Is it not remarkable how some tes

merchants reduce the quality of their teas in sympathy with the rising markets? Admittedly the auction prices of teas on the London, Calcutta and Colombo markets have risen to an extraordinary level and there seems little respite ahead Nevertheless, we will continue to supply the public with the same high standard of quality that they have learned to rely upon in Salada pack ets. Salada has always been kept "up to a standard" and never "down to a price" and we will never depart from this principle which has earned us such appreciation. If market prices make it impossible to supply Salada at present prices then the cos to the retailer and consumer must go up .- The Salada Tea Co. in the "Canadian Grocer."

AT THE GRAND

Wednesday.

Next Wednesday will be "Jubilee Day" at the Grand Opera House when Gus Hill's gorgeous production of George McManus's famous cartoon play "Bringing up Father" visits your city. Everywhere it has been pronounced the best musical comedy of the season; not alone in words, but box office records have been established unapproached by any other attraction. All of this is indisputable evidence of real merit in the play which should appeal to you as it has to millions of other people, whom it has pleased. "Bringing Up Father" comes to the Grand on Wed-

NO TRUTH IN REPORT

That Diet of Rockwood Patients Had Been Reduced.

A very prominent citizen informed the Whig that he understood the food supply of the patients of Rockwood asylum had been very materially reduced by the Provincial Government, and that there was a good deal of indignation over it. The Whig queried the authorities at Rockwood and found that the reports was incorrect. The assistant superpatients were getting more and ber-ter food than they did before. There-had been absolutely no reduction in the diet, he declared. It seems that there are now domes-
