WALDRON'S

THAW FREED ON BAIL

JUSTICE HENDRICK ACCEPTED THE JURY'S FINDING

That the Murderer of Stanford White Is Sane—The State Has Entered An Appeal.

(Special to the Whig.) New York, July 16.—Harry K. Thaw, who shot and killed Stanford White on the night of June 26th, 1906, walked from the court room a free man at noon to-day.

Justice Hendrick accepted the finding of the jury that declared that Thaw was sane, and immediately after his decision, he admitted Thaw to $35,000 bail.

Warned by deputy marshals, the big crowd in the court room attempted no demonstration. Thaw himself sat unmoved by the decision. When the court overruled the State's attempt to block his release on bail, he turned on Deputy Attorney General Cook a quiet smile of triumph. His nine-year fight for freedom had been won, but Thaw was the most undemonstrative person in the great crowd in and around the Supreme Court building on Friday morning.

The State immediately entered an appeal from Justice Hendrick's finding.

A FINE EVENING RAMBLE

Enjoyed By Crowd on the Steamer Thousand Islander.

Over 600 attended the fifty-mile ramble by searchlight on the steamer Thousand Islander last evening. A select musical programme was rendered by the Royal 38th Battalion band, one of the finest musical organizations in Canada, and one which it is hoped will be heard in some of the weekly park concerts.

The trip was made down the inside of Howe Island, passing the beautiful summer homes of Canadian and American residents, and through the Admiralty Group, which consists of over 500 islands, nearly all of which are occupied by summer homes, and past Gananoque, Camp Green, motor boats and capoteists enlivened the scene, being constantly picked out by the steamer's searchlight. Home was reached at the stroke of eleven.

A more enjoyable trip for Kingstonians can hardly be imagined. No hope will be made on any of the searchlight trips in the future. All bars have been abolished, and there is a strict supervision on all passengers. The large, roomy observation decks of the Thousand Islander afford an excellent opportunity to all passengers to follow the movements of the searchlight.

HAMMER WAS USED

In a Fight Between Foreigners on North Street Friday.

There was a hot fight between a couple of foreigners on North street to-day, and as a result the followers of "Jack" Johnson and Jess Willard are locked up in the police cells. It is alleged that one used a hammer on the other. However, neither suffered serious injuries.

Karl Goldman, court interpreter, will endeavor to help the Magistrate out of the tangle when the case is called in the Police Court on Saturday.

Searchlight-Tour Saturday—On palace steamer Thousand Islander, leaving 7.45 p.m. Fare 35c.

W. J. Williams, Newboro, with the 14th Battalion, is reported as having died while a prisoner of war.

CONSTABLE BROKE BY-LAW

In Order To Get Conviction Against a "Speeder."

A case in which a police constable violated the law regarding speeding in order to catch a "speeder," came before Magistrate Farrell in the Police Court Friday morning.

A prominent citizen was charged with exceeding the limit of fifteen miles an hour on Wellington street. When asked to plead to the charge, he said he did not think that he was going over the limit. The Magistrate then called for the evidence.

Constable Thomas Mullinger, who made the complaint, stated that he was riding in an automobile, and he noticed the accused driving at what he considered an immoderate rate of speed. The car was some distance ahead of him, and he could not see the number on it. As a result, he had the driver of his car put on some speed and he went at the rate of about twenty-eight or thirty miles an hour himself to catch the other auto. Then he got the number of the offending car, and had the owner summoned.

The Magistrate was convinced from the evidence of the constable, who was backed up by the driver of the car, that the speed limit had been exceeded, and imposed a fine of 25c and cost.

Another prominent citizen pleaded guilty.

CONVICTED GERMAN SPY

Robert Rosenthal Executed After Court Martial.

London, July 16.—Another German spy has been executed in England, after conviction by court martial. He was Robert Rosenthal, who was arrested in London early in June and confessed, it is alleged, that he had been sent to England by the German Admiralty to obtain information concerning British naval matters.

The official announcement of the execution given last night says: "Robert Rosenthal, who on the 6th of July was tried by a general court martial on charges of espionage, was found guilty and sentenced to death. The sentence was duly carried out and was carried out this morning."

BARTENDERS WILL MEET

To Consider Cases of Men on the "Prohibited List."

There are at the present time 108 names on Inspector C. W. Wright's "prohibited list," and it is some task for the bartenders to keep track of all the members. It is the intention of the Inspector to have the bartenders hold a meeting from time to time in order that they might consider the names that are on the list. There are some bartenders who know quite a number of the prohibited ones, while others know but a few. As a result of the bartenders getting together and comparing notes, they will be better able to keep track of the ineligible.

His Lordship Didn't Count

It is not generally known that Lord Alverstone has a good singing voice, and at one time he used to sing in the choir of a fashionable church in the West of London. One Sunday an American lady visitor to the church drew one of the vergers aside and asked which of the choir was Lord Alverstone, as she was very anxious to see such a distinguished man.

"Well, mum," replied the verger, "that's the vicar, them's the curates, and I'm the verger, but as for the choir—as long as they behave themselves decent we don't enquire into their antecedents."

Submarine U-51 Has Been Sunk by Russians

(Special to the Whig.)

Athens, July 16.—Russian warships have sunk German submarine U-51 in the Black Sea, according to reliable sources to-day.

Submarine U-51 is the famous craft which escaped the British blockades in the English Channel, the Straits of Gibraltar and at the Dardanelles, and is supposed to have sunk at least three of the Allies warships and several merchant vessels, and after refitting at Constantinople also ran the gauntlet of the Russian fleet in the Bosphorus and got out into the Black Sea where it caused immense damage to Russian shipping. Apparently it has now definitely and finally met its doom.

INDIAN WAR BONNETS.

Lockett Shoe Store Gave 1,500 To The "Kiddies."

Not one of the celebrated rushes of Queen's students were in it for a minute with the rush the "kiddies" of Kingston made on the Lockett shoe store on Friday morning. The cause of the rush was the fact that in the Whig on Thursday there appeared an advertisement for the Lockett shoe store, stating that on Friday morning, Indian war bonnets would be given to every "brave" or "squaw" who called at the store. This was sufficient notice for the "kiddies." Some of them had dreams about the war bonnets all night, and bright and early they were on deck to get one. Some started as early as five o'clock. Before the store opened at eight o'clock there was a big jam in front of it reaching out into the roadway and blocking street car traffic.

LANSING AND BERNSTORFF

Had a Conference at Washington On Friday.

(Special to the Whig.) Washington, July 16.—Secretary of State Lansing and German Ambassador von Bernstorff had a long conference to-day. The subject, according to popular belief, was Germany's proposal to relax on her submarine campaign if Britain and the Allies will open the blockade of German shipping.

It is considered here impossible that Britain will consider such a proposal as the blockade is almost absolute.

SENTENCED TO THE "PEN."

Thomas Foster Given Two Years on Charge of Abduction.

Thomas Foster, charged with abduction at Napanee, was sentenced by Judge Madden on Friday morning, to two years and one month at hard labor in the Portsmouth penitentiary.

Constable Barrett arrived with the prisoner on Friday afternoon.

Arm Troops With Short Knife.

London, July 16.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at British headquarters in France says:

"The French are arming their troops with a short knife for use in trench warfare, thus replacing the bayonet, which, when fixed in the rifle, is too long a weapon to give a man free play in the narrow trenches."

Making Big Profit.

Chicago, July 16.—The United States will be "enormously wealthy" if the European war continues six months longer, Edward N. Hurley, vice-chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, said in announcing the plans of the commission to promote foreign trade.

Confined to Bed.

Z. Prevost, merchant tailor, who was overtaken with a weak spell on Thursday afternoon, was reported to be feeling somewhat better on Friday, although he was compelled to take to his bed. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.
