What a Difference

Spectacles were invented by Alexander de Spina, a monk in Italy about 1285. Pictures of them appear as early as 1417.

Those were crude, ungainly things in heavy, queer iron frames. Since then eyeglasses have been constantly improved.

BIG RECRUITING MEETING HELD IN ARTILLERY PARK

"We are in this war to protest against theft and robbery, and to say that it will not be sanctioned among free and Christian nations of the world." (Applause).

"If you allow this to go on, what is going to happen to Holland, Denmark, Switzerland, the British Isles and Canada? That is the logic of the young men of Kingston as to what is their duty. It is a serious question. There was lawlessness at the very beginning of this war. Put a revolver in the hands of a burglar and he is liable to become a murderer."

"I have no doubt as to what the result will be. Great Britain and her Allies are going to win this war. (Loud cheers). I am told that in this neighborhood you are suffering as are the people in other parts of Canada, from a little depression, because things are not going as you would like them to go. Get rid of that depression. The proper way for you to get rid of that depression would be for you to go to my friend Col. Hemming. He will give you something to do that will take the depression out of you. (Loud cheers). Young men, if you are suffering from depression, change your geography. Leave the street corner and go to Barrieheld Camp."

"Just think of what has happened. England was expected to clear the ocean. And she has cleared the ocean. To-day, no German ship is on the ocean. England was looked to for the financing of the war. And she is financing it. Kitchener says he will fight for three years and all this in spite of the fact that some claimed she would be ruined by free trade."

"This is the kind of a man Kitchener is. Some thought that he should end the war in ten months. He says 'I will finish it.' That is the spirit that is going to win this war. Remember that he has performed a miracle in having raised in ten months an army of three million men. And he has confidence in Canada to know that she will send 500,000 more men if they are needed. May I send word to the Prime Minister that Kingston will do her share towards raising the 500,000 men? Do not get depressed. That will not win any war. Just think of what England has already done, and what she is doing. How I glory in her history. Three times in her history, she has stood up against great odds, to defend the under dog although she is a little one."

Duty Of The Hour.

"Are you going to back a country like that? Canada is being bathed and baptized through blood, suffering and sacrifice and enters into nationhood by her participation in a war like this. She is now taking her rightful place among the foremost nations of the world."

"Kingston has done nobly among many lines. I do not carry any young men in the conscience in my pocket. I am the keeper of my own conscience. If there is a young man who has a widowed mother to look after and who thinks that he should stay at home I would say 'young man if your conscience tells you to stay at home, do so.' It may require more courage to stay at home than to go to the firing line. If a young man is the sole support of a father and mother. I would not say for him whether he should go or stay. If you stay on the farm I would say farm as you never farmed before. If you stay at home, help to clean the floors as they have never been cleaned before."

"If you have no ties to keep you at home, I would say that your duty is plainly before you. In the name of God, in the name of goodness, in the name of the Empire, join at once. Do not let a night pass over you before you do your duty."

Dr. Clark was greeted with hearty applause as he resumed his seat.

At the close, Mayor Sutherland extended sincere thanks to the speakers, and after the singing of the National Anthem, led by the R.C.H.A. band, and the giving of three cheers for the speakers, led by Prof. Mulloy, the gathering dispersed.

Dr. Clark is one of the most forceful speakers ever heard in Kingston. He has a strong voice, and could be distinctly heard all over Artillery Park.

Recruiting Should Be Good.

If the enthusiasm that greeted the speakers at the meeting can be taken as an omen there should be no lack of recruits in Kingston.

Early in the evening citizens living in all parts of the city were awakened to the fact that there was to be "something doing." There was not a house in the city limits that martial music did not reach, if not from one band, then from another a few blocks away. It was indeed the most novel and enterprising scheme for drawing a crowd that could be delivered. Everyone had read that a meeting was to be held but there were some who had no intention of attending. Music has charms and the eight bands that went forth to "play up" the town brought forth great crowds.

The 35th Battalion brass band boarded a street car at six o'clock and after going around the belt-line and playing popular airs, got off at the corner of Alfred and Princess, and marched to the park from that point. The 38th Battalion bugle band marched from the corner of Division and Pine streets to York street, to Bagot and to the park. The 8th C.M.R. pipe band marched from the corner of King and Princess streets and covered the down-town streets before finishing at the park. The 8th C.M.R. drum band marched from the post office from the corner of Wellington and West streets.

The 59th Battalion band marched from the corner of Frontenac and Earl street down Earl street to Bagot and to the park.

The 14th Regiment marched from the House of Industry along Montreal street. The Salvation Army band marched in from Portsmouth. The R.C.H.A. band started from the corner of King and Harris streets after a ten minute concert, along King street to Princess street, to Montreal and to the park. This band rendered several selections before the meeting.

The square at seven o'clock was black with people and both Bagot and Montreal streets were blocked for traffic. The speakers stand was in front of the stone barracks and was well lighted and appropriately decorated with flags and electric lights. On the platform besides the speakers, were J. G. Turiff, M. P., Assiniboia; Col. F. D. E. Hemming, Col. G. Hunter Ogilvie, Prof. L. W. Mulloy, Lieut-Col. H. J. Watson, Capt. W. L. Grant, and W. F. Nickle, M.P. were among those who occupied seats under the speakers' platform.

Answering the Call.

"One cannot expect a large number to answer the call made at a meeting such as was held last night," said a recruiting officer on Thursday morning. The country of course wants every man who is physically fit, but a man who goes home and thinks over what he has been told, and decides after deep thought that the country needs him, is of more value than one who enlists on the inspiration of the speakers.

The 14th order room, at the corner of Bagot and Barrack streets, is prepared to take the names of all men wishing to join the 59th Battalion. Although only a small number have so far expressed a desire to go, the results of the meeting cannot be expected to show for a few days.
