

The British Whig

Published Daily and Semi-Weekly by THE BRITISH WHIG PUBLISHING CO., LIMITED.

I. G. Elliott, President; Lenan A. Gull, Managing Director and Sec.-Treas.

Subscription Rates: One year, delivered in city $5.00; One year, if paid in advance $4.00.

TORONTO REPRESENTATIVE: H. E. Smallpiece, 32 Church St. N. W. REPRESENTATIVES: New York Office, 225 Fifth Ave.

DESERVES THE BEST: Private Smith, of Toronto, has reason in his grudge. It is that his discharge does not fairly or accurately set forth the facts of the case.

A GOOD MAN LEAVES: The city loses an amiable and influential clergyman in the removal of Rev. Mr. McIntosh, of the Brook street Presbyterian Church.

TEUTONIC SMARTNESS: The Allies contemplate the purchase of the Rumanian corn crop, a prolific one, and of great service to the belligerents.

THE TRAITOR REMAINS: Dr. Sarolla, in the last issue of Everyman, comments on the revelation of a London evening paper, and to the effect that "a large number of officials in the War Office are of German extraction."

ister, Lord Kitchener, has been credited with saying that this official cannot go without his consent. "The policy of Prussia," writes Sarolla, "throughout history has been to honeycomb the public and financial services of the country that she intends to attack with faithful sons of the Fatherland, and then to strike her hardest! It is very desirable that at a crisis like the present a department of the importance of the War Office should be manned exclusively by Britishers of exclusively British descent."

A YEAR OF WAR: The Lieutenant-Governor's invitation to the people, that they assemble themselves together on the anniversary of the war, and consider it, has been only generally acted upon.

EDITORIAL NOTES: The war anniversary has come to stay. And when the conflict is over it must continue—lest we forget.

SUCCESS FOR TROOPS FROM ANTIPODES: Official reports say the Australian troops landed on Gallipoli north-east of the Achi Baba ridge have gained the crest of the ridge which they were attacking.

Rippling Rhymes: "What sort of man is Henry Hank?" I asked the cashier at the bank; he sighed, as with regret, and sadly shook his weary head and swatted seven flies.

ada should pay for its money, and lost two millions and a half on the deal. And this is called "a world-advertisement." Aye, and one that Canada has no reason to be proud of.

Mr. Murdoch, the chairman of the Progressive National Committee in the United States, renamed his party the "Gittites," and said he found this in the Bible. And there never was, among the politicians, such a time in thumping over the Bible in order to find out who and what these "Gittites" were.

PUBLIC OPINION

Fleet is Busy. (Peterboro Review.) When anybody asks what the British fleet is doing, let him look at those huge German Atlantic liners lying up at Hoboken.

The Great Question. (Ottawa Journal.) If Russia, without munitions, can hold off the greatest efforts of Teuton power what would Russia do with munitions?

All Getting Tired. (Montreal Herald.) Luxembourg reports 140,000 tired and worn out German soldiers may be on the western front from the eastern theatre. Getting weary of playing on the teeter board?

Good Idea. (Toronto Mail.) The idea of taxing the war profits is a good one, and ought to be extended so that it will include those prophets who insisted that the war would be over three months ago.

Minister's Danger-Line. (Pittsburg Gazette-Times.) It's all right for almost any minister anywhere to dwell upon the cardinal virtues if he doesn't over-emphasize their importance, but he runs a grave risk if he denounces the deadly sin.

KINGSTON EVENTS 25 YEARS AGO

The final order for the guards of the Kingston penitentiary to reside in Portsmouth has been issued.

Britain Has Whip Hand. Washington, Aug. 5.—Officials already see a strong prospect of all the questions at issue between this country and England being diverted to a court of arbitration.

Now it is argued that Lloyd-George must become Minister of Labour as well as Minister of Munitions in order to meet certain peculiar conditions in Britain.

The blockade of the North Sea is getting tighter, and the Germans are made to feel that Britain has in that way a strangle hold on them.

Rev. Mr. Compton places his resignation in the hands of his people. But St. Andrew's should not accept it. A great Church like this should express its appreciation of the spirit of its minister under the circumstances.

Brantford is having its summer Dollar Day. Strange that an institution that is so generally popular—that in Vancouver was the beginning of a revival of business—cannot be tried in Kingston.

At the next session of the United States Congress some thought will be given to the question of where the republic would be if Germany declared war against it? Something is necessary to arouse the people and make them think of more than the pork barrel.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The homely girl's face is her chaperon. A near argument is one in which nobody gets angry.

Most of the sin on exhibition is anything but original. You don't need bank references in order to borrow trouble.

Many a good reputation has been stabbed by a pointed tongue. The Eyed Beauty Spots. They're made to tease the lonesome lads.

And germinate love plots—These latest things in flirting fads, The evanescent spots.

Due To Be Shocked. "He has a great shock coming to him in a little while." "Who has?" "The June groom. All his friends have been telling him that two can live as cheaply as one."

Summer Plans. "Planned your vacation yet?" "Well, we're located a neighbor who'll take care of the canary, another to look after the dog, a third to keep the garden watered, and weeded during our absence, some one to go into the house two or three times a week and air it, and now all we have to do is to decide where we are going and when."

Vegetable And Fruit Lane. Do you carrot all for me? My heart beats for you; You are the apple of my eye; My love for you is as soft as squash; And as strong as an onion; You are the candy kid with the radish hair;

Coming and Going. Seated at one end of the car was a traveler who had had several highballs. As the train left Gananoque, the conductor came through on his way to the baggage car.

"Conductor," said the highball artist, "how far is it from Gananoque to Kingston?" "Eighteen miles," said the conductor, going into the baggage car.

A few minutes later the conductor came out. As he passed the blundering passenger, the passenger said: "Conductor, will you kindly tell me how far it is from Kingston to Gananoque?"

"Why, my friend," said the conductor, "I just told you it is eighteen miles from Gananoque to Kingston, and necessarily it is eighteen miles from Kingston to Gananoque."

"Not nesh-sharilly; not nesh-sharilly." "Not necessarily? What do you mean?" "Why it's seven days from Christmas to New Year's, but it's much longer than that from New Year's to Christmas."

Saving Trouble. Tramp—"Your dog jest bit a piece of flesh outer me leg, mum." Woman—"Glad you mentioned it. I was just going to feed him."

Anatomical. "There is the enemy's wing." "Yes, General." "See if you can't make it yield a feather for your cap."

EVIL RENOWN. "What sort of man is Henry Hank?" I asked the cashier at the bank; he sighed, as with regret, and sadly shook his weary head and swatted seven flies and said, "He doesn't pay his debts." Thus finally the cashier spoke, no explanation did he make—there was no more to say; no use of arguing about—for that pronouncement lets Hank out, the man who doesn't pay. A man's forgiven many things—as through his busy life he swings, and swears and sweats; a thousand faults he lightly scans, but there's no pardon for the man who doesn't pay his debts. If I had seven silly sons, I'd hand them counsel, tons and tons, to help them on their way; the burden of my spiel would be, "My batty boys, on land or sea, be prompt your bills to pay. You may have stacks of sterling worth, and seem too good for this cheap earth, but if you dodge your bills, the world will strike your balance sheets, and set you down as chronic beats, which reputation kills. Go forth, my beamish boys, I'd say, "and always be as prompt to pay, as you are prompt to buy; and you will flourish then, and thrive, and men will boast you white alive, and praise you when you die."
