SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR
 Soap should be used very sparingly. If at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless). It's cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.
 One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.
 You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SENIOR CITY LEAGUE FINAL GAME WAS A TIE.

Iroquois and Maple Leafs Each Scoring Three Goals — Collegiate Defeated Victorias For the Junior Championship.

The senior City Hockey League final championship match ended in one of the biggest disputes that has occurred on the local rink in years. The contestants for the silverware were Maple Leafs and Iroquois, and at the conclusion of full time the score was 3 to 3. However, just as the gong sounded, Rea, Iroquois' centre player, landed a goal over which the argument resulted. H. Toland and E. Ryan were time-keepers and the former reached for the chain to ring but missed it, and instead "Nick" Pappas, who was standing behind him rang the gong. E. Ryan, the other time-keeper, said the time was not up, that there were still three seconds to play when the bell was sounded that stopped the game. A hot discussion ensued, and attempts were made among certain officials to fight. The referee, H. Ferguson, and other officials retired to the office to thrash the matter out. The referee said when the gong sounded the puck was not in the net. The gong signal is given him to ring his bell, which he did, and by that time the rubber was just entering the net. The time-keepers' versions were again submitted. H. Toland showing his watch to be upon the time of full time. The rule book was resorted to, but to no avail, and finally Edward McCammon, vice-president of the league, gave his consent to play five minutes overtime each way. Joseph O'Brien, president, would not give any dispute and thereby terminated the clash.

The game was a very fast one, and although Iroquois would go in the lead at intervals, Maple Leafs would come back strong and even matters up. Corrihan for the latter aggregation was about the hardest player on the ice, with E. Little following close behind him in very effective work. The former was instrumental for two goals, the last of which was scored while Corrihan was lying upon his chest on the ice, but he poked the rubber through.

Instead of Godfrey being on the wing for Maple Leafs, a new player, Connell, was substituted. Holdman in goal was very vigilant and warding off several shots. "Tommy" Angrove was also a star player for Maple Leafs, and broke through quite often, giving V. Kane, Iroquois' goaltender, all he bargained for.

In the first period the scoring was done by Rea, for Iroquois, in five minutes, which was followed in fourteen minutes by Stewart, for the same team. Maple Leafs then obtained their first goal by a rebound after scratching off. Corrihan tied the score by placing in another for Maple Leafs in sixteen minutes. The final score of this period went to Rea, for Iroquois, making the score 3 to 2 in favor of the latter team.

Six and a half minutes play in the second period enabled Corrihan to tie the score, 3 to 3. Then came the goal that caused the dispute when time was up. The teams: Maple Leafs—Goal, Holdman; defense, Yelawley, Gunn; rover, Angrove; centre, E. Little; wings, Corrihan, Godfrey. Iroquois—Goal, V. Kane; defense, H. Nicholson, V. Nicholson; rover, E. Blakey; centre, N. Rea; wings, R. Boyer, H. Stewart. Referee—H. Ferguson.

The referee decided that the Maple Leafs vs. Iroquois senior championship match on Thursday night was a tie, and a meeting has been called for Saturday night to decide what course will be taken. It is expected that the game will be replayed. Last year a similar thing happened when Queen's played McGill, and the referee, "Bourne" Frouse, called the game a tie. Again this year the tie happened at Berlin, when the gong sounded just before the last goal was scored. Referee H. Ferguson could, therefore, not do otherwise but give a like decision. His refereeing was good from start to finish, not an off-side escaping his eye.

Collegiate Won Junior Honors.
 The Junior City Hockey League championship was won by K.C.I. on Thursday night, by the score 4 to 1, the team trouncing Victorias, winners of group "A."

The first half of the game was quite evenly contested, G. Cruise scoring for K.C.I. in eight minutes and W. Elmer in twenty-two minutes for Victorias. Neither aggregation let out much in this period and reserved all energy for the last half. About conclusion of the first period "Jerry" Somerville, one of Victorias' players, was knocked out in a collision. His eye was badly swollen and for the remainder of the game he could not play.

The second half saw Victorias' finish, for K.C.I. landed three goals while the former did not secure a tally. In two minutes' play A. Cruise landed a sure one, which was followed one minute later by J. Ryan, who, again, in thirty-eight minutes, made K.C.I.'s final tally, making the score 4 to 1.
 W. Nickle was on the job all the time for K.C.I. as well as A. Cruise and M. Abernethy. Between these skaters Victorias were kept guessing. However, the latter had good selective players in S. Hall, P. Decker and Elmer, who, if Somerville had not been injured, might have given K.C.I. a much closer run for the honors. The teams:
 K.C.I.—Goal, S. Toland; defense, J. Evans, W. Nickle; rover, A. Cruise; centre, M. Abernethy; wings, J. Cooke, G. Cruise.
 Victorias—Goal, Kelly; defense, Hall, Decker; rover, Somerville.

THE ENGLISH WALNUT.

Its Cultivation is One of Canada's Youngest Industries.

The Persian walnut, commonly called the English walnut, was named "Nut of the Gods," 1900 years ago, by the Romans, and by them was distributed throughout southern Europe, where descendants of these original trees are now standing — some of them more than a thousand years old — lasting monuments to the men who conquered these countries. In many places these same trees are producing a large part of the total income. English walnut timber is very valuable, having a handsome grain and being unusually heavy, so heavy, in fact, that the green wood will not float in water. The wood is used in the manufacture of gunstock and furniture, having a greater value than mahogany. Single trees have been known to sell for more than $3,000. Realizing the importance of having a home supply of English walnut trees, France passed a law in 1720 prohibiting the exportation of the timber.

The Romans did not neglect England; for as a result of their invasion, many of these fine trees, hundreds of years old, are scattered along the roads and drives in every part of the country. Some are nearly a hundred feet high with a spread of more than a hundred feet and bearing thousands of nuts for their owners every year. One tree is reported to be more than a thousand years old and to produce more than 100,000 nuts a year, being a chief factor in the support of five families. In England, by the way, it is customary to eat the fresh nuts, after the removal of the outer skin, with wine, the two dainties being served together.

The Germans, also, were quick to discover the great intrinsic value to their country of these trees, and very early formed the habit of planting a young English walnut tree to take the place of one which for any reason had been cut down.

Experts say there is no good reason why this country should not raise, at least, enough English walnuts for our own needs, and even export a few million dollars' worth of them.

As an ornamental tree the English walnut is unsurpassed. It has a light bark and dark green foliage which remains until late in the fall, being shed with the nuts in October and never during the summer. It also is an exceptionally clean tree and beautifully shaped, so far as a tree has never been preyed upon by the San Jose scale or any other insect pest. This freedom from scale is attributed to the peculiar alkal sap of the tree.

The demand for this nut is increasing rapidly, as its great food value is constantly becoming better known. Its meat contains many times more nutriment than the same amount of beef steak.

The price is keeping pace with the demand, the growers now receiving three times as much for a pound of nuts as they got a few years ago when they were producing only a tenth of the present output.

Thus it may be seen that the planting of English walnut trees not only is an exceedingly lucrative venture for the present generation, but it means the conferring of a priceless boon upon the generations to come. Some places are considering the advisability of planting after the custom in England and Germany, where practically all the walnuts are distributed along the drives or serve as ornamental shade trees upon the lawns. There is one avenue in Germany which is bordered on both sides for ten miles by enormous English walnut trees which meet in the centre, thus forming a beautiful covered lane and at the same time yielding hundreds of dollars' worth of nuts each season.

Besides the demand for the English walnut as a table and confectionery delicacy, they are often used for pickles, catsup and preserves, and in France many tons a year are made into oil, furnishing a splendid substitute for olive oil.

A Mighty Armada.

In order to gain an idea of the size of the mightiest armada that ever crossed the Atlantic, 32 transport ships loaded with troops from Canada going to aid the Mother Country, Canadians will be interested to read the following details regarding the fleet:

Hedged about with grim warships, fore, aft and alongside, the 32 steel gray transports steamed in triple line, headed by the cruiser Diana. The right file of ships was led by the Florida, carrying Newfoundland soldiers. The British contingent, 11 ships, the middle file of 10 ships was headed by the Laurentic, while the left file of 11 ships was headed by the Royal George.

Thus day after day the ships steamed in regular line, a space about two miles intervening between the transports in file.

The right flank was constantly guarded by the battleship cruiser Princess Royal and the left by the battleship Gledits. The rear was constantly guarded by three cruisers, H. M. S. Eclipse, H. M. S. Talbot and H. M. S. Charley.
