FIELD COMFORT WORK

AN ADDRESS GIVEN BY MISS JOAN ARNOLD.

Socks the Greatest Need of the Soldier at the Front — Cigarettes Soothe Nerves of Soldiers in the Trenches.

On Wednesday afternoon the large lecture room in the Biological building, Queen's University, proved far too small for the crowd that wanted to hear Miss Joan Arnold, of Toronto, relate her experiences as one of the sisters attached to the Canadian Field Comfort Corps at the front.

Between Miss Arnold and Miss Plummer practically the whole responsibility of carrying out Canada's comforting relief to her army in the field is being accomplished. No better person could have been selected, declared Prof. Iva Martin.

In opening, Miss Arnold vividly described the conditions found, first at Valenciennes and then at Salisbury Plains. Many hardships were endured, and by all accounts the latter mentioned concentration camp tested the patience of every Canadian soldier. It was practically a sea of mud. Many of the nurses had most trying experiences, asserted the speaker. At times they would have to pull their skirts above their knees while the mud squeezed in at the top of their rubber boots. The soldiers also had more than they bargained for, but bore all with fortitude, knowing that they were not upon a picnic, but there to defend the British Empire.

After that terrible battle of Ypres, a German colonel was captured by the Canadian troops. At first he expressed his mind freely, and declared how he hated the British, which made him quite obnoxious. A day or so afterwards, becoming more sobered, he still maintained his views of the British. On being asked what he thought of the Canadians, this German colonel said: "The Canadians are very courageous, but to do what they did they are blame fools." The reason given for this assertion was that 8,400 Canadian soldiers held back 122,000 Germans. The Canadian troops were welcome at all places after that battle, declared the speaker, and no other in England or France are held in such high favor.

The latter portion of Miss Arnold's address dealt with the sending of supplies to the Canadian troops. She told of the comfort kits that are sent to each soldier and the contents of them. Everything that will make life more pleasant in the trenches is sent along. Numerous letters from officers were read by the speaker, and in every one of them socks were mentioned. This is the chief need of every soldier. The Canadian Comfort Corps, in behalf of which Miss Arnold is travelling the country, is certainly doing splendid work. The Canadian troops were moved by Prof. Iva Martin, wherein he lauded the excellent address to which he had listened. Lieut.-Col. H. R. Duff seconded this motion, and also spoke in glowing terms of the speaker.

Dean Starr, who acted in the capacity of chairman, spoke of the work which is being accomplished by Miss Arnold and Miss Plummer. A discussion followed over the advisability of sending cigarettes to the soldiers. "Although I am not generally speaking in favor of them," said Lieut.-Col. Duff, "I would strongly recommend them as nerve soothers to the soldiers in the trenches."

The Late Orlando L. Potter

There died in New York on July 4th, Orlando L. Potter, son of the late Dr. W. E. Potter, leaving to survive him his wife, Mrs. M. M. Potter, Echo Lodge, Lansdowne; one son and one daughter, Rachel; also two sisters, Mrs. Mercer, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Lewis, of New York. Mr. Potter many years ago carried on a mercantile business at McIntosh Mills but latterly resided in New York.

THREE PRISONERS GO INSANE

Through the Monotonous Confinement in Fort Henry.

There are three prisoners of war confined in Rockwood Hospital as a direct result of the continued confinement at Fort Henry. One case is now considered almost incurable, and although the patient was slightly demented before being arrested, the steady sight of four grey walls has driven him wholly insane. The authorities have been requested several times to allow the prisoners of war at the fort to work some where, preferably on the roads, but the Minister of Militia has refused to consider this because it would interfere with local labor. If the authorities could realize the conditions it would not be long before something was done to relieve the prisoners' monotony. The food being supplied them is excellent, the clothing issued is of good quality, there is liberal allowance of newspapers, and everything that could be expected except a relief from the confinement. The prisoners are being fed regularly, but they have no opportunity of working off their energy.

The leaders of the prisoners are doing the best they can by organizing their charges into societies and developing their talents by keeping their minds occupied, but what is wanted is good hard work.

The matter is being taken up through every channel possible, and it is likely that in the near future the authorities will see fit to grant the demand.

MARTIN-McWATERS NUPTIALS.

Celebrated at the Bride's Home on Thursday Morning.

At the home of the bride's parents, Union street west, at eleven o'clock on Thursday morning, Miss Hilda McWaters was united in marriage to G. Kent Martin, business manager of the Kingston Standard. Rev. G. I. Campbell performed the ceremony, after which a wedding luncheon was served in the dining-room. Later in the afternoon the newly-weds went on a wedding trip up the lakes to Duluth.

On returning Mr. and Mrs. Martin will take up residence on Pembroke street. A number of friends extend heartfelt congratulations for the future happiness of these two young Kingstons.

The staff and employees of the Standard office presented the newly-weds with a handsome dinner set.

STOLE RIDE ON "BUMPER."

Two Constables Had a Merry Chase on Wednesday.

Joseph Bellaire, of no special address, who makes his home wherever he hangs his hat, was caught stealing a ride on a "bumper" limited on Wednesday noon. He had two pals, but they managed to make their escape, although Constables Nicholson and Naylor hurried to the outer station on receiving a hurry-up call. The two got away, took to the side roads and byways through fields and bushes, and the two constables led them a merry chase, but the latter had to give it up. Bellaire was fined $5 and costs or a month in jail.

A first appearance drunk was given a chance.

GERMAN HELMET ARRIVES

And is Now on Exhibition in the Whig Window.

A helmet worn by a Bavarian officer, who was bayoneted by a Gordon Highlander, is now on exhibition in the Whig window. It was sent to Kingston by Sergt.-Major H. E. Law, of the Stationary Hospital at Letoque, France. Sergt.-Major Law secured the helmet from the Gordon Highlander who killed the officer, and sent it to his wife. The latter also received a letter from a German officer who is being treated in the hospital. The helmet is made of steel, and shows the marks of having been struck by bullets.

LETTERS FROM ENGLAND.

Third Year Medical Students To Be Sent Back.

John S. McDonald, a graduate of Queen's University, and a member of the Second Section, 6th Company, Engineers, has written a very interesting letter from the front, dated of June 29th, in which he tells of a visit he made to Westminster Abbey, Trafalgar Square, Nelson's Monument, and many other places. The writer states that he has met many Queen's men. All the graduate doctors are getting their commissions, and others who are in their third year are to be sent back in the fall to finish their course.

Steamer Natronco, down 7 a. m. Thursday.

The lake steamer John Sharpies, bound from Ellis Bay, Anticosti Island to Ogdensburg, N. Y., ran aground Tuesday night outside the western entrance of the Lachine Canal. The river here is rocky at this point, but the John Sharpies got off at 9.15 o'clock Wednesday morning and is proceeding on her voyage. Capt. H. L. Beauvis is in charge of the vessel, which has a cargo of 2,775 tons of pulpwood. Little damage was done to the vessel.

ST. LUKE'S PONIC

Held at Long Island Park on Wednesday Afternoon.

About 350 persons attended St. Luke's annual picnic at Long Island Park on Wednesday afternoon. Rain set in shortly before it was time to leave for home. The boys had a lively time in a baseball game between a team picked from St. Luke's Sunday school and Sapollos, of the Junior City League. The latter won by 11 to 10. William McFederige was umpire. The races resulted:

Boys, 6 to 8 years—James Cotter, E. Edwards.

Infant class, girls—(a) Kathleen Morrison, Alice Hill; (b) Mildred McCarroll, Emily Jench.

Infant class, boys—(a) Edward Brightman, Walter Clifford, Edward Swan; (b) Harold Burns, Ernest Ayling, G. W. Saunders.

Consolation race, girls—Ethel Brightman, Dorothy Bajon.

An interesting feature of the sports was a tug-of-war contest between the married ladies and men. The former won, and the prize, which was drawn for, went to Mrs. George Compton.

SOLDIERS WILL BE PLACED

At Once On Farms By Immigrant Agent Hunter.

"If any soldier who desires to work on a farm will bring me the necessary permission from his commanding officer, I can immediately find him a position," said Immigrant Agent George Hunter on Thursday morning.

The rain of the last few days has greatly hastened the crops, and the farmers are urgently in need of help. Forty men can be placed at once. A high rate of wages is being paid, and if the necessary authority can be obtained a number of soldiers at Barriefield Camp will likely take advantage of the conditions and help in the harvest.

Letters to the Editor

University Avenue Resident Writes.

Kingston, July 8.—(To the Editor).—University Avenue residents will now have to wait until they can change aldermen before they can have the mudholes filled up. They will of course in the meantime be bothered by higher assessments and more taxes and street oil at double prices. Alderman Graham could spend thousands in the North End, but not a cent for his ward—his non-resident pocket borough.

If the Utilities have new piping to make on that street, then they should get busy before any local improvement surface work is done. If it must be dug up soon, then why propose to put down a mud road with a mass of bleeding refuse tar oil? It may be blasphemous for Christ to smell it, but the women with carpets spoiled "bless" him and his committee. Another piblecte is needed, one to abolish the council and the three-year term. — UNIVERSITY AVENUE.

Dr. Harold Williamson, Port Arthur, visiting relatives here, left Thursday afternoon for New York, whence he will sail on Saturday for England to join the Canadian Army Medical Corps, with the rank of captain, for service at the front.
