The record figures associated with the recent season (January) meeting have encouraged the A.R.C. to face the situation boldly, with the result that the programmes have been passed. Statements made last night in quarters identified with major league baseball that the National and American Leagues had put $50,000 at the disposal of the International League, as a loan to help it out of its troubles brought about by Federal League invasions of its territory, were denied in a statement given out at International headquarters in New York yesterday. Secretary William J. Manley signed the statement, which read: "Advised Harrow, president of the International League, wired to headquarters here to-day from Buffalo denying that the major leagues had given $50,000, or any other amount, to the International League."

No comment was made on the other feature of the report of last night, that assurances of help from the big leagues had been received by the International, and that the aid would in part take the shape of payment of portions of the salaries of players sent by American and National League clubs to the International League.

In further reply to the O.H.A. protest against the Mackenzie brothers of the Melville team in the matter of eligibility for Allan cup contests, Claude Robinson has wired Secretary Hewitt, of the O.H.A., the following: "President Taylor and the secretary (C. C. Robinson) of the C.A.H.A. rule that the O.H.A. champions, Toronto, Victorias, have no claim on the Allan cup, except to play for it as they were drawn to play, having first chance. They are ordered to play Melville as that team stands to-day. "The O.H.A. objects to the Mackenzie brothers of the Melville team on the (three months) residence clause made at the organization meeting of the C.A.H.A., December 6th, 1914, at Ottawa. The clause is not retroactive, and as the two Mackenzie brothers were in Melville at that time and qualified under the laws of the Saskatchewan A.H.A., a member of the C.A.H.A., they are eligible for Allan cup games. Therefore, Toronto Victorias must play against Melville or default. "The dates in view for the Toronto Melville series were Saturday and Monday, March 6th and 8th. The dates for Monarchs vs. winners of Edmonton-British Columbia are Friday and Monday, March 5th and 8th. Thus the boards would be cleared by March 8th for the final series in Mel-
