PTE. BRAMLEY DIED.

Was Prisoner of War At Paderborn, Germany.

Brookville, June 18.—Mr. and Mrs. George Bramley, 59 Hubbell street, were notified yesterday by the Adjutant-General at Ottawa of the death of Paderborn, Germany, on May 15th, of their son, Pte. Percy Allan Bramley, 2nd Battalion, C. E. F., who had previously reported himself as a prisoner of war at Paderborn, and also wounded.

Pte. Bramley enlisted at Brookville last August for overseas service with the 41st Regiment detachment. He had belonged to that regiment for about a year. He was only nineteen years of age, and previous to enlistment was employed as a trainman on the Grand Trunk Railway.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bramley, there surviving is a brother, Frank, in the Canadian west, and two sisters, Mrs. Stanley Black and Miss Genevieve Bramley, Brookville.

Travel Roads Once Lined With Roman Villas.

"The way between Grado and Trieste lies through a remarkable country," says a National Geographic Society war primer, which describes the strange path before the invading Italians to the richest Austrian resort. "Many chapters of little-known, but fascinating history are associated with this coastal strip at the head of the Adriatic, and its legendary lore is as rich as that of Granda. Wealthy Romans built their villas this way during the days of the empire, and to this region many wars have been fought, whose memories have dimmed to forgetfulness beside the main struggles fought on other fields.

"In piece times, a small steamer, besides the railway, furnished communication between Grado and Trieste. From the plain of the Isonzo, the way rises steadily to Nabresina, and from Nabresina falls as steadily to the plain of Trieste. In the uplands, the viaducts wind in giant coils over the rugged slopes, and on every hand are panoramic pictures common to broken country. The climate is languorously southern. The grey limestone breaks through the vegetation in great masses, and the way is liberally sprinkled with stone quarries, whose numerous debris piles accentuate the peck marks of the hills. This torn land lies immediately before the advancing Italians.
