrant taken out by his father-in-law.

The evidence showed that the young man had left his home in this city on February 8th, but that he had left his wife well provided for. Two days after he left, his wife went to live with her parents.

D. A. Givens appeared on behalf of the accused, who stated that he had left home simply for a few days, as his wife had been quarrelling with him. He was quite willing to live with her and to support both her and the baby, but his wife said to the court: "no, I will not live with him again."

It was a sad picture. The husband was willing to go back with his wife, but she held aloof. The magistrate said that it was a case in which a settlement should be made and the two live together again. "For the sake of your child you should do so," remarked the court. But still the wife held off. She did not even care whether her husband provided for her or not.

MAN AND WIFE QUARREL

And Police Were Called To The Scene To Settle It.

On Saturday night about 8:40 o'clock, a man and his wife had a quarrel near the corner of Division and Pine streets. It got quite lively from time to time; in fact so lively that the neighbors were disturbed and a call was sent to the police station. Constables Nicholson and Jenkins hurried to the scene, but when they arrived the two trouble-makers had disappeared. Some person evidently gave them the tip that the police had been notified.

KINGSTON WON DEBATE

With Ottawa Collegiate At The Capital on Friday Evening.

The first annual inter-Collegiate Institute debate between Ottawa and Kingston took place at Ottawa Friday evening, Feb. 26th, in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute of that city. The subject was: "Resolved, that municipal ownership and operation of public utilities is desirable."

The affirmative was supported by Harold F. Farrar and Roy W. Belton, Kingston Collegiate Institute, the negative by Mr. Zanitz and Mr. Sykes, Ottawa Collegiate.

Mr. Farrar, the leader of the affirmative, treated the subject purely from a financial standpoint, showing how municipal ownership would improve civic conditions economically.

Mr. Belton, the second speaker of the affirmative, treated the subject from a political and social standpoint. He showed that much of civic corruption is due to public utilities corporations and that municipal ownership would do away with such conditions.

The Ottawa debaters laid most of their emphasis on the efficiency of public utilities corporations, and attempted to show that municipal ownership was too idealistic to be practicable.

AN OLD-TIME MEETING

Was Held By Evangelist Richard Irving.

Words can hardly describe the splendid and impressive influence which was felt in the stirring gospel meeting, held on Sunday evening, in Brock Street Hall.

It was one of those good old fashioned services where man's ruin and God's remedy were both faithfully told out in a good heart-to-heart talk. The attendance was good and Evangelist Richard Irving, if possible, excelled himself.

The meeting was opened with prayer and reading of the scriptures by F. G. Lockett, who also spoke briefly on the sufferings, death and triumphant resurrection of Jesus Christ. At the close many spoke of how helpful and instructive the whole service had been. Mr. Irving speaks again in Brock Street Hall Tuesday night.

Richardson-Taylor Wedding.

The Princess Street Methodist parsonage was the scene of a pleasant event Saturday evening, when Mrs. Margaret Taylor, Colborne street, and Richard Richardson, Victoria street, were united in marriage. Rev. H. E. Curry, pastor of Princess Street Methodist Church, performed the ceremony after which the happy couple were driven to the home of Mr. Richardson, Victoria street, brother of the groom, where they received the congratulations of a number of friends and relatives. After dinner had been served an impromptu programme was given and an enjoyable evening spent. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were well and favorably known in this city, and carry with them to their new home the best wishes of a large circle of friends. They will reside in one of the groom's houses on Victoria street.

A NONAGENARIAN DEAD

THE LATE JOHN MAYNARD, AGED NINETY-THREE.

One of Kingston's Oldest Residents Passed Away on Sunday Night—Other Deaths In The City.

John Maynard, aged ninety-three years, and five months, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John Friendship, 427 Albert street, on Sunday night, at eight o'clock, after an illness of two weeks. Old age was the cause of death. Until the last he was cheerful and resigned.

In the year 1821 the late Mr. Maynard was born at the little town of Croft, county Durham, England. At the time of his death he was ninety-three years and five months of age. He came to Kingston in 1844, crossing the Atlantic on a sailing vessel that took six weeks to make the voyage.

By occupation the deceased was a cabinet maker, and worked for years with Mr. Holgate, who had a cabinet and undertaking business at the corner of Sydenham and Princess streets, where the Kingston Steam Laundry is now located. Mr. Maynard married Mr. Holgate's daughter and then successfully carried on a cabinet business in a store opposite the present Y.M.C.A. corner, where Swift's wood yard now is. Many of the older residents will remember his store. He was a captain in the old city fire brigade when the engines were drawn by hand.

Many interesting episodes about the early history of the city were related to the Whig, but recently, Mr. Maynard delighted to tell how he remembered travelling behind the old wood-burning engines used in England, the road in many places being of the best quality of coal, of which they did not know the value.

To mourn his loss are one son and three daughters: John Maynard, Cape Vincent, N.Y.; Mrs. Hannahly Bowmanville, Wm. J. Friendship, Albert street, Kingston, and Mrs. W. Moore, also of this city. The funeral of the deceased will be held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Service will be held at the home by Rev. Douglas Loring, pastor of First Baptist Church, of which the deceased was a member.

The Late Mrs. James Scholes.

Mary Dillon, wife of James Scholes, passed away very suddenly of heart trouble at her late residence, 288 Queen street, at two o'clock Sunday morning, after retiring on Saturday night, apparently in the best of health.

The deceased was born in county Tyrone, Ireland, sixty-five years ago. At the age of four years she came to Canada, and for the greater part of her life resided in the neighborhood of Kingston, with the exception of seven years when her residence was in Michigan. All through her life the late Mrs. Scholes had been a devout Christian, and was connected with various branches of church work. Of late she was a member of the Holiness Movement Church on Division street.

The survivors are a husband, one son and seven daughters: Frank, Ponoka, Alta.; Mrs. S. J. Makin, Sun-
