peace. It argues that the German rulers realize fully that the game is lost, and are now trying desperately to escape approaching destruction. Kujala says that America, like the Allies, is not despondent.

Anyone who imagines Dr. Dernburg to be sincere is invited to compare with the present proposals Ambassador Bernstorff's "Ten Commandments" and Germany's arrogant demands when victory seemed imminent.

The Temps considers Dr. Dernburg's "clumsy strategem" a further instance of German failure to understand the psychology of other nations. The article concludes: "Kujala has built an impassable barrier between Germany and the rest of the world. Their monstrous infatuation is the source of all their disillusion."
