GATHERED HIM IN

AND HE WILL BE THUMBED BY GEORGE HUNTER, J.P.

He was Captured On Board a Vessel En Route to England - The Charges Made Against Him.

On Saturday morning Frederick Shaw, a former attendant at the Rockwood Hospital, will appear before Justice of the Peace George Hunter charged with the theft of $20 from another attendant named Thurlow. The accused was arrested in Montreal on Thursday night, as he was boarding a steamer for England, his former home.

From information received on Friday morning it appears that a few days ago Thurlow asked Shaw to cash his pay check at one of the local banks when he was cashing his own. He left the institution and was not seen or heard of until Thursday night, when he was placed under arrest. It is stated that he also borrowed $13 and a rain coat from a couple of the other attendants.

After cashing the ticket he bought for England at one of the ticket offices. When it was heard that he was on the way to Montreal, over the Canadian Pacific Railroad, the chief of Police at Montreal was asked to be on the lookout for him. He got off the train at Tichborne Station, and made his way to Montreal, where he was caught as he was boarding the steamer.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER DRINKS.

Many Tempting Beverages From the Same Bottle.

One of the very pleasant features of a bottle of Montserrat Lime Fruit Juice is its versatility.

The ordinary Montserrat beverage is made with half a wineglassful of Montserrat, some sugar, broken ice and a glassful of water. This is delightful and quenches the thirst.

Another Montserrat beverage can be made by using soda water instead of plain water. It gives a little more snap—golfers like it. Montserrat can also be used instead of lemon for flavoring frozen punches and ice creams.

Montserrat is not common lime juice. It is pressed from fresh cultivated limes from the beautiful island of Montserrat.

Will Not Pay Dividend
London, Aug. 6.—At the Hudson's Bay Company meeting Sir Thomas Skinner presiding, the annual report stated that in view of the unfavorable results of the past year and the uncertainty regarding the duration of the war and continued interference with the company's trade, the directors reluctantly decided not to recommend a dividend on ordinary shares.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER.

Thousands Were Killed in Poland Battles.

Geneva, Aug. 6 (via London).—Telegraphing from Innsbruck the Tribune's correspondent says of the fighting in Poland:

"The Austro-Germans, with more than twenty heavy batteries, are bombarding Irangorod from all sides, causing great destruction. The Russians are resisting heroically.

"On August 3rd the Russians attacked Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces on the Rodomke River. The fighting was exceptionally heavy, as was shown by the fact that within a few hours the battlefield was covered with 20,000 bodies of men from both sides.

"The bombardment of Lozma has been begun by the Germans. Large German forces continue to cross the Naraw in pontoon bridges north of Warsaw. In this region the Russians have repulsed fresh German attacks."

Kaiser Godfather to Seventh Son.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—Emperor William is probably godfather to more boys than any other person on earth, but he is so well able to stand up under the strain that he has issued an order that presently will increase the number of his proteges. The rule formerly has been that he would assume the responsibility of being godfather to a seventh son born to any family, provided the boy was seventh son by one and the same marriage. Under this ruling many seventh sons have had to do without the honor because the mother had been twice married. The Emperor now has modified the rule and announced that he will become godfather to any seventh son, regardless of the number of marriages the mother has contracted, provided all seven boys are living.

"Indispensable Man" Killed.

Birmingham, Eng., Aug. 6.—Private Horace Gee, who became known throughout England as "the indispensable man" as the result of a debate in Parliament, has been killed in action in the Dardanelles.

After he had enlisted the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce petitioned Parliament to release him from military service on the ground that his services as an expert maker of needles were indispensable to the boot trade of Central England. The matter was brought up in Parliament and the Government was compelled to defend its refusal to release Gee, stating that the shortage of needles had not so far, affected the rate of production of army boots.

VALUE OF WARSAW.

Third City in Russia—Its Value as a Centre.

London Mail.
Warsaw is the third city of Russia. It has nearly a million inhabitants. It is a Manchester and a York combined—a centre of vast industries enabled by historic associations. It has large shell and munition factories.

Warsaw is also a point of extreme military importance. It is the chief railway centre of Poland. On it converge two double-track railways to Petrograd and Moscow and a third single-track line to Odessa. Were this junction in German hands the Russians would be hampered at every point. Good railway communications are vital to the conduct of modern war.

Warsaw is further supplied with three fine bridges over the River Vistula, which is deep and rapid and a most formidable obstacle to armies. It is never less than 350 yards wide, and for a great part of its course is from half a mile to a mile broad.

So long as the great system of bridges at Warsaw is in Russian hands a Russian offensive against Germany is comparatively easy. If the Germans withdraw troops. But if the bridges were in German hands the enemy calculates that a large number of troops could be withdrawn. There are believed to be over 3,000,000 Germans and Austrians on the eastern front. The German idea is that, if once the Russians drive well back and the whole Vistula were in German control, two million men with machine guns and powerful artillery could hold off the Russians for an indefinite time.

The Germans could then send at least a million men back to the western front, or use them to aid Turkey or to strike at Italy.

HOW WE SEE IT

The Germans and the Allies—Turn In The Tide.

London Mail.
The Russians cannot allow the Germans to bring them to a decisive battle. They must therefore retreat, after causing as much loss as possible to the enemy. By slowly retreating they abandon territory, but they gain time, and with time the shortage of munitions will be made good.

So long as their armies are intact and they are retreating with broken spirit and with consummate skill—there is no irreparable disaster for them. The extent of Russia is so immense that the temporary loss of a single province or half a dozen provinces would be no mortal injury. But for the Allies in the west the evacuation of Warsaw would be a misfortune. If Russia were forced far back months might pass before she could resume her offensive. All through those months the western Allies would have to face the full violence of the German blows.

They have so far been fighting only two-thirds of the German Army. If at this juncture the entire German army is flung upon them the strain will be terrific. It is for this they must prepare and take every conceivable measure that prudence can suggest or organization supply.

Freezing Fish Alive.
M. Pichet, the brilliant Swiss man of science, has succeeded in freezing live fish and reviving them several weeks or months later. He put 23 live fish in a box that contained water rich in oxygen, in which several pieces of ice floated. He then requested the temperature of the water very slowly until it froze. At the end of about two months the cake of ice was gradually thawed and the fish were found alive.

According to the report of the experiment it is essential that the water be very gradually frozen, and that it shall have contained pieces of ice for from 15 to 18 hrs. before the whole mass is frozen. The process of thawing must also be very slow; it is believed that through this process Siberia sturgeon and Alaska salmon can be exported alive to distant countries.—Tit-Bits.

New Lloyd George Story.
The following story about Lloyd George, showing his dislike of pretence and snobbery, was told in the lobby of the House of Commons:

"He was running through a list of candidates for one of his 'push-and-go' committees with a certain noble lord.

"I'll have that man," said Lloyd George.

"But," said the noble lord, "he is not quite a gentleman."

"Well," replied Lloyd George, "I am not a gentleman, and your grandfather certainly wasn't one. If you think that is any objection to merit, you have a lot to learn!"

At the residence of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. T. H. Hambley, Belleville, their younger daughter, Ida Elizabeth Hambley, and Conrad George Carey of Mossjaw, Sask., son of Oswald F. Carey, Goderich, Ont., were quietly married by the Rev. H. C. Blagrove August 4th.
