WALDRON'S

GOT IN WRONG HOUSE

DID ALBERT SUDDARD INTEND TO GET IN ANOTHER HOUSE?

Was Not Acquainted With Mrs. Job—Has Made No Public Statement On His Behalf.

Albert Suddard, now in the county jail on the serious charge of murder, has made no public statement, but still claims that he had been drinking, and was doped, and that he remembers nothing whatever about going into Mrs. Job's home. Although Coroner Mundell stated at the inquest on Saturday night that the accused could make a statement, he had nothing to say, and his counsel, D. A. Givens, did not put him in the witness box. Some reports were going far the rounds to the effect that Suddard was a relative of the dead woman, but this is not so. He was not even a friend, and as far as can be learned did not even know the woman.

What motive had Suddard for going into the home? Was it his intention to go into another place, and get into Mrs. Job's place by mistake? As he has made no statement, it is of course difficult to tell, but many are inclined to believe that he got into the home of this aged woman by mistake. As far as is known, the accused young man was never seen around her home at any time.

The prisoner, when first taken in charge and arraigned before the Court, was recorded under the name of Alfred E. Suddard. Coroner Mundell states that his name is Albert E. Suddard.

The Late Mrs. W. G. Grange

On Sunday morning Martha Grange, widow of the late William Grange passed away at her late residence, Barriefield, after a lingering illness. Deceased was born in Ireland seventy-eight years ago and came to Canada when a young girl. Barriefield has been her place of residence for years. In religion she was an Anglican and is survived by one son and three daughters, Mrs. Contain and Mrs. Robert Gray, Barriefield; Mr. W. H. H. Vancouver, B.C.; George Grange, Peterboro.

The Late W. J. Clarke

William J. Clarke, an old resident of Pittsburgh, passed away at his residence on Sunday morning. The deceased was fifty-eight years of age and was a Presbyterian in religion. He was also high in the Orange order, and his funeral will be conducted by the society at 10.30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The Late A. A. Rhodes

At the General Hospital on Saturday evening, Arthur Alfred Rhodes passed to rest after a very serious illness of only five days. His wife, who is now in London, Eng., on a visit forwarded a letter home which was received on Monday morning but too late for the deceased to hear its contents. Fifty-four years ago the late Mr. Rhodes was born in London, Eng., where he was a slater by trade. Eight years ago he came to Canada and settled in Kingston. Deceased was a liberal St. George's Cathedral member of a wife, five daughters and two sons are left: Mrs. George Cuthbertson, Mrs. Richard Thomas, Mrs. John Carter and Frederick Rhodes, all of this city; Mrs. Frederick Leghittier and Mrs. Albert Williams, London, Eng.; Herbert Rhodes, at the Dardanelles, attached to the British navy of which he has been a member for twelve years. Two sisters, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Smith and one brother, George Rhodes, all of London, Eng., are also survivors.

On Monday afternoon at two o'clock the funeral was held in Catawag Cemetery. Service was conducted at the home of Mrs. George Cuthbertson, 64 Bay Street, by Rev. S. J. M. Compton.

The late Mr. Rhodes was a member of the Ancient Phoenix Lodge of London, Eng.

Gave An Address

Prof. Jesse Hyder addressed the students of Queen's Summer School, on Friday afternoon, on "Changing Climate" taking the great deserts of Asia and America. The speaker showed how these vast stretches of territory had changed down through the ages from fertile tracts of inhabited by races in an advanced state of civilization, to the barren regions of the present time, uninhabited by plant or animal.

The address was most interesting and instructive, and was much enjoyed by all the students.

The Battle of Love

While swimming off Macdonald Park, on Sunday, John McDonald, a small boy, was almost drowned. He had gone under and seemed as though he had taken a cramp. Another boy, Joseph Kent, waded out and caught hold of him bringing him to shore. It was some little time before young McDonald was brought around.

Miss Sadie Edwards, daughter of Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., Cataragui, composer of the song entitled "To Arms, Canadian Boys," is in receipt of many complimentary letters from all parts of the world. Last week she received two letters, one from the secretary to Queen Mary of England, and the other from the secretary of the Queen of the Belgians.

At St. George's Cathedral. On Sunday evening in St. George's, the Rev. Ben Oile, of the 59th Battalion now quartered at Barriefield Camp, preached on the parable of the unjust servant. After an interesting exposition of the parable the preacher showed how the children in modern life were wiser than the children of then. He emphasized the fact while people in the past had given of their sons and wealth for the extension of Christ's Kingdom they must now give lavishly of both to defend themselves against the great foe. Had they given one-tenth part as lavishly for God's work in the past perhaps this great calamity might not have been upon us, said the preacher.

Horses Roam Streets. Residents of Raglan Road are up in arms over the way some citizens allow horses to roam about that street. Complaint has been made to the police and the horses will be put in pound. The roaming around of these horses has been a source of great nuisance to the people on the street. Complaint was made to the Whig on Sunday by residents who asked that action be taken.
