VOICE OF THE PULPIT

GENERAL ASSEMBLY MINISTERS
PREACHED ON SUNDAY.

Principal Dyde in Chalmers, Rev. W. H. Sedgwick, Hamilton in St. Andrew's, and Rev. Dr. Sinclair, Winnipeg, in Cooke's.

Principal Dyde, Robertson, College, Edmonton, Alta., conducted the whole service during morning worship at Chalmers Church. The subject discussed in his sermon was the duty of the strong, his text being Rom. xv, 1: "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves."

He said that the apostle in these words concludes an argument regarding eating meat sacrificed to idols. Paul took the ground that weak consciences were not to be scoffed at. Because they were admitted to be weak, they should receive special consideration from the strong. On the other hand, they were not to be flattered. It was the duty of the weak to become strong, and were to be assisted by the encouragement and sympathy of those who were able to raise them up.

There have been two false views regarding the unit. One that they were the legitimate prey of the mighty. The Greeks taught that right is power; it was a coward who felt a tender conscience. To them the only wrong was failure. But great thinkers have always repudiated this view of life. They have taught that our duty was to trust one another, if when men do not stand together they cease to be human. Suspicion and treachery are a shame to the race; love and mercy are its honors. The other false view is that the strong have no obligation whatever to the weak. Let them alone. Every living thing is in a struggle for existence. If it survives, well; if not, well. Hand off all around. The poor were meant to be poor and die, for the world should not be filled with incapables. But even our best biologists repudiate this doctrine to-day. It violates the very instincts of manhood. To act in this manner would be to be haunted by our own remorse. We must throw out a rope to the sinking. Life means sociality and sacrifice. The strong must include the weak. Such views are therefore false, but who are the strong?

In the last analysis, they are not the brutal, but spiritual. Better be a physical cripple than a moral weakling. They who bear burdens are strong, however weak they may be. They struggle on in life, clinging to the words of Jesus that if we would be great we must be servants of all. We must make the cause of the weak our own, though we have the craps hanging on our door.

Rev. W. H. Sedgwick, B.D., Hamilton, nephew of the venerable Dr. Sedgwick, officiated in St. Andrew's Church at the evening service. Preaching from the text: "Apart from the shedding of blood there is nothing," Hebrews ix, 22, he unfolded the topic—the way of the red cross. He said the saviours of humanity have all walked the road of the red cross. The word to bleed means in the old English dialect to shed blood. That is, before we can be a blessing some virtue must go out of us. Jesus Christ is the supreme example of this, but every reformer and statesman must deny themselves. And mothers die daily that their offspring may live. The way of the red cross is the only path by which men can come to God. This does not violate the evangelical doctrine of the cross of Christ. For the Saviour spoke of His cross and ours. Just as in Flanders, a hospital of wounded was saved by making a red cross flag out of a sheet, with bandages of blood sewed on. So by the crimson of our own life blood do we come to God. Thus everyone who walks this way finds himself among the redeemed.

Our soldiers are offering themselves. How they must read with new meaning the story of Christ's voluntary entrance among us. He had no place to lay His head, as they have none. There was Gethsemane for Him, and great human sorrow for them. A day came when it meant certain death on Calvary, as their call is also to face the gates of death. Thus better than a thousand books they see the principle that all through life there is the cross. And every one who in the spirit of Jesus Christ has been a sacrifice for his fellow men will find his place in the family of God.

At Cooke's Church
"What we need to-day, to bring unity and power into the church, is that we should realize the great task that is before us," said Rev. A. G. Sinclair, Ph.D., Winnipeg, one of the delegates to the Presbyterian General Assembly, preaching in Cooke's Church, Sunday morning.

"We cannot get along without a creed, but it is not the creed that makes for unity. Just look at the English, French, Furks, Hindus and Bohemians all lined up at the front. What brings them together? Nothing but the one common task, and this has brought them together as nothing else would.

The speaker referred to the words in Matthew, chapter II, 9: "The star stood over where the young child was," dealing with the story of the wise men who followed the star. We should see life as it is. In the present great war we should see the struggle, with all its honors but on the other side we should see the star in the battlefield. We should remember that there are worse wars, and something worse than death. As regards the social evil of drink, we are beginning to see the star above it. To-day, it was a very easy matter to take the temperance stand, for it was the popular ride. But we refused to take the early days, in which the temperance work was to bear the brunt of the fight. To-day, a star of hope was rising above the trouble.

"This is a great day in which we live. Men talk about the collapse of the church. This war does not show the collapse of the church. It is not the spirit of the church which has collapsed."

The speaker said he was grieved to read in a newspaper, a statement that a certain Bishop in the old country had refused to give up drinking wine, stating that he was afraid his health would break down. There was no sacrifice too great for the men in the trenches. "There are things in the church which cause our hearts to bleed," remarked the speaker in referring to the case of the Bishop.

Assembly Communion Service.
The Assembly communion service was celebrated in Grant Hall at 4.15 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The moderator, Rev. Dr. Macmillan, presided. The pre-communion prayer was given by Rev. Dr. Neil, Toronto, the prayer of consecration by Rev. Principal Seringer, Montreal, and the post-communion address by Rev. Dr. McLeod, Barrie. The psalm, Rev. Dr. McLeod, Barrie, 423 and 419 were sung. Rev. S. J. M. Compton pronounced the Benediction.

Calvary Church.
This church was privileged to have Assembly speakers at both services on Sabbath. In the morning Rev. T. W. Goodwill Keen, Toronto, presided. The pre-communion prayer was given by Rev. Dr. Neil, Toronto, the prayer of consecration by Rev. Principal Seringer, Montreal, and the post-communion address by Rev. Dr. McLeod, Barrie. The psalm, Rev. Dr. McLeod, Barrie, 423 and 419 were sung. Rev. S. J. M. Compton pronounced the Benediction.

Letters Appreciated.
Letters received from boys at the front or in the various training camps are of great interest to the citizens generally. The Whig will be glad to receive for publication any and all such letters. Personal matter will, of course, be omitted, and letters returned promptly to those to whom they are addressed. Letters received by our readers in the country make interesting reading for the friends and relatives of the soldiers. When such are sent in they will be promptly returned.

PONIES DEFEATED VICTORIAS
BY 9 TO 7

And Regiopols Won From Sapolios By 10 to 6.—Ryan of Regiopols Had His Nose Broken.

In the senior game of the City Baseball League on Saturday afternoon at the cricket field, Ponies defeated Victorias by 9 to 7.

Both teams were pretty evenly matched. Exceptional heavy batting in the third innings gave Victorias two runs. D. Pound went to the bat first and his father, who was an old time ball player and who hardly ever misses a game, yelled to the batter to show what his father used to do. The first ball thrown was struck fair and square and sent down the Cricket Field to within a short distance of Park Avenue and West streets, for a home run hit. Somerville the next batter almost repeated the trick, but not being as fast a runner he could make no more than a two-bagger. However, H. Dick brought Somerville home.

Ponies retaliated by Walsh and Toland securing two more runs placing them one in the lead at the end of the third innings. A double play was pulled off in the fourth inning by Victorias. J. Evans made a home run hit, scoring Daily. Victorias tried to even the score but the best they could do was to secure a run by Somerville in the eighth innings. This player drove the ball for a two base hit and was brought home by G. Dick.

Regiopols 10; Sapolios 6.
The junior game played in the City Baseball League between Regiopols and Sapolios went to the former by the score 10 to 6. A lamentable incident of this clash was that Ryan, the catcher for Regiopols, had his nose slightly broken by one of Sapolios' players running home and bumping into him. Ryan had to go to the Hotel Dieu. Briceland replaced him. H. Kelly was umpire.

Regiopols—Fowler, P; Ryan and Briceland, C; Daly, 1b; Madden, 2b; Millan, S.S.; Cook, 3b; Ashworth, L.F.; Kane, C.F.; McConville, R.F.

World-Wide Popularity of Tea.
"In the tea trade there is much talk of enormous increases in the drinking of tea everywhere since the war began. Russia, already a large consumer of tea, is taking more and more to the beverage, now that vodka is banned. In France, tea is beginning to threaten the supremacy of coffee. The greater demand means higher prices in our households, especially as there is said to be no corresponding increase in the supply. Dealers are naturally uneasy as to the position."—London, Eng., "Times," 24th April.

Toiled Stones Off the Track.
On Sunday afternoon when Melville Robinson, who resides on Princess street, was driving in the vicinity of Collin's Bay, he went to cross the railway tracks on the first crossing east of that point. To his astonishment he beheld four large boulders placed upon the track, two on each rail. Realizing the danger that might be incurred if he let them stay, Mr. Robinson spent considerable of his energy rolling them into the ditch. Mr. Robinson stated to the Whig that the stones would weigh from seventy-five to one hundred pounds.

RELAY MOTOR CYCLE RACE
From London to Ottawa was held on Saturday.

Bearing a message from Mayor Jackson, Windsor, to the Minister of Militia, at Ottawa, a corps of motor-cycle riders left London at 4 a.m. Saturday. The race was carried out in five relays, Windsor to London, to Toronto, to Trenton, to Kingston, to Ottawa. Although three men left Toronto, only one, Edwards, reached Trenton. Here the message was relayed immediately. Percy A. McBride, a Toronto man, left Trenton at 4.40 p.m., and arrived in Kingston, over the sixty-three miles, at 6.20 p.m. These, after being signed by A. E. Treadgold, were handed to F. W. Sylvan, Smith's Falls. Harry Stinson, a Trenton mail-carrier, left Trenton at 4.40 p.m., and delivered mail on his twenty-two miles of a mail route, reached here twenty minutes after McBride, and accompanied Sylvan to Ottawa. The relay lost one hour and a half on the first 120 miles, but afterwards an average of thirty-six miles an hour was kept up.
