A couple of cable despatches have, however, made it clear that there was a mystery somewhere, for they spoke of things which the best expert military knowledge had no existence in fact. One mentioned Serbian six-inch field pieces, and the possibility of her possessing air craft in any number seemed extremely remote. And now the secret has been revealed. The six-inch guns belong to a large British force under the command of Rear-Admiral Ernest C. T. Trowbridge, which has been in Serbia since the end of March. The aeroplanes belong to a French aviaand Rochefort.
