GERMANS MAKE BOAST

BUT THEY WILL GET A HOT RECEPTION.
 Men Draw Lots To See Who Will Be Given Few Days Leave Of Absence—Another Letter From Pte. Edward McDermott.
 Pte. Edward McDermott, attached to the Motor Transport of the First Divisional Supply Column, C.E.F., writes under date of July 16th, stating that there are now only eight Kingston boys left of the original number who accompanied the First Contingent overseas last summer. These Pte. McDermott, says came out of the trenches, July 5th. A large percentage are among the wounded.
 Continuing, Pte. McDermott states that the Germans are making some big statements these days as to what they are going to do, and that they will get a warm reception, and adds:
 "There is a lively scrap going on on our right wing. We are now pretty close to the line."
 The soldiers draw lots to see who will be given leave of absence. The writer also asserts that he drew No. 124 and is sure to get seven days leave between now and Christmas. Just when will depend on how many are allowed to go at once. Some of the boys who drew large numbers will never get leave as the war will be over long before their turn comes.
 "Principal Gordon's son, Capt. Alexander M. Gordon, addressed us after supper last night. He is a delightful speaker and very earnest in his work which never ceases as he takes a great interest in the welfare of the men regardless of their religion."
 "Two Belleville boys, James Scott and David Young of the Motor Transport had a pretty close call yesterday. They got their car on the wrong road and were peppered with shrapnel. The car was riddled pretty well but served as a protection for them, although I think they were extremely lucky."
 "We are now enjoying fine weather. Of course the side roads are quite dusty. The main roads are paved with stone blocks. We are all so having a very easy time now as the closer one gets to the firing line, the shorter the run. One of the lads dug up a camera to-day and we had several pictures taken."
