WALDRON'S

MISSIONARY FROM INDIA VISITED THE BATTLEFRONT

Rev. Frederick Wood in Kingston on Furlough.

NO DOUBT OF RESULT

OF THE WAR BEING IN THE ALLIES' FAVOR,

India is Loyal to the Core, He Declares—Visions Seen By Allied Soldiers Declared To Be True, Mr. Wood Says.

"If there is any feeling of unrest as to the outcome of this war, cast it aside," said Rev. Frederick Wood, a missionary who has just arrived home from India, after serving seven years during his last stay.

On Friday morning a Whig representative had an interview with him, and Mr. Wood stated he had made the entire journey within close proximity to the firing line and never for an instant felt afraid. The greatest optimism prevails throughout the whole of France and England, he declared. Both nations realize the huge task they have upon their hands, but are confident of its outcome. France, he said, is most grateful to the British Empire for what it has done in fulfilling more than its obligations.

Mr. Wood landed at Marseilles, and travelled to Paris and Boulogne. He stated that the British hold at least the line between the latter point and Amiens. At Etaples there is a huge Canadian camp, with the Canadian flag floating proudly over it.

The Germans will never break through on the western frontier, declared the missionary. Many fruitless attempts have been exerted, but nothing has been gained. Sizing up the situation in the eastern theatre of the war, Mr. Wood was inclined to think that the Russians would be as hard a nut to crack. The strategy already displayed by Grand Duke Nicholas clearly demonstrates that an army which retreats and remains intact will eventually break forth and overwhelm the Germans, retaking Warsaw, Lodz, Lemberg and all other places.

According to what he has seen, France has numerous young men as yet not called to the colors.

In London, Mr. Wood remarked that the Canadian is held in the highest esteem. Here he met several in the hospitals who had been wounded at Langemarck, La Bassée, St. Julien and in other fierce battles. In one hospital the home-coming missionary came across a gallant Canadian soldier who was among those who rescued the guns from the Germans at St. Julien. His lungs are badly affected by the poisonous gases used by the enemy, but in spite of it all he is eager to get his revenge on the Germans. The wistful look in his eyes when told by Mr. Wood that the latter was going home to Canada will never be forgotten, and the missionary felt like clasping the true Canadian patriot to his heart.

Many impressive scenes are seen among the Canadian troops, stated Mr. Wood, and he was glad to think that he could call himself a Canadian.

Speaking of the difficult time he had in trying to secure a ticket for admission to the reception to Premier Borden in the Guild Hall, London, he said it was only because he was a Canadian and a missionary that he was given precedence over hundreds of others. An American journalist, with whom Mr. Wood had made acquaintance coming across on the ocean liner to New York, stated he had in all manner of ways tried to obtain a pass a day before the reception, but failed. Mr. Wood gained entrance upon application three-quarters of an hour previous to the event.

Speaking of India, this country had never been so united as at the present time, declared the missionary, who has been among its inhabitants for twenty-six years.

Almost all the old-time sedition has vanished and both native rulers and persons of lower rank are unanimous in favor of British rule, and willing to lay down their lives. It was said by Mr. Wood that the majority of the Indian army sent to help the Allies are native-born soldiers.

When Turkey entered the war it was thought the Mohammedan faith the dictations of the Sultan would result in a thronging to the former's cause. Mr. Wood emphasizes the fact that the Mohammedan population of India are not influenced by the Sultan, and there need never be any fear of another Indian Mutiny. The country is loyal to the core.

Speaking of those visions that were seen by the Allied troops, and about which reports were printed in the Whig, Mr. Wood emphatically claims that it is absolutely true. In England he heard two versions of it from different sources, and both coincided.

Mr. Wood is home on one year's furlough. He left Bombay, India, on July 11th and reached New York August 8th, arriving in Kingston on August 10th.

RUSSIANS STOP FOES

'Baccy Fund Now Off to a Good Start

It is indeed encouraging to conduct such a campaign as the Tobacco Fund on behalf of soldiers at the front, if for nothing more than to witness the willingness with which those of small means contribute their bit in the good cause. If those who could well afford to give did proportionately well, the fund would soon be subject to acute growing pains.

You old smokers, who love your pipe better than your dinner, why not show a fellow feeling and "shell out" a few dollars to cheer up the boys who are doing your fighting for you? Think how you would like to be marooned thousands of miles from home and with no tobacco to help pass the hours. It might not be so bad if these boys weren't liable to stop a German bullet any moment. They accept the danger and the privation, while you enjoy your smoke and tell how the war ought to be conducted. Do your duty to-day, by contributing something to the cause. Join in the tobacco campaign. Send in your dollar.

On Friday the Whig acknowledged these contributions from the Nelson family, Bath, Ont., but by some inexplicable reason the type made it read "Booth, Ont." We hasten to make the correction to-day.

Here's a decent chap out at Ardooch, Ont. Shake hands with Adrian A. Miller, cheesemaker, who sends along $2.00 to the fund, and his best wishes beside.

Among the contributors, whose donations were included in the total of $48.25, announced yesterday, but whose names have not yet been published, are the following:

WISH TO BE INTERNED

TWO GERMANS ON PAROLE MAKE APPLICATION

To Be Sent Back To Fort Henry As They Are Out Of Work—Gave Themselves Up To The Chief Of Police.

Owing to the want of food and work, two Germans, who are out on parole, waited upon the Chief of Police on Thursday afternoon and asked that he send them back to Fort Henry.

After listening to the stories of both men, the Chief of Police placed the men in the cells where they will be held until local military authorities decide what should be done with them.

The men in question are two of those who were arrested by Chief Ryan at Gananoque last August as they were crossing from the American side. For a time they were sent to the fort where they proved themselves to be very good men. After being in confinement for some time they applied to the military authorities for parole which was granted. They immediately left the fort and had been working on farms in the vicinity of the factory town ever since.

Early on Thursday afternoon they went to the 14th Regiment orderly room and explained their position to Capt. P. G. Campbell. They claim that while they were confined to the fort they were given the best of treatment and are only too glad to get back.

Before these men can be interned they must report to the local police authorities. It is expected that they will be taken back.

Later—The two Germans left the police station for the fort on Friday afternoon at two o'clock.
