A.D. 1417 TO-DAY

What a Difference
Spectacles were invented by Alexander de Sphina, a monk in Italy about 1285. Pictures of them appear as early as 1417.

These were crude, ungainly things in heavy, queer iron frames. Since then eyeglasses have been constantly improved.

OUR GLASSES
are the glasses of to-day—not yesterday—and reveal the very latest improvements in lens and frame.
