RATIONS OF TROOPS AT BARRIEFIELD CAMP

The Allowance Given to Each Soldier.

TWO 8TH OFFICERS HAVE BEEN MARRIED WITHIN PAST FEW DAYS

Twelve Military Police To Assist the City Police—Kingston Is Not Giving Its Share of Recruits To The New Battalion.

The great problem of feeding the soldiers in camp is one of interest to everyone. Col. Biggar, Ottawa, is responsible for the invention of the system...

The daily ration allowed the Canadian soldier by the Government is indeed a generous one, and is as follows: one and a quarter pounds of bread or one pound of biscuits...

These rations are obtained from contractors and are delivered daily to the Army Service Corps Supply Depot at Barriefield camp.

While each man has a definite amount of rations allowed him by the department, it does not work out in quite such strict lines.

These go to the office of the Army Service Corps, are carefully checked to see that they are correct, then orders are issued from this office to the master-butcher, master baker, and the head of the grocery department...
