TRAINING AT THE CAMP

WILL BE LIKE A TUAL WARFARE IN EUROPE.

It Will Be Carried On From Directions Written By Officers On the Battlefield In France and Belgium.

The 14th Regiment has received orders to continue recruiting men for overseas service so that as large a number as possible may be obtained before the rainy season at Barrfield on May 15th. There are still large numbers of men who wish to volunteer for overseas service, and this is a splendid opportunity, as they will receive their training at camp. The military authorities have decided that the training at the camp will be altogether different from that of former years. The conditions at the front have been reported to the local office by means of notes written by officers on the field. The best way of overcoming the difficulties to be met with will be tried out.

In former years it has been the custom as part of the programme for an officer to draw up a plan of operation for one unit for tank and these were closely followed out. With such a large number of men in training two forces can always be engaged against each other and the plans of either will be known only to the officers of that side and the referees.

The trench method of warfare will be thoroughly tried out and instruction given as to the best rife possible. Instead of the old rife practice at the ranges where time was of no importance, the men at Barrfield camp will be taught that a good rifleman must be able to shoot accurately, bunching his shots and also firing quickly. Experienced officers say that a good marksman who can keep his shots as close as possible is better after a little practice than one who can by the old method make more points with the shots closer to the bull-eyes but scattered in different directions.

The 7th Artillery Brigade which consists of the 25th Battery and Ammunition Column and the 26th Battery, Kingston, will be a great help in the training of the infantry. This brigade with the 8th Regiment C.M.R. and the 2,000 infantrymen completes all branches of the service, and it is the purpose of the officers in command to have plans worked out in which all will be engaged.

After Her Millions. It's here! "After Her Millions," the comedy riot that ever was permitted to escape from a producing studio. It's all jammed into three reels—three reels of hilarious fun. Three reels of farce—farce which makes one choke and gasp in a vain effort to give expression to the laughter which runs over while Billie Ritchie, Pathe Lehmann and Gertrude Selby are on the screen.

Don't miss seeing these three big stars in the greatest laugh producer ever turned out, at the Ideal Theatre Friday and Saturday.

WANTS A DIVORCE. German Prisoner-of-War Husband of Kingston Young Woman.

Karl Kessler, a German prisoner-of-war now in F. Henry, has written a letter to American Consul F. S. S. Johnston, saying that if he is to be kept a prisoner until the end of the war he wants a divorce from his wife because she is a Canadian. Kessler married a young woman of this city about six weeks ago, and then left for Napanee "in search of work." He was arrested in Napanee because of his suspicious actions and he has been a constant source of trouble to the authorities. He first contended that he was a Canadian and was naturalized at Quebec about 1904. The authorities searched the records as far back as 1891 and no man of that name was recorded as being naturalized.

In his letter about a divorce from his wife Kessler states that should he be released and allowed to live with his better-half he would not seek a separation, but under present circumstances he does not want to have any connection with anything Canadian.
