BETTING BECAME EVEN

ON THE JOHNSON - WILLARD FIGHT AT HAVANA.

Many of the Sporting Fraternity Thought Willard Would Win Because of His Strength and Johnson's Disposition. Havana, April 5.—A sensational spurt of betting on to-day's world's championship bout brought a change in odds on Saturday to favor Jess Willard. The prevailing figures were six to five on the Kansas cowboy's winning Friday night quotations of 7 to 5, with Johnson on the good end, veered suddenly around to even money.

In a specially constructed arena, inside the race course at Miramar, Jess Willard, formerly a Kansas cowboy, this afternoon will take up the white man's burden. The young giant—he's well over six feet tall and weighs 243 pounds—will fight against Jack Johnson in a 45-round battle for the heavyweight championship of the world. Not since James J. Jeffries, once the unbeatable, met and was conquered by the black title-holder at such interest in pugilistic combat as has been evinced in this struggle. A strongly-rooted faith in the minds of a great many persons that this time the big black has met his match is the chief cause of so much interest.

On every side one hears the opinion expressed that Willard stands the best chance of beating Johnson that any of his opponents has had. Johnson isn't the great fighter that he was when he wrestled the title from little "Tommy" Burns, nor even when he crushed the shell that once was the mighty James J. Jeffries. His ray life—wine parties, joy riding, and the like—has stamped its effect on him. Shrewd trainers, men who knew when fighters are in condition by looking at them, usually shook their heads after watching Johnson work, as though they believed there was something wrong. The snap wasn't there. The big black didn't glide around with the speed that he once showed.

Willard is no match for Johnson on straight ability. Even the white man's most ardent admirers admit that. But his youth is being counted on to triumph over Johnson's age. It is freely admitted that the actions of the referee will have a great deal to do with the outcome of the battle. No matter in how poor shape he is, Johnson, if allowed to stall and hold as he has in most of his past fights, may stick the 45 rounds with Willard. The white man's chance to beat the negro lies in his fighting at long range. If Johnson, can keep clinching and hold out in the clinches Willard's chances will dwindle accordingly.

Gananoque

April 5.—There was quite a fair attendance at market on Saturday, both of buyers and sellers and very little if any alteration in the schedule of prices for the past few weeks.

The Board of Trade during the past week, through the efforts of the committee appointed for the purpose in a partial canvass of the town, mainly the merchants, added $203.25 to its donation at last month's meeting which was $120. This makes the handsome sum of $323.25 for the work of the local Red Cross Society.

The sale on Thursday under the auspices of the ladies of the Red Cross Society, in a special effort to raise $50 to establish a bed for Gananoque in the Duchess of Connaught Hospital at Cliveden, Eng., far surpassed all expectations, the sum of $122.01 being realized.

The Gananoque Canoe and Motor Boat Association has arranged to hold an "At Home" at the club house on Tuesday evening, 12th inst. Work has been started on the new double tenement house at the corner of Main and St. Lawrence street on the property recently purchased by Capt. D. J. Kenney of the Yennick. The building is to be of cement blocks. Miss Vera Berry, teacher of the rural school at S. S. No. 2, Front of Leeds and Lansdowne, is spending her vacation in town with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Berry, North street. Special programmes in keeping with the Easter-tide were furnished in all the town churches yesterday.

Ensign Richardson, Montreal, a former officer in charge of the Salvation Army Corps, conducted the services on Saturday evening and throughout yesterday. Miss Agnes Johnston, Queen's University, Kingston, is holidaying here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Rogers, King street. Robin Grey, of the staff of the London branch of the Bank of Toronto, is spending the holiday season with local friends. Lloyd Wilson has resumed his duties in the Merchants Bank of this town after enjoying two weeks vacation at his home in Athens.

Letters to the Editor

The World's Wheat Production. Kingston, April 5.—(To the Editor): I differ with T. T. Reuton about the prospects of next wheat crop when Mr. Reuton says he expects there will be a reduction of 50 per cent. in the production of the countries at war. Take the precedent of the Balkan war when though more of the land was in the immediate war zone, there was a reduction of but 20 per cent. in the production of grain. With every available acre planted to grain in every country this year, including a 30 per cent. increase in America, there is a possibility of very large supplies. The high prices this year were not wholly on account of the war. There was a combination of a partial crop failure and the tying up of the Russia supplies. James H. Hill, the railroad king of the Northwest looks for normal prices for the crop of 1915.—CITIZEN.

MANY GERMANS BACKWARD

In Shooting To Kill—Are Of English Descent. Allan Shea, son of John Shea, Barrie street, with the First Contingent writes to his cousin in Scranton, Pa., that many of the Germans are of English descent and are backward in shooting to kill. He continues: "At present we are up in the main firing line; to be more accurate, we are situated a couple of miles from the lines proceeding up to the firing trench at night and returning to the billet in the early hours of the morning. We engineers do all our work in the dark as you know it is very dangerous. For instance, often we have to go out between our lines and those of the Germans to put up barbed-wire entanglements. This is very dangerous work, due to the fact that the German lines are in places only thirty yards away from our own. The least sound can be heard, and they get their snipers and machine gunners. The other night we were repairing our own trenches and one of the infantry was amusing us with cornet solos. At the end of each solo we could hear the Germans cheering and clapping their hands for more. These Germans, however, are very much English in descent, and are therefore a little backward in shooting to kill. At Christmas they actually came across to our trenches to exchange greetings and cigars for mackinac rations. After inspecting our trenches they invited our boys over to theirs and then had their pictures taken together."

Napanee

April 5.—The spring rush of fish has commenced. There was brought in from Hay Bay, two tons and a half of fish Saturday and shipped to New York. Charles Gilmet, a Montreal horse buyer, shipped a carload of fine horses from Napanee to Montreal on Saturday.

Elie Anierion, Ottawa, formerly of the Dominion Bank staff here, is spending Easter with friends in town. F. VanLoven left Saturday night on a business trip to Montreal. Frederick Deere, Merchants' Bank staff, is visiting Yarker. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of George Wells, formerly night porter at the Campbell House, for theft of a purse containing $50.00. Some small change, from one of the girls employed in the hotel. He was seen going to the station at midnight Friday. Messages were sent east and west, for his apprehension, and on Saturday afternoon Chief Graham received word that he had been arrested at Brockville, but on going down there the chief found it was not Wells, but another man whom the Brockville police had arrested.

Mrs. Black, Striving, is visiting for the Easter holidays, with Mr. and Mrs. Egan, of Metcalfe. The Napanee Red Cross Society held a sale in the town hall on Saturday of cooked and uncooked food. Tea was served from three to six o'clock. The Society is aiming to donate six beds in the Duchess of Connaught Canadian Red Cross Hospital at Cliveden, Buckinghamshire, England. The beds will cost about $50 each and will be named after the donors. Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanAlstine and baby, St. Catharines, are visiting friends in town. Special Easter services were conducted in all the churches on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. In the Grace Methodist Church in the evening a special service was conducted, which was the climax of the four weeks' evangelistic services carried out by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Cragg. About 130 men, women and children were publicly received into the membership of the church. Not Unsettled sleet and rain to-night and on Tuesday.
