

CLOTHES

That Tower Above the Ordinary

Here are Suits full of dash and go—they're loaded with young men's suit ideas. There's a style to them that speaks of the young man in no uncertain tone. The fabrics are distinctive—far different from the styles of woollens used in older men's garments.

The English models are the correct thing; closer fitting, shorter coats and close trousers. With all this suit swiftness the prices are within easy reach, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00.

Most young fellows have already discovered that this is the store for Young Men's Clothes. The balance are finding it out right along.

ALLAN DAVIDSON KILLED AT THE FRONT ON 15TH

Confirmation of Report of Monday Received.

CAPT. G. T. RICHARDSON

CABLED THE SAD NEWS ON FRIDAY MORNING.

Thomas Connolly, Son Of Band Sergt. Connolly, R.C.H.A., Was Also Killed the Same Day—No Other Serious Casualties Among Kingston Men.

"Regret to advise that Allan Davidson and Thomas Connolly both killed in action on 15th. No other fatal or serious casualties among Kingston men."

The above was the cable received Friday morning by James A. Richardson from his brother, Capt. George T. Richardson, 2nd Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Forces, confirmed the report which reached Toronto last Monday of the death of "Scotty" Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson, Portsmouth. The report said that Pte. Davidson was thrown a hundred bombs that day before he fell.

It is a peculiar fact that the first game of hockey of importance that "Scotty" Davidson played was with the old 14th P.W.O.R. team with Capt. George Richardson when he was only sixteen years old. The game was played in Toronto with the senior Frontenacs and George Van Horne and James Richardson were also on the line-up. In 1911 he left for the west and played semi-professional in Calgary and also in Greenwood, B.C. He received medals for several championship games he played while in the west. In 1913 he came east and played for the Toronto professional team winning the N.H.A. and the world's championship for 1914.

In August of last year the call came for men for overseas service, and though he could have received almost any money within reason in the professional ranks, he came to Kingston and enlisted under Capt. George Richardson with the 14th Regiment detachment. At the front he had charge of seventy bomb-throwers and in one letter he stated that he was too busy to write very much because he had been in charge of the bomb-throwing for the 10th and 3rd Battalions as well as his own the 2nd Battalion. He was also a scout of great value.

When at the Armouries before enlisting, he was asked why he did not choose the Engineers rather than the Infantry. As he served three years as a mechanic in the Kingston Foundry he would have been a useful man for the Engineers. He replied that he wanted to get as close to the Germans as possible.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson, Portsmouth; one sister, Miss Frances G. Hartford, Conn.; Edwin in the Bank of Commerce at Toronto and Arthur in the Merchants Bank at Chatham. Deceased was a Presbyterian in religion.

Pte. Connolly Only Seventeen
Private Thomas Patrick Connolly, killed in action on June 15th, was only seventeen years of age. He was formerly an employee of the Canadian Locomotive Company and later was learning his trade as a plumber when war broke out. He enlisted with the 14th P.W.O. Rifles and proceeded to Valenciennes eventually going overseas in the 2nd Battalion attached to the 1st Brigade of the C.E.F.
Deceased's father is Band Sergt. E. J. Connolly, R.C.H.A. He is also survived by his mother, two brothers and one sister, Harry, Edmund, and Rose, all at home. He was born in Barbadoes and had lived in Kingston six years.

STRUCK BY AN AUTO.

Two Accidents on Princess Street on Thursday.

A young man named Givens was struck by an automobile near the corner of Princess and Barrie streets about five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and received severe cuts about the face and hands.

A small boy was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle on Princess street, near Montreal, on Thursday, and while he managed to escape serious injury, his wheel was badly damaged.

It is stated that the driver of the auto was travelling on the wrong side of the road, and that after he struck the boy he did not stop, but proceeded on his way out Montreal street.

Memorial to Mrs. H. J. Simpson.

In the course of a week a memorial will be placed in the chancel of St. Luke's Anglican Church, Nelson street, out of respect for the late Mrs. H. J. Simpson, who died a couple of months ago. This memorial is being placed by the Woman's Auxiliary, and will bear the following inscription: "To the glory of God and loving memory of Harriet L. Simpson, who entered into rest on March 23rd, 1915, these cedillas are placed by the members of St. Luke's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary. 'She hath done what she could.'"

THE LATE M. J. O'SHEA.

Body of Drowned Man Buried at Wolfe Island.

The remains of Michael J. O'Shea, Wolfe Island, found a short distance above Bartlett Point, one mile west of Clayton, on Thursday afternoon, were identified on Friday morning by the father of the deceased, by tattoo marks on the arm and letters in the clothes. Accompanying Mr. O'Shea were Timothy O'Shea, a brother of the drowned man, as well as J. Murphy, John T. McDonald and Mr. Taylor, all of whom made the trip to Clayton in a motor boat. The remains were later brought to Wolfe Island, and a solemn requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father McNoll in the Church of the Sacred Heart at four o'clock the same afternoon. Immediately afterwards the remains were buried in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The body was discovered by William Pelow and Walter McGibbons, who had anchored their boat to fish. Acting coroner Dr. H. J. Frame afterwards had the remains taken to barnpart's undertaking parlors.

The late M. O'Shea was drowned while attempting to sail home in a motor boat to spend Thanksgiving Day with his parents. He was employed on the farm of G. C. Boldt on Wellesley Island.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Timothy, Richard, Mrs. J. Berry and Mrs. Bense.

RAIDED GYPSY CAMP

POLICE MADE ROUND-UP AT BARRIEFIELD CAMP.

Men and Women in Camp Engaged in Lively Pitched Battle—Offenders Brought to Police Station.

There is a band of gypsies, encamped in Barriefield, Thursday night they raised "high jinks" among themselves, and as a result the police raided the camp, putting three men, two women and four "kitties" into their big gypsy van and bringing them to the police station.

The men were brought before Justice of the Peace George Hunter on Friday morning. They were charged with being drunk and fighting, and a fine of $2 and costs was imposed in each case. They did not have money to pay their fine, but friends on the outside paid it for them. The Court also ordered the gypsies to be on their way, so if they do not make Friday their "moving day" they will be brought before the Court again.

The men in the camp went out on a spree, and when they got back shortly after eight o'clock Thursday evening there were "wigs on the green" for a time. They had a pitched battle with the women, in which sticks, stones and tent pegs were used to good advantage. The war raged for some time, till some person sent in a call for the police. Sergt. Nesbitt, with Constables Cotter, Jenkins, Nicholson and McCarey, went to the scene, and they soon rounded up the band. Sergt. Nesbitt ordered everyone in the van, and then all drove over to the city. Upon arrival at the station all hands were taken out, and for the rest of the night the gypsies made their headquarters in the police cells.

Heroic Irish Chaplain.

Press Association War Special.
The losses sustained by the Dublin and King's Own Scottish Borderers in the Dardanelles have been greatly felt by the many friends of these two regiments in Cairo, where they did garrison duty some five or six years ago, but perhaps no death has been more keenly felt than that of Father Finn, the Roman Catholic chaplain, who was so well liked in English circles there.

Father Finn was one of the first to give his life in the landing at Sed-ul-Bahr. In answer to a question that were made to him not to leave the ship he replied: "The priest's place is beside the dying soldier." Whereupon he stepped on to the gangway, immediately receiving a bullet through the chest. Undeterred, he made his way across the lighters, receiving another bullet in the thigh, and still another in the leg. By the time he reached the beach he was literally riddled with bullets, but in spite of the great pain he must have been suffering he heroically went about his duties, giving consolation to the dying troops.

It was while he was in the act of attending to the spiritual requirements of one of his men that the priest's head was shattered by shrapnel.

Lieut. Stethem Here.
Lieut. H. Stethem, son-in-law of R. J. Carson, injured at the front, is in the city on a visit. He was given two months' furlough, owing to wounds and shock, and will report in London on August 6th. Lieut. Stethem is still suffering from his terrible experiences in the trenches.
