

Try Our Better Clothes

Come here and unload all your clothes burdens. You needn't worry a bit if you buy your clothes here. We've done all the worrying for you. There were spring stuffs to select. We've done that.

There were spring styles to decide on. We've done that. There were trimmings to pick out. We've done that. There was the tailoring to look after, and lots of little style kinks and things to see to that couldn't escape. We've looked after all of them.

Now all is plain sailing for you. The prices were also taken into consideration and made favorable to you.

You'll travel a long journey if you start out to find better spring overcoats or suits at $15.00 and $18.00 than you can find right here to-day.

THE ENEMY IN GALICIA STEADILY PRESSED BACK

(Special to the Whig.)

Petrograd, March 5.—The Austro-German army at one stage of the East Galicia campaign actually threatened the Dniester River, crossing Halitz in their march to Lemberg, the war office admitted for the first time to-day, but this menace has been removed. The Austrians were in superior force in the fighting earlier in the week. By a series of forced marches, the right wing of the army under Archduke Joseph Ferdinand crossed the stream leading into the Dniester north of Stanislaw.

From Jezupol south along the line leading east of Stanislaw, and then along the Stanislaw-Nadworne railway, the East Galicia battle continues for twenty miles, with the enemy being steadily pressed back.

Elsewhere in Galicia and in the Carpathians fighting, the czar's troops are on the offensive.

BRITISH TROOPS CERTAIN AUTUMN WILL END WAR

British Headquarters in France, March 4, (via London).—Frederick Palmer, who is at the front for the Associated Press, sends the following:

One is impressed with the immensity of the British resources, the numbers of motor trucks and the completeness and thoroughness of all the equipment. All food and all supplies are brought from England, while the French shops are thriving on the English luxuries which they sell to the troops.

The British artillery fire, which was weaker early in the campaign, now is stronger all along the line than that of the Germans. Once the correspondents were permitted to visit the British line everybody talked with perfect frankness concerning the operations and instead of the late starts and long lunches, dinners and other functions which characterize such tours, they are usually awakened at 6.30 o'clock in the morning and kept going until 8 at night with the first aid packages served out at the breakfast table.

One might think from the appointments there had been no expectation except for a long war, but the universal opinion is that the fall will see victory and the end.

The thin line which held in the defense of the canal ports is deep now.

One is surprised at the excellence of the aeroplane service, when it is realized that the corps is only three years old. This is not due to the superior flying of the British aviators, but to the thoroughness of their equipment and mechanical department and the prodigality of the expenditure for all necessary assistance and resources.

War Tidings.

A British soldier was killed by a lion, according to the latest casualty list from German East Africa.

Every house in Przasnysz is filled with German wounded. Dismal scenes greeted the Russians on regaining the town after three days in the enemy's hands.

"C" Squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, Toronto, landed at Queens-town, Ireland on Thursday.

Driver Norman Lawless died in military hospital at Le Mans, from fever. He was from Toronto and was with the 2nd Field Co., Divisional Engineers.

Admitted to French hospital at Ste. Nazaire, on Feb. 11th, Robert Arthur Selbert, with meningitis. His home was in Berlin, Ont.

Captain Norman Victor Leslie, Hamilton, was admitted to No. 11 Stationary Hospital, March 1st with diphtheria.

A German submarine pursued the British hospital ship Saint Andrew on the latter's trip across the English Channel, but the hospital ship increased its speed to twenty-five knots and escaped.

SULTAN IN FLIGHT FROM HIS CAPITAL

Panic Reigns Among Young Turks Whose Leaders Prepare to Leave.

London, March 5.—The Athens correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports that news has been received there to the effect that the Sultan has left Constantinople.

"Panic is reigning among the Young Turks and their leaders are preparing to leave the city before it becomes too dangerous to remain," the despatch continues.

"It is generally supposed that the reported return of Enver Pasha to his command in the Caucasus and the departure of Djemal Pasha for Berlin are both ruses intended to cover their timely departure from the coming storm.

"Great unrest seems to prevail through all Stamboul, particularly among the lower classes of the population.

"The decision of the Allies to force the Dardanelles has caused a remarkable change in public sentiment in Greece. The pending fall of Constantinople has electrified the nation. A memorandum containing the views of the government on the situation and setting forth the reasons on which they are based has been submitted to the king to enable him to form a definite opinion as to what course to pursue in the event of the fall of the Turkish capital."

NO DECISION REACHED.

Special To The Whig. Ottawa, March 5.—The question of giving the vote to soldiers in the event of an election occupied the attention of the committee on election laws this morning. While the committee felt that the right of voting should be extended to every soldier under arms the general consensus of opinion seems to be that there was really no practical method by which this could be arranged for. No decision was arrived at.

All Agree Boots Were Unfit.

It is reported that members of the army inquiry committee are preparing the evidence received from the witnesses at headquarters in connection with the supply of boots to the second contingent. These reports were made at Halifax, September 10th, 1914, and were made at Ottawa, August 10th, 1914, and were made at Ottawa, August 10th, 1914, and were made at Ottawa, August 10th, 1914.

HAD VERDICT EARLIER

That the jury in the York murder trial had decided upon the acquittal of Dr. C. K. Robinson at the time they were called back by the judge, on the request of Mr. Robbette, counsel for the accused, is the information given the Whig from a reliable source. It is stated that at the time the call was sent for the jury to come back, a vote for acquittal had been recorded, and that all that was lacking in the work of the jury was that of affixing the signatures. This part was carried out after the jurors returned to their room, but by the time all the signatures were secured and the document made ready for presentation, the court had adjourned. The verdict was rendered shortly after the court resumed its session in the afternoon.
